Police Search Over Wide Area For Woman, Child

City police, assisted by numerous civilian volunteers were Saturday conducting an intensive search for Mrs. Rose Beaudoin, 37 years old, and her six-year-old son, Robert, who have been missing since Thursday morning.

Mother of six children, Mrs. Beaudoin had been living with her son Robert in a tiny basement room of the Belmont Block on 95 street. Her husband, Donat Bealdoin, is employed as a cook with the Coast Construction Co. Ltd., at the company's No. 1 camp at 116 avenue and 101 street.

Mr. Beaudoin, who served for 18 months with the Canadian Army, last saw his wife and son on Thursday morning at 7, just before he left for work at the camp.

"She seemed fairly cheerful at that time. I told her I would see her Saturday," Mr. Beaudoin said.

The husband told a representative of The Edmonton Bulletin who spoke to him on the telephone at noon time Saturday that he had not been "greatly worried" until "today."

"I am in hopes she has gone to visit friends and will come home today."

He added he was leaving at once to join in the search for his wife and child having just been informed a short time ago of their disappearance.

EVICTED FROM HOME

The Beaudoin family had been evicted from the house where they had been living about a month ago.

Pending outcome of an application to the Wartime Housing Ltd. for one of the houses now under construction three of the children had been placed in a home. A fourth went to live with Mrs. Alice Burlai of 10709 95 street, a sister of the missing woman.

An elder daughter is in the Women's Division of the R.C.A.F. stationed in Calgary.

It was Mrs. Burlai who became

Mine Wage Report Is Due Next Week

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Report of the royal commission which inquired into wage conditions in Alberta and British Columbia coal mines has been received by Labor Minister Mitchell but will not be made public here until early next week, it was learned today.

The report of the three-man commission, headed by Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor of Edmonton, also has been provided to the executive of District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America and it was understood here the terms will be given to members of the union at week-end meetings.

The commission ended its general sessions at Edmonton Nov. 17. Included in the terms of settlement of the recent coal strike in Alberta and British Columbia was a request from Mr. Mitchell to the royal commission to complete its work by today.

Rumanian Army Quitting Crimea

BERNE, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The Bucharest correspondent of the Swiss newspaper Gazette de Lausanne reported today that Rumanian divisions attached to the German army in the Crimea had begun evacuation of the peninsula.

It was hoped to remove at least 50 per cent of the Rumanian troops, comprising seven divisions, who have been garrisoning that section of the Russian front, the dispatch said.

The correspondent added that one division already had been successfully transported as far as Odessa "despite the surveillance of the Russian fleet."

DR. D. L. JOHNSON

CHAS. E. GREENLAY

In two provincial by-elections held in Manitoba Thursday, Dr. D. L. Johnson, C.C.F., was elected in the Brandon constituency over F. H. Young, veteran mayor of the city, and a Government-Coalition candidate, while Chas. E. Greenlay, Government-Coalition, captured the Portage la Prairie seat. Greenlay defeated Mayor H. A. Ireland, C.C.F., and LAC. Bernard Muller, Progressive-Labor nominee.

Health Failing

Mosley Gets His Release From Prison

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, the pre-war British Fascist leader, and his wife, were released from prison this morning, it was announced today despite the protests of British Labor groups.

The former Blackshirt leader, who had been interned for 3½ years, left Holloway Prison in a car with his wife who had been interned with him.

While a group of newsmen and photographers waited outside the jail, Sir Oswald was taken out by a rear door shortly after 7 a.m.

STORM OF PROTESTS

Decision to release the man, who in the days immediately proceeding the war organized his followers into a political group dedicated to making Britain Fascist, was announced by Home Secretary Herbert Morrison Wednesday. He said that Sir Oswald had been in failing health for some time and that the release was being given on medical grounds.

Once made public this decision aroused a storm of protests. Petitions and public demonstrations spread in various parts of the country.

Morrison promised he would tell parliament at its next sitting the reasons for releasing the Mosleys.

Topping off the public demonstrations were plans to hold a mass meeting today protesting the release.

Aussies Only Mile From Japs' Base

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Nov. 20.—Australian troops attacked main Japanese defences at Satelberg in a drive to crush the last major enemy pocket on New Guinea's Huon peninsula while Allied planes scored new successes along a 3,000-mile front from Java to the Solomons, it was disclosed today.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's spokesman said the infantrymen who attacked Satelberg from Finschhafen, 10 miles southeast, on Tuesday had advanced to within a mile of the township by Thursday, when Mitchell and Marauder bombers struck the Japanese positions with 44 tons of explosives in four attacks.

Domei, Japanese News Agency, in a dispatch broadcast by Tokyo said 3,000 American troops made the Satelberg drive with tank support and were repulsed with 500 dead and four tanks destroyed after two days of severe fighting.

Finish Final Link

Phone System To Fairbanks Is Completed

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Nov. 20.—(CP)—The final link in the 2,026-mile telephone system from Edmonton, Alta., to Fairbanks, Alaska, has been completed, and for the first time in history overland telephone communication between the United States and its largest territorial possession was possible, Brig.-Gen. James A. O'Connor, commanding the Northwest Service Command, announced today.

Maj.-Gen. W. D. Styer, chief of staff of the army service forces in Washington, D.C., officially opened the line yesterday when he spoke from the United States capital with Anchorage, Whitehorse and Fairbanks—key points in the U.S. system of installations and bases in the far north.

CITY TO FAIRBANKS

The system was built by the U.S. Army Signal Corps and civilian contractors and extends from Edmonton to Fairbanks along the route of the Alaska Highway then stretches from Fairbanks to Anchorage paralelling the Alaska railroad.

In the first official call over the new system Gen. Styler talked with Col. Lawrence E. Schick of the Alaska department at Anchorage and Col. K. B. Bush, of the Northwest Service Command at Whitehorse. He also talked with Lt.-Col. H. R. [illegible] of the Army Air Corps at Fairbanks.

Governor Ernest Greuning of Alaska represented the official civilian participation when he joined in the Fairbanks call.

Leaders of United Nations May Speak On New Year's Eve

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Daily Herald said today that the BBC is trying to arrange a New Year's eve radio program of speeches by Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt, Marshal Stalin and General Chiang Kai-shek.

One Injured:

Man Is Killed In Auto-Truck Highway Crash

George Labotruk, of the Norma district, died in the Royal Alexandra hospital Friday evening, from injuries received when the car he was driving collided with a two-ton truck at 102 avenue and the Stony Plain road at 7:33 p.m. He was 42 years old. It was the 14th fatal accident in Edmonton this year.

Nick Burak, 42, also of the Norma district, suffered injuries to the left side of the head and is under treatment in the Royal Alexandra hospital. His condition is not serious.

Alex Huculak and Peter Yaramkowich, both of Lamont Creek, passengers in the rear of the car, driven by Labotruk, escaped with a shaking up.

William Martin Bumstead, Room 5, Castle hotel, was driving the truck that figured in the crash.

Bumstead reported to Constables Edward MacRea and Albert E. Woodwards he was driving his truck east on 102 avenue and on the point of turning to go northeast on the Stony Plain Road when he observed a car coming toward him. The car appeared to be making a U-turn when it suddenly turned west, cutting in front of the truck. The right front of the heavy truck struck the left side of the auto.

THROWN FROM CAR

Labotruk was apparently thrown from the car and was bleeding freely from head injuries when picked up by persons in the vicinity when the crash occurred.

Both Labotruk and Burak were rushed to the city by Jack Hays ambulance, but Labotruk died in a few minutes after reaching the hospital.

Other witnesses were Mrs. Lilly Campbell, Richard White, 10234, 140 street, who assisted the injured men; Mrs. Gladys Reels, 10230 140 street and Mrs. Margaret Ginter, 10230 140 street.

Passengers in the car driven by deceased said that the auto seemed to swerve from side to side just before the crash.

Police are continuing the investigation.

Conceals Lover For 16 Months Under Parlor

LONDON, Nov. 20—(CP)—A story of a 33-year old woman who hid a lover for 16 months in a coffin-like space—11 feet by 3—under her parlor came out of Chelmsford court today.

By the official account related in court, the secret was so well kept that the husband never suspected.

But, the court was told, the lover suspected that three other men also were friendly with the woman. He emerged and the police seized him on a charge of desertion from the French army.

The woman was sentenced to a month in jail for helping to conceal a deserter.

"Big 3" May Settle Plans For Post-War Police Force

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Reports of a meeting soon of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin indicate that they may decide on a post-war police plan to guard the peace in Europe and the middle east. According to speculation here, several questions must be settled.

One is trying of Poland, the Baltic States and Russia's western fontier. This has been left to the new London three-power advisory commission for study with little prospect of early re-establishment of diplomatic relations between the Polish government in London and the Soviet government, which objects to certain present Polish leaders.

Another question is the manner in which the three big powers may enlist the collaboration of smaller states in "general organization for maintenance of international peace and security" as agreed upon in Moscow.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Formations of light Allied planes swept out across the channel today in a swift follow-up to a heavy assault by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. last night on the German chemical centre of Leverkusen where poison gas components are made. The daylight foray was a continuation of the intensive new aerial offensive which has seen six heavy raids from Britain in four days.

Last night's four-engined bomber assault, directed also against other unspecified Rhineland targets, was the second within 12 hours against Nazi centres of chemical warfare and research. Five bombers, three of them Canadian, failed to return.

Although details were lacking, the force of heavy bombers presumably was smaller than the record fleet of some 1,000 four-engined heavyweights flung against Berlin and Ludwigshafen's chemical plants Thursday night with their bomb bays crammed with 2,500 tons of blockbusters and incendiaries, one of the heaviest airborne loads of the war.

WEATHER IS BAD

Unfavorable weather conditions prevented an immediate assessment of the damage done last night in the fifth raid of the war on Leverkusen's chemical plants. The city

Edmonton Flier In Raid on Reich

By FOSTER BARCLAY

LONDON, Nov. 20 — (CP) — Squadrons from the Canadian bomber group, including the Lion, Goose and Bluenose formations that hit Ludwigshafen the previous night, attacked Leverkusen last night in co-operation with the R.A.F. Also taking part in the raid, R.C.A.F. headquarters announced, was the Moose squadron.

"We saw more flak than ever before," reported Flt. Sgt. Bob Dixon of 10420 142 St., Edmonton, who chalked up his 13th ride last night.

Ralston Reported In Medjterranean

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Citizen says in a newspage story today it learned on good authority last night that Defence Minister Ralston is in the Mediterranean area. The newspaper said that Col. Ralston, who went to Britain a few weeks ago, presumably is inspecting Canadian units in the Mediterranean theatre of war.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Defence headquarters said today that when Defence Minister Ralston left Canada for overseas it was his intention to see "all" overseas troops if possible, but spokesmen declined to confirm published reports he now is in Italy.

Germans Planning Invasion of Samos

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Athens radio said today that the Germans had begun attempts to invade Samos, Greek island north of the Dodecanese and next to the last Aegean island stone known to be in Allied hands.

The reported invasion attempt began after the fall of Leros in the Dodecanese this week to the combined attack of German sea and airborne troops.

Castelrosso, easternmost of the Dodecanese, is believed still held by British troops, but the Germans yesterday said they had taken three other small islands, including Ikaria, Patmos and Lipsos, and were holding a fourth island, Furni.

New Army Posts

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Defence headquarters announced today appointment of Maj.-Gen. S. C. M. Archibald of the British army as director-general of a new directorate of anti-aircraft defence and of Col. Herbert R. Alley, 51, Toronto, as chief of a new directorate of the Veterans Guard of Canada. Gen. Archibald is on loan to the Canadian army.

City Airman Is Among Five Given D.F.C.

OTTAWA, Nov. 20—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. announced last night the awarding of the Distinguished Flying Cross to five members of the R.C.A.F. serving overseas, one for cool courage in extinguishing a fire in a blazing bomber during a raid on Hanover last month. The recipients:

WO. E. M. Boutillier, of Chester, N.S.; PO. E. B. Dungey, of Collingwood, Ont.; P. J. J. O'Handley, of George's River Station, N.S.; WO. J. Ritchie of Suite 20, Derwas Court, 121st St., Edmonton, and WO. Lumbair, of Thornhill, Man.

The citation for WO. Ritchie:

"As airgunner, WO. Ritchie has taken part in a large number of sorties and has proved himself to be a skilful and reliable member of aircraft crew.

FOUGHT WITH ZEST

His fine fighting qualities were amply demonstrated in a combat with a fighter during a recent operation against Hanover. Although he was wounded in the eye, WO. Ritchie fought with rare zest and afterwards refused to leave his turret until the danger from further interference by enemy aircraft was past. His exemplary conduct was worthy of great praise."

Partisans Open Counter-Attack

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Yugoslav partisans have started a counter-offensive to block strong German forces trying to wipe them out, a Liberation Army communique said today, but the Nazis succeeded in breaking into the town of Tuzla and invaded two more Adriatic islands.

The enemy lost 300 dead, 11 tanks destroyed and two damaged, and many casualties in the battle around Tuzla, 50 miles north of Sarajevo, and around nearby Belima and Grachanica. Several subsidiary attacks were beaten off.

The counter-drive was launched near Split, along the lower Dalmatian coast, five days ago, and the communique said it "achieved success even during the first few days of operations" by the First Dalmatian Corps.

Hint Nazi Secret Weapon In London Mystery Blasts

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—A mysterious explosion—London's third in a week—which smashed a five-storey building in the Soho district last night was followed today by an equally mysterious claim in the German communique that Nazi planes had bombed the British capital, although no planes or sirens were heard here.

The lack of official explanation of the blast aroused suspicions that one of Germany's long-promised secret weapons might have been brought into play, but such theories found no confirmation.

"It was exactly like a scene from the blitz," said one eyewitness to the explosion which blasted out windows for 400 yards around.

The Ministry of Security said it was convinced the explosion was not due to enemy action. Unofficially, all three blasts have been attributed to faulty gas mains.

"Secret weapon" theories included speculation that the blast might have been caused by a Junkers stratosphere plane flying out of earshot, by a long-range rocket gun, or by a radio-controlled glider bomb.

Loss of Zhitomir Is Declared Only Temporary Setback

By M. S. HANDLER

MOSCOW, Nov. 20.—Russian forces paced by air-borne troops battered westward through the Ukraine today and military sources said the loss of Zhitomir was only a temporary setback incidental to the Red army plan to hurl the Germans back across the border.

Significantly the official accounts of yesterday's action—the withdrawal from Zhitomir, the capture of Ovruch to the north, and a new crossing of the Dnieper at Cherkassy—referred confidently to operations in the "Polesia direction," the area between the present front line and the borders.

NAZI COUNTER-ATTACKS

For a whole week seven German armored and infantry divisions—potentially more than 100,000 men—had been hammering the Soviet flank in a desperate effort to force Vatutin to reduce his pressure to the west where his spearheads were within some 50 miles of the old Polish frontier.

Besides taking Ovruch, the First Ukrainian Army's right wing forced the Germans back along a 57-mile stretch between that rail junction and the lower Pripet River.

At many points the Nazis were shoved across the Ovruch-Chernigov railroad. At the same time another column moving northwestward along the Pripet drove several miles beyond Chernobil.

Canadian Troops Return to Front

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Canadian troops, moved out of the Sangro river line for a rest after weeks of continuous fighting in the Italian campaign, are beginning to return to the front. It was indicated today in a dispatch from Canadian Press war correspondent Maurice Desjardins.

In his dispatch Desjardins said that a French-Canadian regiment (The Royal 22nd from Quebec) had moved to an advanced position after a fortnight's rest.

With newly-opened clearing and indications pointing to an approaching major battle to throw the Germans from their winter line in Italy, it appears that at least some of the Canadian units have been switched back to the front.

Eighth Army Takes Perano In New Drive

By HARRISON SALISBURY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Nov. 20—Allied troops have advanced on both ends of the Italian front to break a week's lull, it was announced today, with British-Canadian Eighth Army troops driving forward five miles through stiff German opposition to capture Perano, northwest of Atessa.

Battling in miserable weather, Montgomery's forces inflicted considerable casualties on German troops who tried vainly to halt their push toward the flooded Sangro River. The advance was achieved as American forces of the Fifth Army gained new ground above Venafro, across the peninsula on the western end of the line.

LITTLE AIR ACTIVITY

Weather hampered aerial activity but fighters raided road and rail lines near Rieti, only 15 miles north east of Rome, destroying or damaging several locomotives and freight cars.

The Eighth's successful attack, breaking a long weather-enforced lull on the wintry front, took place 12 miles inland from the Adriatic, while at other points on the Eighth's line patrols made thrusts across the Sangro River into the strong Nazi defences northward.

The advance was the first in seven days for Allied armies bogged down by mud and stiff enemy opposition some 80 miles above Naples.

Capture of Perano gave Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's forces control of the 12-mile stretch that is only a half mile from the Sangro from which they can harass enemy positions.

tabllishing a European council within the larger body.

Having pledged themselves that "after the termination of hostilities they will not employ their military forces within the territories of other states except ... after joint consultation," the Moscow conferees also left open the question of how the powers would police post-war Europe against future aggression.

Meanwhile arrangements have been virtually completed for the new three-power European advisory commission with headquarters in London to begin work soon.

BRITISH C'OICE

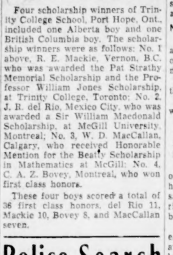

The British choice of a commissioner centred on William Strang, veteran foreign office expert who was Foreign Secretary Eden's chief advisor at the Moscow conference.

Stalin is expected to designate Feder Gusev, the ambassador to Britain and former Soviet minister to Canada for the commission.

With the commissioners to be diplomatic experts of ambassadorial rank, Ambassador John G. Winant is most prominently mentioned to represent the United States.

Win Scholarships

Four scholarship winners of Trinity College School, Port Hope, Ont., included one Alberta boy and one British Columbia boy. The scholarship winners were as follows: No. 1 above, R. E. Mackie, Vernon, B.C., who was awarded the Pat Strathy Memorial Scholarship and the Professor William Jones Scholarship, at Trinity College, Toronto; No. 2, J. B. del Rio, Mexico City, who was awarded a Sir William Macdonald Scholarship, at McGill University, Montreal; No. 3, W. D. MacCallan, Calgary, who received Honorable Mention for the Beatty Scholarship in Mathematics at McGill; No. 4, C. A. Tarava in the Gilberts which has been bombed repeatedly. The same day Nauru was hit, and carrier-based planes also struck that day.

Admiral Nimitz had announced earlier in the day the raid on Tarawa in the Gilberts and on Mili and Maloelap Islands in the Marshalls.

Lad Becomes Lost In Heating System Of Family's Home

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Lancaster police had something new in missing-child problems when Donald Reed, 10 months old, disappeared in the heating system at his home. Two of his brothers, Robert, 3, and Jerry, 2, removed the grill from a cold air intake and Donald fell in. He began crawling and was within a few feet of the furnace when the rescue squad arrived and tore down a section of pipe. Donald went to hospital but all he needed was a good scrubbing.

Police Search Over Wide Area For Woman, Child

alarmed and informed the police Saturday.

The missing woman is 5 feet 5 inches in height, weighing 140 pounds, and was wearing a brown winter overcoat and a black velvet turban when last seen. The missing child was wearing brown trousers and a windbreaker.

Chief Constable Reginald Jennings urged citizens to assist in the search for the mother and child. The R.C.M.P. have joined in the search.

Secretary-Manager W. Williams of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Legion said that Mrs. Beaudoin came to his office at the Memorial Hall last Monday in a greatly agitated state, saying that her home was broken up and her family scattered all over the city.

"She had begged us to do our best to find her a home," Mr. Williams said.

IN SMALL ROOM

"The woman had been living in a tiny basement room in the Belmont Block with no water or heat. Her small boy was with her.

"Mrs. Beaudoin had been very hopeful of obtaining one of the houses being constructed in Edmonton under the Wartime Housing plan.

"She had hoped to obtain a house within a couple of weeks but when I told her I was afraid it would take much longer she broke down crying and was in a very agitated condition when she left."

Husband of the missing woman served 18 months in the Canadian Army during the present war with the 32nd Battalion of Montreal. He is at present employed by the Coast Construction Co. Ltd., as a cook. He has been quartered at the Hamilton's Camp No. 1 on 116 avenue in the city.

Say Nazis Plan To Police France

MADRID, Nov. 20.—(AP)—French newspapers arrived here last night carrying official German military and police communiques which declared it to make clear that Germans mean to take over the policing of France whether Marshal Petain is inclined to co-operate or not.

A battle between Petain and his chief of government, Pierre Laval, brought into the open by the Nazi occupation of France, while the Germans prepare hastily to take over if Vichy collaboration does not come to a head over Petain's being forced to cancel a speech last Saturday.

Berliner reports said that in the speech Petain planned to ask Frenchmen to support him personally, saying that any other action at present would force the Nazis to take strong measures.

It was said Laval and the German consul general, Krug von Nidda, tried to get Petain to deliver a substitute address in which he would say he had "asked" the people to help in police work and that they had consented.

Claim Sailors Housed in Pens

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The News-Herald in a newspage story today said five navy sailors "housed in cattle pens of the exhibition grounds" here in an interview complained "it's a place like this."

The News-Herald quoted one sailor as saying he has been in the navy for three years and in all the area of war "but never have we been housed as we are here in Vancouver." The newspaper added his four companions corroborated him.

"We hear that the Japs they had out there refused to live in the same quarters and got away with it," the sailor said.

At one time a large number of Canadian soldiers were in the grounds but now only a few are stationed there.

Pacific Drive Said Ahead Of Schedule

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP) United States forces are "ahead of schedule" in the campaign to drive the Japanese from the southwest Pacific, Navy Secretary Frank Knox declared yesterday.

"Our position in the south and southwest Pacific is very good," he press conference, "grows stronger as the Japanese position grows weaker."

On Bougainville, last foothold of the Japanese in the Solomons, he said, army troops and marines are advancing inland as well as lengthening their beachheads.

At sea and in the air American forces are "out looking for trouble" but "on most of their hunts no Japs are found."

He discounted the possibility that Japanese fleet units may be en route to the south and southwest Pacific areas. "In fact," Knox continued, "no surface forces have been met by our fleet units since Nov. 2—17 days ago—and Admiral Halsey's ships certainly haven't been just hanging around."

Labor Organizers' Trial Adjourned

THREE RIVERS, Que., Nov. 20.—(CP)—Trial of Jean Jodoin and Phil Cutler of Montreal, organizers for the "American Federation of Labor, yesterday was adjourned until Dec. 1 by mutual agreement of prosecution and defence lawyers. Jodoin and Cutler are charged under the War Measures Act of inciting workers to remain away from work in the recent strike at the Aluminum Company of Canada plant at Shawinigan Falls, Que.

Carrier-Based Planes Blast Japanese Port

PEARL HARBOR, T.H., Nov. 20.—(AP)—Extending the scope of the six-day-old central Pacific air offensive, carrier-based planes dropped 90 tons of bombs on Nauru, Japanese island base 700 miles northeast of Guadalcanal, Thursday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced yesterday.

Expanding operations 500 miles west of the Gilbert Islands which, with the Marshalls, have been pounded daily since last Saturday, several squadrons of bombers and torpedo planes kindled fires on the airdrome and shop areas, destroyed several grounded planes and set a ship ablaze at Nauru.

NO PLANES LOST

Despite slight air interception and heavy anti-aircraft fire, none of the Nauru raiders was lost, Admiral Nimitz said.

Over Nauru, seven Zeros got into the air and two were shot down.

One American pilot was wounded.

It was the first carrier raid against Nauru which is a strong Japanese air base and a valuable phosphate-producing island.

Nauru is west and slightly south of Tarawa in the Gilberts which has been bombed repeatedly. The same day Nauru was hit, and carrier-based planes also struck that day.

Admiral Nimitz had announced earlier in the day the raid on Tarawa in the Gilberts and on Mili and Maloelap Islands in the Marshalls.

FIFTH RAID OF WAR

Nauru was the fifth raid of the war on Leverkusen where poison gas components are known to be manufactured, and followed two recent raids on the world's largest chemical centre at Ludwigshafen.

As last night's raid carried the current Allied air offensive to new heights, Maj.-Gen. William E. Kepner, chief of the U.S. 8th Air Force's fighter command, declared that "now we have only to increase our bombers and supporting fighters proportionately and concentrate against heavy industry for Germany to crumble."

Kepner said the Allies had defeated the strategy of the German high command in the air.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

Thousands of persons were reported to have been made homeless in Berlin and traffic was said to have been frozen by direct hits on rail yards and stations in Thursday night's raid. All day yesterday the German radio talked of bombs falling in the suburbs, but that is where a lot of key factories are situated. And not until late last night that Berlin said the fires had been brought under control.

The Germans again sent a few raiders over southeast England during the night. Bombs were dropped on one place, causing a few casualties.

U.S. Planes Hit Jap Positions

CHUNGKING, Nov. 20.—(AP)—United States fighter planes supporting Chinese ground forces, again attacked Japanese positions in the Tungting Lake and Salween river areas, it was announced today. All the planes returned safely.

Co-ordinating their blows with attacking Chinese troops, the American airmen attacked the villages of Chunghai and Pingka on the Salween river and started several fires.

A semi-official dispatch said meanwhile that the Chinese had inflicted about 600 casualties on the Japanese in an engagement leading to the capture of a town near the Yangtse port of Ichang. The Chinese were said to have thrust their way further toward Ichang when the Japanese used poison gas, brought up artillery and forced them to withdraw.

Gov.-Gen. Receives New Credentials Of U.S. Minister

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Ray Atherton, United States minister here, yesterday presented new credentials to the governor-general, at government house, and became the first ambassador ever to serve a foreign power in this capital.

Raising of the United States legation to embassy status and also ultimeous elevation of the Canadian legation in Washington was announced Nov. 11 by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The Canadian minister at Washington, Hon. Leighton McCarthy, also will become an ambassador on presentation of new credentials at Washington—the first Canadian ambassador ever appointed.

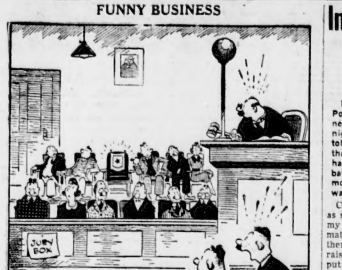

Back in Britain

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Air Marshal Harold Edwards, air officer commanding-in-chief of the R.C.A.F. overseas, has returned to Britain after spending two weeks at his home here, it was learned last night from members of his family. He arrived in London Tuesday.

Lebanon Toll

CAIRO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—A total of 18 persons was estimated last night to have been killed and between 74 and 84 injured in street disorders set off last week by the arrest of some of Lebanon's officials in connection with the republic's efforts to achieve full sovereignty in that French mandate.

was last hit on Aug. 22. Canadian formations played an important part in last night's assault.

Berlin's blazing suburbs lit up the dark skies as the result of the Thursday night assault on that most important of bombing targets, and reports to Sweden and London said chaos was evident in the German capital.

R.A.F. and Canadian planes also laid mines in enemy waters during the night, it was learned.

Report Petain Has Tendered His Resignation

By J. EDWARD MURRAY

Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

LONDON, Nov. 20—Usually reliable quarters in Spain received reports from France today that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, 87-year-old chief of state, had resigned, but Pierre Laval and the Germans were digging him to reconsider his sudden decision.

Spanish quarters receiving French advices described as usually trustworthy said that a crisis had been brewing in Vichy for some time and now appeared to have come to a climax.

TERMED "ABDICATION"

The Morocco radio broadcast one of the reports of Petain's resignation, terming it an "abdication."

"After the early news bulletin on the Vichy radio this morning," Radio Morocco said, "A woman's voice was heard announcing that Petain was abdicating and appealing to Frenchmen to remain calm.

"No further mention of the abdication was made on subsequent broadcasts."

A Dakar broadcast heard by CBS quoted the Vichy radio as saying that Petain had resigned.)

429,088,905 Pounds Of Salvage Total For Thirty Months

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—During 30 months of activity, voluntary salvage committees have collected 429,088,905 pounds of materials useful to the war effort, the war services department's salvage division said today.

On the basis of salvage collection in pounds for each 1,000 of population, Manitoba was first among the provinces at Oct. 31, followed by Ontario and British Columbia.

The salvage division said that during the 30 months voluntary committees reported they collected 31,202,561 pounds of salvage in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Some Production Of Aluminum Pots May Be Resumed

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Possibility that limited production of aluminum pots and pans may be resumed was seen yesterday by officials who said Canada is accumulating a supply of scrap aluminum which is available for civilian manufacture.

While the metal now is available for the first time since the early war months, decision as to what civilian production it will be used for rests largely with manufacturers, it was said. Some plants which previously made aluminum cooking utensils now are tagged with war contracts which may prevent them from resuming manufacture of civilian products.

Say Count Ciano Among First 19 To Stand Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Nazi agency DNB, said last night that Count Ciano, Italy's former foreign minister, and Marshal Emilio De Bono as well as three others also under arrest would be the first of 19 members of the former Fascist grand council to be tried by a special tribunal for having voted to force the resignation of Benito Mussolini last July.

The dispatch, carried under a Milan dateline and directed to the controlled European press, identified the three others known already as Tullio Cianetti, former minister of corporations; Giuseppe Carlo Pareschi, former minister of agriculture, and Giovanni Marinelli.

Workers Checked For Leaving Jobs

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Leon Courbon and Armand Gavne, both of Sherbrooke, Que., pleaded guilty in police court yesterday to a charge of leaving their jobs at an up-coast mill without notice and were given six months' suspended sentence by Magistrate C. L. Fillmore after they signed $100 bonds undertaking to return to work immediately.

Nazis Fear Balkan Attack From Russia

MADRID, Nov. 20—(AP)—Spanish newspaper correspondents in Berlin reported yesterday the Germans believe a considerable part of the Allied Army in North Africa now is en route to Russia for a drive into the Balkans from the Russian front.

Injured Girl Says Lad Hit Her With Bat

MONTREAL, Nov. 20—(CP)—Police Chief W. W. Gough of neighboring Westmount said last night that Miss Sylvia Cusp had told him from her hospital cot that 14-year-old George Webster had attacked her with a baseball bat yesterday—the day his mother, Mrs. Andrew Webster was fatally clubbed.

Chief Gough quoted Miss Cusp as saying: "When George looked in my room I asked him what was the matter. He said 'mother's hurt' and then he came into my room. He raised a bat to strike me and I put my arms up over my head. The first blow struck my arm."

CONTINUED BLOWS

Chief Gough said Miss Cusp said that as the boy continued to strike her she sank back on the bed and George left. She then staggered to the telephone and got through an emergency call which brought police.

The chief announced the result of his interview with Miss Cusp after he had talked earlier to the Westmount junior high school boy. However, the boy has not yet talked to police of the fatal clubbng of his mother, the chief stated, although he has recovered from the "daze" he had been in earlier.

The boy has been detained for questioning at police headquarters since he was found sitting on his bed in the Webster home in an exclusive Westmount residential district. His mother was dead in another room and three other persons suffered skull injuries.

Chief Gough said the boy's conversation has become coherent, that he recalled "certain events," but appeared puzzled by the fact that he was in a police station.

GIVES NO DETAILS

He added that the youth had not been told of the outcome of the tragedy that brought death to his mother and serious injuries to his brother Andrew, eight, and sister, Mina, 12, as well as 25-year-old Sylvia Cusp, a house guest at the Websters.

Chief Gough said that the boy's alarm clock had been set for 5:30 in the morning of the attacks, and added that the early hour was not unusual because George was in the habit of getting up early to study his lessons and distribute newspapers in his district before school.

He intimated that the inquest into Mrs. Webster's death would be resumed early next week. It was adjourned at a request Thursday, to allow further investigation, after medico-legal experts testified that death resulted from skull fractures, presumably the result of blows from a blood-stained baseball bat found in the house.

Red Paratroops Pacing Russian Sweep to West man communication points protected by water barriers and swamps.

Paratroopers showered down in the dense forests north of Cherkassy, Dnieper town below Kiev, and joined a big guerilla movement in a decisive diversion which enabled the Red Army command to throw a big force across the river.

The first Russian crossings north of Cherkassy gave the Soviets an insecure bridgehead in open terrain. But a protracted engagement between the partisans and paratroopers on the one hand, and the Germans on the other, gave the Soviets ample time to throw reinforcements across to the west bank and launch a drive against Cherkassy.

FIERCE FIGHTING

Some of the fiercest fighting since the fall of Kiev raged on the approaches to Zhitomir as an estimated 100,000 Axis troops sought at all cost to throw back Russian forces threatening the escape corridor for Germans in the Dnieper bend.

On both sides of Zhitomir, however, the Russians were advancing steadily. To the southeast, they closed in on Cherkassy from a new direction, and to the west bank of the Dnieper, and to the north they pushed on toward Poland from Ovruch and Korosten and tightened their stranglehold on Gomel.

The Russians abandoned Zhitomir, 85 miles west of Kiev, yesterday in their second admitted withdrawal in three days and took up newly-fortified positions behind the city pending a new drive forward.

German Marshal Fritz Erich Von Mannstein threw counter-attack after counter-attack at the Soviet lines. Russian artillery took a heavy toll of men and machines, but still the Germans attacked in an apparent do-or-die attempt to blunt the Soviet offensive.

Name Destroyer Sent to Leros

CAIRO, Nov. 20—(AP)—The Royal Navy yesterday identified the destroyer Echo as the last ship to land reinforcements and supplies on fallen Leros. The destroyer helped to sink a 1,500-ton German lighter off Leros on the way home, the announcement said.

Steady Drop Seen In Valley's Output

CALGARY, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Though output of the Valley Pipe Line Company Limited, estimated at 8,825,500 barrels this year, would likely drop to approximately 1,466,000 barrels in 1950, S. G. Coultis, president and general manager, stated at the pipe line hearing before G. M. Blackstock, K.C., chairman of the board of public utility commissioners yesterday.

It would be at least a million barrels lower by 1948, Mr. Coultis showed in his estimates, and would decrease by almost 2,000,000 barrels yearly thereafter for the period 1943 to 1950, inclusive, he estimated a put-through of 28,685,920 barrels.

Not only would the company be obliged to increase its mileage and equipment disproportionately to the amount of oil collected, but the margin of losses would increase, through handling less oil per mile of pipe, he stated in reply to questions by E. J. Chambers, K.C., representing the company.

C.C.F. Demands Recognition as Man. Opposition

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The C.C.F. party will renew its demand to be recognized as the official opposition in the Manitoba legislature, S. J. Farmer, provincial house leader, said here yesterday.

Mr. Farmer made his announcement when commenting on the election of Dr. Donald L. Johnson, C.C.F., in Thursday's Brandon by-election.

The C.C.F. now will have five members in the legislature, two more than at last session. Earlier in the year, they elected a new member in the northern constituency of The Pas.

Woman Is Given 2-Year Sentence For Kidnapping

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Penora Tilove, 20, convicted of kidnapping two-year-old Jimmy Dimaggio and taking him to Nashville, Tenn., in an effort to convince her divorced husband the child was theirs, was sentenced yesterday to two years in the federal women's prison at Alderson, W.Va. Mrs. Tilove's divorced husband, Sgt. Augustus Tilove of the United States Army air forces, testified at her trial that she wanted money from him for support of the child.

Record Oil Output Urged in States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The United States petroleum administration for war called yesterday for record crude oil output in December, asking a rate of 4,425,100 barrels a day. It also asked for 269,100 barrels a day of natural gasoline, and condensate, meaning that if the P.D.W. goal is reached, production of all petroleum liquids will be at the rate of 4,694,200 barrels daily.

Fighting Rages On China Fronts

CHUNGKING, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Widespread fighting was reported yesterday on the central and southwest China fronts with a military spokesman admitting for the first time that the Japanese had made a crossing of the Salween river south of the Burma road but declaring that the invaders had been thrown back.

The crossing was made about 30 miles southeast of Lungling, on the Burma road. The purpose evidently was to feel out Chinese strength in that area, the spokesman said, as the Japanese plainly feared that the Chinese might spring an offensive from that direction to cut off advanced forces operating along the Burma road.

The United States 14th Air Force supported the Chinese, bombing the airdrome and barracks at Kengtung, where they destroyed steamrollers and buildozers, attacking a river ferry on the Salween, and showering bombs on a Japanese cavalry party crossing the river where they killed more than 50 and sank a barge and many sampans.

Nazis Fear Attack

Denmark Under Constant State of Military Alarm

By JOHN COLBURN

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 16.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Denmark today is in an almost constant state of military alarm as the nervous Germans, facing an invasion threat from one side, are constantly harassed from the other by the sabotage of Danish patriots.

Germany still tries to treat Denmark as a naughty stepchild but the Danes generally regard themselves as at war with Adolf Hitler.

Gen Hermann von Hanneckenn's proclamation last week-end, giving invasion "stand by" orders to the German army and police, came as no surprise. He hid clamped a military dictatorship on Denmark Aug. 29, fearing the Allies would take advantage of th people's revolt to make a stab at capturing Denmark's important airfields just to the north of Berlin.

BUILDINGS MINED

The Germans are ready to turn Copenhagen into another Naples. They have mined important buildings, the power plant at Oersted and the water reservoir.

A list of prominent Danes has been compiled and the Germans are reported planning to arrest 800 hostages the moment the invasion occurs, or if the sabotage doesn't slacken.

The Danes, however, are anxiously awaiting the invasion. They are ready to make the fight they didn't make when the Germans occupied the country April 9, 1940. The revolt Aug. 29 was a step in that direction.

Even a Danish flag manufacturer is all set—he has hidden away large stocks of British and American flags.

The Germans have been busy bolstering Danish defences. Travellers report the number of blockhouses and fortified positions along the North Sea coast has been doubled and trebled.

INTENSIFY SABOTAGE

Saboteurs have multiplied their efforts to cripple the Nazis. Specially-trained agents plan and work carefully. Since Aug. 29, when the Danes discarded the fiction of being Hitler's "model protectorate," sabotaging acts have ranged in number from six to 20 nightly. Most of them are against communication and transport lines and factories producing precision instruments.

General Strike Plans Claimed In Existence

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Maj. Gladstone Murray, public relations counsel and former general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said last night "there is in existence now a complete plan for a general strike in Canada soon after the war."

Behind the plan, he said in an address to the Toronto branch of the General Alumni Association of Queen's University, are "professional agitators with a vested interest in disruption and chaos."

REVOLUTIONARY ACTION

"This strike is for the purpose of revolutionary action. Its planners have not yet concerned themselves with the grievances on which the strike will nominally be based."

Maj. Murray said "movements like this" are outside the activities of recognized trade unions or the C.C.F. The "revolutionaries" awaited the creation of a machine and "the release of forces which no constitutional agency can control or direct."

Maj. Murray said if Canada adopted a collectivist form of state ownership of industry to solve post-war problems, democracy and individual liberty would be smothered "as in Germany and Russia."

There were two schools of thought, he said, on Canada's post-war course. There were those who believed the profit motive and capitalism must be replaced by a collective system of production, and those who maintained salvation lay in giving free enterprise a maximum of freedom.

DISPUTES THEORY

Maj. Murray said he does not agree with either theory, contending that "ultimately the solution of the problem rests in the mind and soul of the individual.

"There is no doubt that communism, as adopted by the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, has proved more efficient than the national socialism of Germany or the fascism of Italy," he said. "But all totalitarian doctrines have this in common, that they displace the individual and deify the state. Also by their nature they cannot tolerate opposition or criticism."

He said it is recognition of this fact which prompts leaders of collectivism in Canada to suggest that "drastic measures of force will be used to put down any attempt to sabotage a national socialism government."

Alaska Highway Seen as Great Tourist Artery

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20—(CP)—Prediction that the Alaska Highway would in time become a great artery for tourist travel was made by Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines and resources, Ottawa, in an address last night before the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, annually meeting here.

In outlining resources and possibilities of Canada's new northwest, Dr. Camsell praised the co-operation between Canada and the United States marking their study of the area under the Joint Economic Committee.

"The Alaska Highway, the air route and the Canol pipe line," he said, "are proofs that the two nations can work together unselfishly for the common good."

MAIN RESOURCES

Principal resources were furs, forests, minerals and agriculture, but largest development had been in minerals, with indications these would become still more important. Much of the area was potentially a mining region. The area contained natural gas and its oil possibilities were believed to be the greatest in Canada.

"Now the airplane has made remote areas available in hours instead of weeks or months," he continued. "The Alaska Highway will in time, although not immediately, become a great artery of tourist travel. Much improvement will be necessary before it becomes a highway such as tourists have become accustomed to demand . . ."

Noted Canadian Poet in Hospital

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, 83, noted Canadian poet and author, is in Wellesley hospital here suffering from a heart ailment, it was learned yesterday. His condition is said to be serious. Sir Charles, knighted in 1935, was married less than a month ago to Miss Jean Montgomery, 33-year-old radio operator for an R.C.A.F. training unit.

Draft Dodgers Took Lessons

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Six men who admitted attending a school which taught the technique of draft dodging were sentenced in federal court yesterday to terms ranging from one to five years for conspiracy to violate the United States Selective Service Act.

The six pleaded guilty following the arrest of Stephen Weinberg, who operated the school where, for a fee, prospective inductees were taught to feign incompetence and thus escape military service.

Weinberg previously pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to violate the Selective Service Act, and was sentenced to seven years in prison and fined $17,500.

Charge Sect Members Get Choice Lands

CALGARY, Nov. 20—(CP)—Hutterites and Doukhobors were "gobbling up choice farm lands" while Canadian boys were overseas, declared delegates to the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts convention, yesterday in support of a resolution which demanded that the federal government prohibit purchase of land by Hutterites, Doukhobors and enemy aliens.

The resolution was passed unanimously and copies will be sent to federal members of parliament in Western Canada asking them to press for immediate legislation to carry out the demands of the resolution.

Delegates wound up their three-day convention sessions with the passage of 11 resolutions. Edmonton was chosen for the 36th annual convention to be held in November, 1944, but if accommodation is not available at Edmonton the executive will select the convention city.

SHARP CRITICISM

Sharp criticism of the Alberta government's policy of enlarging municipal districts was expressed by several delegates and put into the form of a resolution requesting that the plan be held in abeyance until after the war.

Predicting that large areas of new land would be opened up in Alberta after the war, Hon. D. B. MacMillan, Alberta minister of agriculture, appealed to the municipal councillors to assist in weed control by seeing that clean seed is sown on these new lands.

"Weeds are one of the worst hazards in Canada," said Mr. MacMillan. "Once land gets out of hand, rehabilitation is often a long, hard, tedious and expensive job.

A resolution, asking the provincial government to continue payment of mothers' allowances to guardians of children after the death of the widowed mother, was carried unanimously after lengthy discussion.

ALLOWANCES HALTED

Delegates from the municipal district of Liberty, 489, pointed out in introducing the resolution that present regulation brought the allowances a halt with the death of the widowed mother. The orphans were then placed under direct relief as "indigents or became wards of the province as neglected children.

If they were classed as indigents, members of the municipal council had no alternative but to make the relief a charge against any small property that might be left to the children.

Payment by the province of an adequate year-round budget on quotes was requested in another resolution. Coyotes were becoming a serious menace in northern district, said a delegate from municipal district 517.

Interest free loans for settlement of ex-servicemen under the Veterans' Land Act was requested in another resolution.

Plan to Extend N.S. Liquor Hours

HALIFAX, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Consideration is being given a plan to lengthen liquor store sales hours in the province, A. S. Mahon, Nova Scotia liquor commissioner, said yesterday. At present stores are open from 1:20 to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 1:30 to 7 p.m. on Fridays and days before holidays. They are closed Saturdays.

Dear

This week's signs of the times . . . Edmonton's phenomenal rise in tax returns and continued record-shattering crowds on street cars show continuing wartime expansion . . . stores are advertising no electric trains but simple wooden toys for Christmas . . . household advisors are telling us how to cook the cheaper cuts of meat . . . the continued city-wide dimout to conserve power so that the power plant coal stocks can be built up to a point where the danger of a shortage is no longer present . . . miners back at work after a 14-day strike over a wage dispute.

November 15

Street car service throughout the north section of the city was disrupted as a result of a power-line break on the highway between the city limits and Namao airport. The break was caused by a short circuit when a truck crashed into pole carrying a high-tension line. Premier Ernest Manning has announced that there will be no by-election in the City of Calgary to fill the legislative vacancy caused by the death of Premier William Aberhart.

Coal started streaming from mines in the Edmonton district Monday as miners returned to work following a 14-day strike. They are back at their jobs pending the report of the royal commission investigating the wage dispute. "A tremendous reconstruction and rehabilitation program will face the City of Edmonton in the post-war period, and it is our duty to meet it by making every saving possible," Mayor John W. Fry told the members of the newly-elected city council at the inaugural meeting Saturday.

City police officers investigating no less than 382 complaints concerning juveniles, arrested 75 youths during October.

The first regular meeting of the new city council will be held Monday, Nov. 22, it was announced Monday by Alfred Russell, city clerk. Payments made on the final instalment of city taxes from Nov. 1 to Nov. 13 amounted to $60,514.89. It was announced Tuesday that Nov. 16 was the last day on which the discount for prepayment would be paid.

Alberta's loss in production of coal as a result of the 14-day strike may total 250,000 tons. Civil and military dignitaries and members of the armed services of Canada and the U.S. took part in the 61st annual Edmonton Congress of the Salvation Army held here over the week-end.

The prevailing good weather is in direct contrast with conditions last year. Edmontonians remember that Nov. 15, 1942, was the day when the worst blizzard in history struck the city. Mayor John W. Fry said it is probable the first of the houses being built by Wartime Housing Ltd. will be ready in 10 days' time. Winterized Jeeps being seen around Edmonton were devised by U.S. soldiers to keep them warm. Layers of plywood insulated with wool fashion a tiny house that sets snugly above the familiar vehicle.

Edmonton's dimout will be continued until present coal supplies coming to the power plant make it reasonably safe to permit street lighting to return to normal. An original officer of the First Battalion, Loyal Edmonton Regiment, Maj. Archie Scott Donald, former Edmonton school teacher, is back in Edmonton on furlough after nearly four years of service overseas.

Grande Prairie Basic Training Centre, No. 15, C.W.A.C., at Edmonton, and Headquarters Company of Veterans' Guard of Canada stationed near Lethbridge, won the messing and catering shields in Military District No. 13 for the month of October. Lt. John A. Dougan, 22, of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, has been awarded the Military Cross, according to word received by his mother who lives at 8526 89 street. Jimmy Anderson, former centre iceman for the senior Superiors and Dominions, will act as coach for midget hockey during the coming season.

Prominent in western horse-breeding circles for many years, John S. Glover, Edmonton, was re-elected president of the Edmonton District Thoroughbred Society. A special meeting of the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council probably will be called to discuss amendments to the provincial Industrial Conciliation Act.

One of the two remaining original officers of No. 4 H.T.S., Squadron Leader G. Milsom leaves today to take over duties as senior administrative officer and second in command at No. 2 I.T.S. Regina. One hundred and fifty-nine women of the 290 who have registered for part-time work, have been placed in jobs since Nov. 1.

With a three-way fight virtually certain, preparations are being made for the by-election in Red Deer to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of Alfred Speakman, M.L.A. Disruption of home life through parents being engaged in war work is one of the main causes of the increase in juvenile delinquency, T. F. Pierce, president of the Optimist International, said here.

November 17

Miners in the East Coulee and Drumheller mine districts are seeking the removal of differences that exist in rates paid for timbering. Royal Canadian Army Cadets are taking a firm hold in Edmonton with eight corps organized. U.S. Army Engineers defeated Yanks 40-18 and took over "A" section leadership in the City Senior Basketball League.

War Services Council of Northern Alberta, at the annual meeting, urged every group or organization taking part in any form of war effort to become affiliated with the council, so as to co-ordinate all work being done along these lines.

Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, announced that Alberta is prepared to make large areas of the province available for settlement of soldiers under the New Veterans' Land Act of Canada.

A. E. Ottewell was unanimously elected chairman of the Edmonton Public School Board at its inaugural meeting Tuesday night. Capt. A. R. Scraggs, Protestant chaplain of the Edmonton garrison since early in the present war, has retired from duty. Chief Constable Reginald Jennings addressed the Gyro Club of Edmonton on various episodes which have occurred in his 30 years' association with the city police force. Premier Ernest Manning and Hon. N. E. Tanner will make a submission on post-war reconstruction to the reconstruction committee of the House of Commons in Ottawa Nov. 26.

November 18

Spirits of men of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment are still sky-high after the hard tests of battle in Sicily and Italy according to Maj. A. S. "Archie" Donald, an original officer of the First Bn. of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment, back in Edmonton on leave after four years overseas. Because of lengthy criminal records, Robert Gerrie and Albert Miller, Edmontonians, were both sentenced to three years in Prince Albert penitentiary on charges of breaking and entering.

Six midget and four juvenile hockey teams will be operating in the city during the coming season, Alberta's pioneer days were recalled Wednesday night when 300 people attended the Northern Alberta Pioneers' and Old-Timers' Association annual round-up, banquet and dance.

Didsbury Social Credit Party has nominated Howard Hammell of Carstairs as the Social Credit candidate in Didsbury provincial constituency. The Fort McMurray area, already famed for its tar and oil sands, may soon be widely known for production of salt.

Margaret "Mickie" Buchanan, C.D.A.C., switchboard operator for the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals at a far northern point in this province, has three brothers serving in the Canadian Army, one of whom has just been awarded the "Croix de Guerre." Mrs. Matilda Boyd and Mrs. Mina Harstead are two of the Edmonton housewives who have volunteered to do part-time work to relieve the labor situation. They are working four hours a day in the cafeteria at Aircraft Repair besides running their own homes.

Sittings of the royal commission inquiring into wages and working conditions prevailing in Edmonton and East Coulee coal fields concluded on Wednesday. The East Coulee miners are seeking wage rates similar to those paid in the Drumheller field.

Mrs. J. A. McDougall, one of Edmonton's earliest pioneers and wife of the late J. A. McDougall one of the city's founders, died Friday morning at her home 9936 103 street.

Martin H. Young, Lougheed, manager of Great West Distributors was killed instantly when the truck in which he was riding overturned on a highway three miles west of Camrose.

U.S. Station Hospital moved into third place tie with Varsity by overcoming the Golden Bears 49-36 in the second half of the men's basketball doubleheader.

The third successive victory for Aircraft Repair cagers came when they out-pointed Y.M.C.A. 30-23 in the opening game of last night's double.

The province of Alberta had an over-all cash surplus, exclusive of new borrowings and debt redemptions, of $1,552,310.38 for the six-month period ending Sept. 30, 1943.

Coal supplies being received at the city power plant now are slightly in excess of the daily requirements, city commissioners declared Friday.

Many of the great drag-line power shovels that made possible the construction of the Alaska Highway in record time, soon may be performing new miracles of production in the British Isles.

For topping all cadet companies in city schools in miniature rifle shooting, company at Victoria High school, Thursday received a handsome shield from Capt. G. H. Ritson-Bennett, cadet training officer for military district No. 13.

Presenting a description of the Alaska Highway and its importance to the future of Canada and the United States, Maj. R. L. Blaisdell, supervising chaplain of the Alaska Wing U.S.A.F., spoke to the young people of Robertson United church.

The children had a great time today. Sponsored by C. Woodward Ltd. the kids attended shows at the Rialto theatre this morning. There were two shows and each was attended by a capacity house. Although the snow has not yet come, the Christmas spirit is becoming manifest. It would have made you feel as though you wanted to join the kids again if you could have seen how those youngsters enjoyed themselves.

Fatigue is From the Nerves

Fight Chronic Fatigue By Building Up Nervous Energy

You work hard and are tired—that is one kind of fatigue which is soon relieved by rest.

But chronic fatigue—always tired—is an entirely different condition. It comes from exhaustion of the nerves. When you have chronic fatigue you sooner or later become restless, nervous and irritable and simply cannot rest or sleep well.

Chronic fatigue may come from overwork, either mental or physical, or from worry and anxieties which consume nervous energy at a tremendous rate.

The appetite fails, digestion is upset and you do not get sufficient nutrition to build up nervous energy.

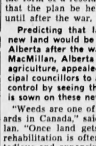

The treatment recommended is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because this medicine contains the food minerals required to help restore nervous energy and vitamin B1 which is so helpful to the nerves and helps to improve digestion.

That Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has been helpful to many thousands of people during the nervous strain of recent years is best proven by the very marked increase in sales. Business executives and office staffs, factory superintendents and workers, housewives and school children—all classes, benefit by this dependable and time proven food treatment for exhausted nerves and chronic fatigue.

Why not take advantage of this medicine from which you may expect such benefits as so many others have obtained. Ask your druggist for the new economy size bottle of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 60 cents a box of 60 pills; economy size bottle 180 pills for $1.50.

Asset, Not Liability

Hon. C. D. Howe struck a timely note when he said that if we keep production going in Canada at wartime level the re-absorption of the men in the armed forces into civilian life will present no serious problem. That surely is obvious, for if they all returned now they could be promptly set at work.

The sponsors of national socialism are preaching something very like the doctrine that when our fighting men come home they will become a liability to the country. They will become nothing of the kind. They will go to work, and become a new economic asset. All that will be needed on the part of the Government and industry will be to show them where to make a comfortable living. They will do the rest.

V

After the Gas Works

Another record was set up Thursday, when more than 1,000 British and Canadian bombers dumped 2,500 tons of bombs on Berlin and Ludwigshafen. Another record was probably also made, since only 32 of the planes failed to return. This is slightly more than 3 per cent. The average of raid losses has been about 5 per cent, and the deadline is placed at 10 per cent. Without seeking to overestimate, it may be inferred that the enemy fighter and ground defences are weakening somewhat.

Berlin radio says the raid there was of the "terror" variety—which may be taken as an apt description of the result though not of the purpose. Allied airmen are not sent out to risk their lives and machines just to make the Nazis jittery, though that is likely enough an incidental effect. Goebbels' spokesman in fact states that the bombing occurred in the suburbs of the city, which overlap the fringe of industrial establishments and railway terminals.

Ludwigshafen is—or was—the site of the largest chemical works in the world. As it has been bombed three days in succession, the works no doubt rank much lower now in the scale. That is probably the place where, if anywhere, gas was being produced in preparation for the supposed plan of the Hitlerites to resort to its use. It is to be hoped that the new gas tanks—if any—were demolished and the parties responsible dosed with the contents.

V

Still Full of Fight

Any impressionist who has been picturing the Hitler forces as about ready to stop fighting should quit dreaming and read the news despatches with a sober regard to realities. If he does this he will note a very furious counter-thrusts in Italy they won back some ground from the Allies a few days ago; and that in the eastern arena the Russians have not yet cleared the enemy out of the Dnieper bend, though their spearhead columns broke through the "blood line" three weeks ago. On the contrary, the Red forces in that area report having had to throw back as many as 20 counter-attacks in a single day. Mr. Churchill, it can also be recalled, said ten days since that German troops "wherever we meet them are fighting with veteran resolution."

The fact is that as yet there are no signs of the morale of the Fuehrer's fighting men having broken. We in the Allied countries are convinced—and as a right to be convinced, that we shall win the war. But we have not yet convinced the men in Hitler's armies and submarines and air force.

It may be that from commanders down these have given up the expectation that they can win. But they have not abandoned hope that they can fight a drawn battle, and so pave the way for another trick treaty of "peace". That idea has to be knocked out of their heads, and it isn't going to be done by soft blows, nor probably done quickly by any kind of blows.

There is a lot of fight still left in the Nazis, and Allied civilians on the production front can no more afford to forget it than can the men we send to do the job.

V

Kidding the Voters

Brandon and Portage La Prairie provide good illustrations of the confusion of political thought that is now existing in the minds of the Canadian people. Provincial bye-elections in those two constituencies were fought on federal, not provincial, issues. The same thing happened in the provincial general elections in Ontario. There again the whole battle raged not about the record and policies of the provincial administration, but in the main about questions with which the provincial government had nothing to do and which the outcome of the provincial contest could not affect.

Most people understand that a provincial government has no control over the financial policy of the country, the banking system, the prosecution of the war effort, rationing, trade and commerce, and other matters of national scope. But for the time this fact has been obscured, and wherever a provincial contest is staged the attention of the voters is diverted away from subjects with which the provincial authority has to deal and is directed to the alleged faults and failings of the federal authority.

This of course did not just happen to become a method of the time. It is the result of C.C.F. strategy; which is aimed to use provincial platforms, and even municipal platforms, as rostrums from which to preach national socialism, and to cultivate antagonism toward the Mackenzie King Government.

It is time that the electors woke up to this wholly improper and inevitably dangerous diversion of attention away from provincial and municipal issues. One certain outcome is that unless the game is halted there will be deterioration in both municipal and provincial administration, for in these fields as elsewhere good government is only to be expected where the voters show that they are taking a keen interest in what their representatives do and propose to do.

V

Marshal Petain failed to make a scheduled broadcast on Saturday. Berlin radio explains the failure as due to "inner political tendencies in France"; toward which Berlin did not care to define its attitude. Which likely means that M. Laval has been pulling wires to oust the aged Marshal and don the tinsel crown of Vichy.

V

Officials say the stoppage of production at the Shawinigan plant cost the Allies aluminum enough to build 250 Lancaster bombers. That doesn't help to "speed the victory." The dispute should have been arbitrated, without halting the flow of material.

V

The Vatican radio says that after a careful examination experts have been unable to identify the fragments of four bombs which were dropped on Vatican City by a plane of unknown nationality. Rommel's counterfeiters were evidently unable to make a reproduction of Allied markings good enough to be convincing.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1893: 50 Years Ago

The uniforms for the Edmonton band arrived from Philadelphia on Monday. The coats are cut-away pattern, dark blue with red facings, brass buttons and epaulettes. They are worn with a white belt. The caps are high and have a small cockade. The trousers are dark blue with a yellow stripe.

The influx of settlers during the past three or four weeks has been very large. This is an index of what will be next year after the financial panic in the south has abated.

A school district to be called Josefburg has been organized in the Beaver Hills east of Fort Saskatchewan. Philip Mohr, Sr., Philip Mohr, Jr., and Robert Calvert were elected trustees. Gus Done was elected secretary-treasurer.

Moosomin Spectator: "The Bulletin's pluck in sticking to its semi-weekly so long is to be admired." The semi-weekly seems high but we must have it. The people desire it, the place requires it and this establishment is fixed for turning out a semi-weekly newspaper that, with Artemus Ward's waxworks show, is "equalled by a few and excelled by none". Only $2.00 a year. Now is the time to subscribe and get all the news.

What to Do With It

FROM THE WINDSOR STAR

Today we have a tremendously expanded national income. Our problem will be to keep that income nearly as high as at the present time. Certainly it must be higher than pre-war levels. The huge size of the accumulated buying power can be the chief factor in supporting it. This money now being saved can go to buy merchandise. This in turn will keep industry operating, thus keeping people gainfully employed and earning good wages. The total result will be support of the national income, and a definitely higher standard of living than in the past.

National Income Should Balance With Production

Employment Prime Factor In Healthy and Happy State

By HAROLD L. WEIR

Notwithstanding the optimistic words of the Hon. Mr. Howe, this country is still going to fall into a slough of unemployment after the war unless the Canadian viewpoint with regard to the vital relationship between national income and production is radically amended.

Production, which means employment, is inexorably bound up with the status of money and credit. We must think of money as the result of production. We must not think of money as a pipe through which production must flow.

Harold L. Weir

We must regard an unemployed man, not as an object for a dole, but as a unit of lost production.

Production comes first, not money.

When production overtakes and passes the national income, there is depression and unemployment. When the national income balances production, there is prosperity and work for everybody.

This is the secret of "good times." And it is proved abundantly in the histories of Russia, England, Germany and the United States.

Russia

Prior to the First Great War, Russia was broken down with unemployment, starvation and poverty. When the political collapse came, the Bolsheviks were able to achieve power because of their promises to end these things.

But they did not end them through the Bolshevist doctrine. Eventually they scrapped their non-profit or non-capitalistic system, because it would not work, and proceeded to function on the basis of the dictum that if a man wanted to eat, he would have to work.

They paid salaries according to accomplishments, and the more a man did, the more he got. In other words, whether by accident or design they raised their national income above their productive capacity. And as soon as that happened, their unemployment problem was solved.

People wonder why the Russians, who made such a poor showing if the last war, are such giants in this one. The reason is that the Russians now have something to live for and something to which to look forward to in the future.

They are not inspired by their doctrine. They have merely found social security through a unique system of their own, based on expediency, in which employment is assured by keeping their national income above their productive capacity.

Germany

After the first World War and up to the time of Hitler, Germany was a broken, discredited and bankrupt nation. One million of her men were walking the streets.

With his vision of world conquest before him, Hitler put those six million men to work building guns and tanks and planes. His objective was vicious and his final political results unsound. But his economic methods were completely valid because more than enough food existed in stances than through intelligent planning, he brought the national income up above German productive capacity.

In short, he did not use money as a regulator of production.

Production came first and money naturally followed it.

The point is that employment, not money, is the first ingredient of prosperity and security.

If everyone in the world stopped working for two months, we would have wholesale starvation. We must produce to live.

But it would be possible to take all the stocks and bonds and cheques and currency and make a bonfire of them and sink all the gold in the sea without depriving a single person of food.

Although he did 't for an evil purpose, Hitler proved that that purpose will cause his destruction. Hitler's method' of disregarding currency and raising the national income by employment is still essentially sound. He proved it in his results. And if he had had the sense to keep to a peaceful course, he could have made Germany the most powerful country in Europe.

England

The experience of England, after the first war, was somewhat different. During the war she had greatly expanded her production and in doing this had discarded the old system of financial measurement. The gold standard could not handle her enlarged production, which had far exceeded the absorption powers of her diminished trade connections.

Her financial men were called in to straighten out the difficulty and they went right back to pre-war financial thinking. They had no thought of balancing the national income with their productive capacity. They asserted that the cure was to go back to the gold standard. Immediately, production fell and millions of workers were thrown into the streets.

The proposed cure was the dole. And is was merely a relief, not a cure. So, up until the time of the present war, there was a contrasting picture of employment in Germany and unemployment in England.

United States

After the first war, the national income of the United States went up by leaps and bounds and her productive capacity greatly expanded.

The United States kept production at a high rate because she took the results of that production money and loaned it to Europe and South America and these countries bought the production of the United States.

This policy really meant that the United States were lending her productive power to other nations and her national income was above or below the balance with her productive capacity.

Then her financial advisers commenced to think that the European and South American countries were poor risks and they began to shut off these loans. This meant that they decreased the productive power of the country.

The national income fell below the production capacity and unemployment and distress resulted.

The point, true now as then, is that only through full production can the unemployment problem be solved, and full production can only be had by balancing the national income with the productive capacity of the country.

Canada

To regulate our national income and keep it in its proper volume is the first step in our employment.

Canada might have to be zoned and the income problems of each zone studied and regulated and then reassembled as a unit.

We might have to put a floor under certain of our great crops and we might have to lease-lend food to our starving neighbors throughout the world.

If we can lease-lend and give away the implements of war, surely we can lease-lend the food to heal the wounds of war.

But, first and foremost, we must see that our national income is large enough to take care of our productive capacity.

Money is only necessary to production and employment. It follows production.

Sombre Prophets of the Next World War

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Some months ago, General Patton, in a letter to the small brother of a fallen soldier promised the youngster that he, too, would have an opportunity to fight for his country some day.

On Wednesday, the Secretary of the Navy, Frank Knox, "warned against the illusion that this war likely to be the last war."

On Thursday Alexander Seversky forecast the war of the future. For him this second world war is only a test of the real power of aviation. "The present war has as yet provided few examples of pure air strategy or tactical operations. It is still in the experimental stage. . . . In the future, as aviation asserts its dominance, land warfare will become increasingly a contest in destroying weapons at their point of origin."

Also on Thursday, Senator Ralph Brewster delivering the Alfred Gideonse on the subject, "Are America's and Britain's Economic Systems Safe?" In the course of his argument Senator Brewster listed conflicts of interest which unless solved to American satisfaction that this was the seed of another war. The war, he thought, might occur, if America did not receive "proper share" of trade. Among other things he demanded "a more equitable sharing of the British petroleum reserves in the Near East."

I greatly hope that none of these gentlemen will have anything to say about the coming peace. For if they are already betting against the success of their own plans, let us make other plans.

Evie thinks it is to have permanent universal military training, the world's largest air force and the United States to "police" the world this war too soon," and only when our troops stand in Berlin and Tokyo.

We are to knock out Germany and Japan once and for all, leaving only the United Nations as power factors on earth. We are to guarantee that the following peace "will endure for a long time." But we must be warned against the illusion that it will endure.

I do not know which of the United Nations Mr. Knox considers will be our next enemy. Senator Brewster is more specific. If we don't get what we want, it may be Britain. The cause may be the competing interests of British and American oil companies in territory belonging to neither Britain nor America.

Senator Brewster picks a good point for his next war—Persia, Americans and British boys are to fight each other there in behalf of the conflicting interests of private companies. But there is another power interested in Persia, though not in oil concessions, but in an outlet to a socialist economy on warm water. That is Russia. So we could have a wonderful war bound to embrace the whole world, or lay the foundations for world war No. IV. That would be fine because by then, we will have perfected the atomic disintegration, and so can blow the human race off the earth and give this globe a final, clean sweep.

We must be grateful to Senator Brewster for making clear where power politics and free play for the competition of private industrial empires will lead us. We should be grateful to Mr. Knox for warning us of the results of placing our faith in the maintenance of huge standing national armies. We hope Alexander de Seversky will continue to describe future wars in the air. Mr.

Seversky promises us that the next war in the air will be humane. Few people will be killed. The result will not be many corpses, but "general chaos."

Curiously enough, I don't believe these prophets. I don't believe we are going to fight over Persian oil, nor even over air transport nor do I think that the people are going to put their trust in immense national arms.

For, when this war is over, the the people are going to go carefully into its causes. They are going to review the diplomacy of the last twenty years and they are going to find out that this war need never have happened. They are going to see that it was the result of the game of power politics, fostering the hope that a war could occur which would not affect their own nation, but militate to their own interests. They are also going to see that wars occur because the governments and the leading powers of nations do not know how to organize and use their economy to the best purpose for the wealth and happiness of their own people, and so turn them loose in conquest as a way out of a dilema.

That is not said to exculpate Hitler and the Germans who started this catastrophe. But what has to be explained is how and why he, and the nations behind him, were able to get into the position where they could do all this.

When we find the right answers, by asking the right questions, we can be more optimistic about enduring peace than Mr. Knox, Mr. Brewster, General Patton, or Senator Brewster.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Brass Hat Interference Leads Production Chief To Resign

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Some outside business men coming over the war government have done A-1 jobs; some have been medium; some have been complete washouts. Most outstanding achievement is probably that of Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric and production chief of the War Production Board. If any man deserves credit for the stupendous airplane production miracle of over 100,000 planes a year, it is Charley Wilson.

Drew Pearson

Now, he is leaving the government. There are several reasons why. One climaxing reason was Wilson's recent visit to Dallas, Texas, to speed up the production of the North American Aviation bomber plant.

When he arrived, James Kindelberger, president of North American, took him up a high elevation where he could get a bird's-eye view of the steel plant.

"One of the best exhibits of statuary I've ever seen," said Wilson. "What do you mean?" asked Kindelberger.

"There's nobody moving," replied Wilson. "They're statues. No, wait a minute. There's someone lifting his hand."

North American had planned to add 9,000 more men by Jan. 1, but Wilson intruded a flat veto. He said that the plant was wasting power, wasn't using what it had. And some orders for economies which would both save labor and speed up production. He also took Dallas out of the category of No. 1 war area, which meant that other industries could come in and compete with North American for labor.

Then Wilson took a plane back to Washington. When he got back, the Army went over his head, telephoned Dallas and reversed his instructions. Result: North American, instead of saving labor, could put those 9,000 more men.

North American was too smart to accept the Army reversal, but this was the crowning climax for Wilson. Shortly thereafter, he submitted his resignation.

"Air Secretary"

For months, Wilson had battled the Army on simple economy. Constantly, the brass hats asked him to speed production but refused to give him authority. Army's latest drive was to put Wilson in uniform. They offered him the rank of lieutenant-general in charge of air-plane production. This would put him on a par with General Bill Knudsen, whom the Army also swallowed.

Bernie Baruch and Justice Byrnes even talked of making Wilson "Secretary of Aviation." This, however, would place him under the Army and he has consistently argued that, once he was under Army orders, he would have no more independence than any other brass hat.

So up until last week, Wilson kept on needling the Army, bolstering factory managers, boosting production. His latest campaign was to decrease costs by abolishing the cost plus contract. But this seems to be the last thing the Army and Navy want.

Finally, lack of authority, plus Wilson's desire to get back to private business, culminated in last week's resignation. When it came, Justice Byrnes phoned him.

"Charlie, you can't do this," he pleaded. "Nelson can't accept your resignation. Only the President can do it."

But Wilson demurred.

"You just tear that up", urged Byrnes. "You've got to wait until the President can consider it."

Dislikes Murder

Evie offered her a drink.

"I must have a biscuit," declined Wallis, "Just a biscuit is all."

Evie thought the saltiness out of an old can which once contained mothballs, offered them to the Duchess and then sat down, expecting to hear the Stork Derby Oakes murder trial. Before she could say a word, however, the Duchess signed.

"What a relief," she said, "to be some place where nothing is said about murder."

Note: At the end of the matter. The two talked about old times and—men.

Note: A lot of people have been wondering why Duke and Duchess stayed out of Nassau during the entire Marigny trial.

Sacrifices

When Maine's hard-hitting Senator Brewster was in London recently, he had a delightful visit with the King and Queen of England, during which Queen Elizabeth remarked on the hardships of the war. She hoped everyone hoped it might be over soon.

"Just think," she added, "some of us have not been home for four years."

"I can understand that perfectly," replied Senator Brewster, "for I haven't been in the war quite so long, but my boy hasn't been back to his home in Main for three years."

The Queen expressed surprise at this and asked the Senator various questions about his son, Ralph, now a captain in North Africa or Italy.

Poland

British Ambassador Lord Halifax is telling the story of the quiz he got from a group of British Tommies during his recent visit to England.

Halifax picked up five soldiers who were walking by. Then, as they got into the ambassador's car one of them noticed the name "Halifax" on his family shield somewhere in the furnishings of the car.

"Good Lord!" said the soldier. "Is it Lord Halifax?"

"Yes," returned the ambassador, "but it is not as bad as all that."

The soldiers leaped at the chance to question the ambassador about a wide range of things. They wanted to know what he would do in front of Poland, in view of British pledges to preserve Poland's territorial integrity, and Russia's insistence on having a large slice of that country.

When Halifax related this story in Washington, he was promptly asked what reply he gave to the soldiers. He said: "I told them we had better be patient and see how things work out."

Note: This is being interpreted as a tip-off that British policy will be modified in favor of Russian demands. Obviously, if the British wait patiently to see how things work out, the integrity of Poland will not be maintained.

SIDE GLANCES

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

Government Dictation

Editor, Bulletin: Once again the farmers of this province are forced to support a pseudo banking system which the Social Credit Government calls Treasury Branches.

Since 1933 under the U.F.A. Government the Livestock Feeders' Association have been getting loans of $100,000 from the Chartered Banks for the purchase of feeder cattle, on a 25 per cent Government guarantee, and so far the Government has not had to put up one dollar for any loss sustained by any Feeders Association.

Now late in the season and without any warning of any kind the Associations are notified that no guarantee will be forth coming unless the Association do business through the Treasury Branches. Furthermore some of the officials of our Associations having criticized the Government for their delay in signing the Guarantee, and also for being of the approved Social Credit stripe, must be relieved of their positions to appease Social Credit stripe.

When our Association, through our Board of Directors unanimously opposed being forced into the Treasury Branches and protested to the Minister of Agriculture, D. B. McMillan, our protest was entirely ignored.

If this is an example of Social Credit Democracy in action, then every Association at least thinks that it is dictatorial action as best exemplified by the Axis with whom we are waging a life and death struggle and the Associations had been coaling the Province anything or had been mismanaging their affairs in any way the Government might have had some excuse for their action.

If the Government persists in this attitude the break up and disintegration of the Livestock Feeders Associations will soon become apparent, for the Livestock men of this province are not to be forced to support the Treasury Branches in which they have no confidence. They know that these fake institutions are costing the tax payers about $360,000 per year and are providing no worthwhile service in return.

Even the late Premier Aberhart exhibited very little confidence in the Treasury Branches when his good sized fortune was left largely in the Chartered Banks for safe keeping. Another example of: Don't do as I do, but do as I say.

The Social Credit party must be indeed on precarious ground when forced to bludgeon support to the Treasury Branches in this way, as in this case, and the hand writing on the wall must be apparent even to them who are not noted for any long range vision.

Reform?

Editor, Bulletin: I received on Thursday a marked copy of the Bulletin, dated Nov. 17th. The leading portion which was marked was an article on "Reform or Socialism," the writer naturally advocates reform rather than socialism; quite so, why not? If the capitalist press advocated socialism I would begin to wonder if it was time to change. All the old line parties and the leaders of the Social Credit party have all been het up about the danger of socialism. The leader of the C.C.F. in the west seem to have a different line than those in the east, if not why all the pussy-footing about the Winch affair? Hitler calls his line socialism; also there are other governments which call themselves socialistic, if this is socialism I want none of it and will line up with our Alberta premier against it, but when it comes to the application which united all the people of the Soviet Union against the fascist philosophy of Hitler socialism; united them to the extent that they all work co-operatively and die if need be for their country, then this is a degree of socialism, and I for one am in favor of that kind of action, rather than the reform of his set up which tries to drive us back to the status quo and private enterprise, which was responsible for the depressions and wars, and reform will only mean the same things again because they are inherent in the capitalist system. . . . When I hear our so-called Christian premier of Alberta declare that according to the Bible we will have to fight the Soviet Union, I think of Saul of Tarsus who persecuted the Christians until he met up with a bright light that blinded him and a voice cried out, Saul, Saul, why persecuteth thou me, may be some day Manning will run into a great light and a voice which will be the means of making a Paul out of Bible. After hearing Mr. Brockington and others over the CBC lately, men who talk like Manning simply fall into the category of fifth columnists.

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

NEXT concert in the Women's Musical Club Celebrity Series will be at McDougall auditorium on Saturday night, Dec. 4. The artist will be Thomas L. Thomas, baritone. Apart from this, the event will be notable for its being the only occasion so far that a Celebrity Series concert has been held on a Saturday night. After Mr. Thomas' appearance, the series will take lime off for the Christmas and New Year's periods. On Jan. 7 the extra or "added" attraction will be heard, namely the Don Cossacks Chorus, conducted by the petit, but volatile Serge Jaroff. This, as has been stated, will be treated as a separate concert from the regular series, which will be resumed with the appearance of Anne Brown, soprano, on Jan. 12. Arthur Rubinstein, pianist, will be heard in recital on Feb. 4, and on March 3 the series will be concluded by Jan Peerce, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association.

Those who pursue matters musical and take such things seriously, are fully aware of the fact that there are two great baritones by the name of Thomas. The voices of both are familiar. John Charles Thomas already is well-known here by reason of personal appearances. Back in 1919 when he was a young man just stepping on the ladder to commence his upward climb to fame and fortune, he appeared here at the old Empire theatre, as the star in Sigmund Romberg's charming and melodious musical play "Maytime." Then, a few years ago after he had won his way into the Metropolitan Opera Association, and become a great name in the realm of phonograph recordings and radio, he returned, and sang in the new Empire as one of the Celebrity Series—and proved one of the most popular of artists who have appeared here.

Next month music lovers will make the personal acquaintance of the other outstanding baritone representing the Thomas family. This time the guest will be Thomas L. Thomas. By the way, do you know what that "L" stands for between the surname and Christian name of Thomas? I have never heard it used. If you are up on your Welsh you may recognize it. It is "Llynfnwy." It is easy for an announcer to rattle off "Thomas L. Thomas, baritone," but not so easy to say "Thomas Llynfnwy Thomas, baritone."

In any case this young singer's voice is no stranger here. He has been heard on Canadian Victory Loan programs, and on two International programs heard regularly over the CBC national network. He has appeared on many other programs on the air, and has made a large number of recordings with Vivian della Chiesa, "America's great lyric soprano." He is a Welshman by birth and he inherits his musical talent from his father, who is an accomplished musician and a fellow of the Royal Academy of Music.

His concert appearances have proved outstandingly successful and he has achieved a distinction that falls to few artists, namely, being brought back for a second, and even a third appearance in the same city during the same season.

A movement that gives promise of conferring inestimable benefits on aspiring concert artists through providing opportunities for them to appear in public to gain experience, confidence and poise as well as to obtain an early opinion on their abilities from the public, will get under way here tomorrow. The Canadian Federation of Music Teachers is sponsoring the movement, which is known as the Young Artist Series. The movement extends across the country, and has been divided into prairie, west coast and eastern series.

At 3 p.m. tomorrow at the recreation hall of No. 2 A.O.S. on Kingsway, two young Winnipeg artists will appear in recital. The men and women of the armed services will be admitted without restriction, while those civilians obtaining programs in advance also will be permitted to enter. The recitalists will be Winnifred Scott, pianist, and M. Margolis, baritone. Miss Scott has won several medals, trophies and scholarships at festivals and in conservatory competition. Mr. Margolis also has won highest honors in his classes at Manitoba music festivals.

By reason of the magnificent achievements of the mighty Red Army and his own contribution to contemporary music, the activities of Dimitri Shostakovich are of interest to the world in general, and to the world of music in particular. The composer achieved great fame with his Seventh Symphony, composed while he was on air raid duty in Leningrad.

He has completed his Eighth Symphony which had its world premiere at Moscow on Nov. 4. The Columbia Broadcasting System has agreed to pay $10,000 for the first American performance rights of the new symphony. This constitutes the largest payment ever made in the history of music for the first performance rights of a work in this form. The American premiere will take place on a Sunday afternoon in the near future. The interpreting group will be the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra under Artur Rodzinski, playing at Carnegie Hall.

After this performance the rights to the next presentations have been ceded to the Boston Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Serge Koussevitsky. The Boston orchestra also has received permission from Amrus Music Corporation, distributor of Soviet music on this side of the Atlantic, to make the first American recordings of the symphony. When the word got around that the Soviet composer had completed the new symphony, most of the leading United States conductors immediately put in requests for first performance rights.

The bidding eventually narrowed down to the two great radio networks, both of which have symphony orchestras as an outlet for the best in music. Prices from Moscow dealing with the first performance, which took place a few hours before Moscow announced the prowess of the Red Army's summer campaign, indicate the new symphony has a strong military leaning and easily might be called the "Military Symphony." It takes 70 minutes to perform. There are five movements, two of which are in march time, and at several points in the complex structure the rhythm of the cavalry gallop breaks through.

Ralph Parker in a wireless dispatch to the New York Times after attending the performance, stated "But Shostakovich, although in heroic mood, has not forgotten that if war has its pompous and horrible aspects, it also has periods in which men learn to appreciate the simpler things. To this listener the symphony has many moments of nostalgic longing."

Plan to Conserve Turner Valley Gas

CALGARY, Nov. 20. — (CP) — Legislation to effectively conserve natural gas in the Turner Valley field will be introduced at the next session of the provincial legislature, according to a letter received at City Hall yesterday from Premier E. C. Manning.

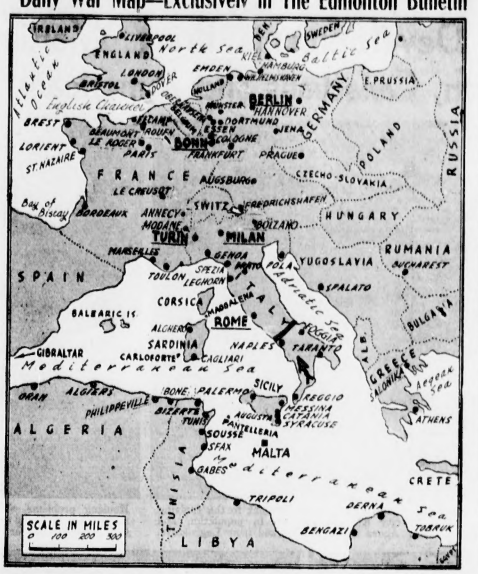

The letter was in reply to action taken by city council two weeks ago when it adopted the report of the special gas rates committee which included a recommendation the government be urged to take immediate steps to conserve the gas supply.

After acknowledging a letter from the city, Mr. Manning continued: "We fully agree regarding the importance of gas conservation and I can assure you that it is the intention of the government to recommend legislation at the coming session to deal effectively with this matter."

Air Force Homes Sought at Coast

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Robert Denman of Hamilton, Ont., said yesterday he is seeking two large dwellings in British Columbia for use as convalescent homes for grounded members of the Royal Canadian Air Force. Mr. Denman said he plans looking for two such establishments for Wartime Convalescent Homes, War Charity Fund, Inc., a "private non-payment company" of which he is secretary. Tentative plans are for one home near Vancouver and another near Victoria.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

On the accompanying map most of the places bombed recently by the Allies are located. Recently Modane was bombed twice. It is on a railway leading into northwestern Italy at a point southwest of Switzerland. Unescorted U.S. bombers from the Mediterranean have attacked Arlenecy, which is not far away from Modane, that place being an important railway junction. British and Canadian planes have attacked the coastal railway at Cannes and the adjacent little town of Antheor in the French Riviera. Cannes is located on the map, but not Antheor. Allied bombers from the south have raided the Bolzano bottleneck on the Brenner pass railway.

Prairie Irrigation Projects Mooted

YORKTON, Sask., Nov. 20.—(CP)—There was a great need in Saskatchewan for an extension of the work of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, John Bracken, National Progressive Conservative leader said in an interview yesterday on conclusion of his two weeks tour of the province.

Under the P.F.R.A., machinery which if correctly operated and expanded, could cope with the dry farming problem in Saskatchewan by encouraging better utilization of the soil, he said. By launching long-term irrigation projects the dry soil could be rehabilitated.

"The challenge before us is to make use of water pouring down the rivers to the sea and thereby obtain maximum production from the soil that is the prairies' heritage," he said. "It is a challenge that I would not hesitate to accept were I prime minister of this great Dominion.

"In Alberta, particularly the Lethbridge area, I saw what could be accomplished by irrigation and during my trip across Saskatchewan I have been impressed with the need of extending the work of the P.F.R.A.," he said.

Memorial Service

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(CP)—A memorial service held yesterday in Notre Dame church for the officers and men of destroyer H.M.C.S. Ste. Croix, lost at sea by enemy action last September, was attended by thousands of people. Seventeen members of the crew of 147 were from Montreal.

Air Power

Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky

Secretary of the Navy Knox has revealed that construction has been ordered on the world's largest aircraft carriers; three 45,000-ton craft, as big as battleships and about 12,000 tons heavier than any carrier built heretofore. When completed, some time in 1945, these carriers will serve as floating bases for twin-engine bombers of larger range and hitting power than any that can now operate conveniently from carriers.

The decision to go in for super-carriers amounts to public recognition that the very limited striking power that can now be conveyed by aircraft carriers is inadequate against enemy shore installations and shore-based aerial defences.

de Seversky

It should be noted, however, that the decision coincides with the Army announcement of new land-based bombers twice the size of the present Flying Fortress. By the time the new carriers are in action, the striking power of shore-based aviation will certainly be even greater. The relation between naval air power and land air power will therefore be no different than it is today. If anything, the margin of advantage for land-based planes will be wider, despite the increased size and carrying capacity of the carriers.

INSOLUBLE PROBLEM

To put the matter bluntly, the Navy is trying desperately to solve an insoluble problem. No matter how we expand the dimensions of the floating base, its aircraft will remain inferior to opposition operating from land, and the carrier itself will remain the most vulnerable craft afloat. Since even highly armored battleships cannot withstand concentrated air attacks, it is fantastic to expect flat-tops to do so.

Shortly after the Coral and Midway battles and the loss of the Lexington, the writer discussed the subject with officers thoroughly familiar with those actions. They attributed the high carrier casualties to the size of the ships. The carriers, they pointed out, were too big, too unwieldy, and offered large targets to enemy assaults. Moreover, they put "too many eggs in one basket" by ferrying so many planes and men on one highly vulnerable and volatile vessel.

SMALLER CARRIERS

In line with these lessons, the Navy at that time veered toward smaller carriers, ordering a series of 17,000-ton craft. Experience then showed that the smaller carriers were just as vulnerable. Besides, they ran into operational difficulties being more sensitive to bad weather. Because of reduced deck areas, the operation of airplanes from under-sized carriers became more hazardous. Their anti-aircraft artillery had to be more limited and because one or two torpedoes were enough to sink them, they were easier victims of submarines.

Now the Navy has reversed itself and swung in the opposite direction, with the largest carriers in naval history. The change will prove just as futile. The larger the vessel, the bigger the target. While it will be more heavily armored and better defended, so that it will be less vulnerable to a single bomb or torpedo, the greater size makes it a better target for high-altitude horizontal bombing, thus exposing it to armor-piercing block-busters many tons in weight. Even with bombsights of limited accuracy it should be hard to miss the vast acreage of such huge flat-tops.

WIDE DISPERSEMENT

The defence of any base requires the widest possible dispersement of its equipment and installations. But these huge floating bases will represent the maximum concentration of air power in a minimum space, thereby providing the enemy with an ideal target — virtually guaranteeing major destruction with a single block-buster or super-torpedo.

The planes to be conveyed by the new 45,000 ton carriers, light twin-engined bombers, cannot possibly have the requisite armament; even the Flying Fortress, which is heavily armed, is finding lighter plane opposition increasingly serious. Neither can twin-engined bombers taking off from carriers have enough bombing power for real strategic destruction. These factors, plus the vulnerability of their floating base, sharply reduce their usefulness.

In short, the fortified giant carrier does not solve the problem for floating bases facing shore-based air power. No matter how you slice it, thick or thin, large or small, the carrier is still primarily a ferry-boat for aircraft and doomed when confronted with genuine air power operating from solid land.

SUPER CARRIER

The potential of labor and materials involved in the three super-carriers that will be ready in about two years is roughly equivalent to 600 of the latest B-29 bombers, each one of which could carry five times as much bombing power as the medium bombers operating from the projected carriers. About 100 medium bombers will be able to operate from a super-carrier, yet for the cost of those bombers plus their carrier, we could build 200 of the new B-29's. In other words, the same investment in land-based planes would give us ten times as much bombing power. The B-29, it should be added, is already in production, so that the equivalent land-based fleet could be in action long before the aircraft carriers will be commissioned.

After our experience with Germany it is clear that to destroy a major industrial set-up, such as Japan's, we would need many thousands of carriers—an undertaking far beyond any nation's resources. The three super-carriers are just a drop in the bucket, cannot give any decisive values and in the writer's view represent an unwarranted diversion of our war effort.

McCoy Health Service

I believe that my readers will be interested in knowing about some of the actual uses of the ultra violet ray as it is employed in the treatment of definite disorders. These rays are similar to certain types of rays given out by the sun, but they have the advantage of being available at a convenien time. The ultra violet rays as produced by a modern generator or "Lamp" have an added advantage in that they are concentrated—for example, it is possible to do as much good within 3 or 4 minutes by taking the treatment in the office as would be done by staying in direct sunlight for an hour.

It has been found that ultra violet rays have a definite influence upon the skin and inasmuch as they are of value in cleaning up certain types of skin disorders, producing a nice smooth, clear, fresh skin, they are extensively used in the treatment of such conditions as acne, eczema, and ringworm.

In acne, the generator is helpful in correcting the unnatural activity of the oil glands of the skin. The treatment in this case should be of such strength as to produce an erythema or redness. Results are also treated with excellent results in the same manner.

Those skin disorders marked by the presence of fungi, such as barber's itch, ringworm and athlete's foot, also often disappear when these rays are used. I have seen many cases in which the skin cleared up and became perfectly smooth after only a few treatments, especially in ringworm of the face or arm. The patient with athlete's foot which is really a form of ringworm affecting the toes, will usually find that treating the cracks around the toes long enough to produce a definite peeling of the skin will cause improvement to occur.

Such disorders as colds, hay fever, sinus trouble, and discharge from the ears are sometimes cleared up most rapidly if daily local treatments are given with this ray. Or, instead of the treatment being used every day, it may be used every other day, making a total of 3 per week. In certain cases, local treatment given to the tonsils with the ultra violet ray will also be helpful.

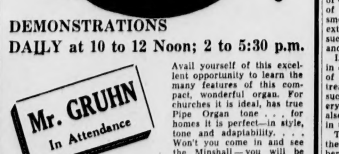

Those with secondary anemia should receive ultra violet ray exposure over the entire body, in addition to other treatment. It will be found that such exposure, if carefully regulated will serve to induce an increase in the number of red corpuscles found circulating in the blood. This increase is only temporary but the patient usually receives a pleasant sense of well-being while it lasts.

Children with rickets are often helped by treatments given with these generators which will assist the body in better metabolizing calcium and other bone-building minerals. The use of the generator during the winter months is also helpful in preventing rickets in young children.

Not all ultra violet rays in sunlight have such power to keep us in health and strength it is not surprising that they seem to aid the return of health when diseased conditions are present. Seemingly, they exert a general tonic effect.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large, stamped, self-addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Prevent Tuberculosis

Annual Christmas Seal Sale Is Now Underway

Again the citizens of Northern Alberta and the North West Territories have received letters from the Tuberculosis Seal Sale Committee. These letters contain an appeal to help stamp out tuberculosis by purchasing the stamps enclosed.

This year the stamp shows a picture of a little girl looking out of the window at Santa Claus and his reindeer flying through the sky. It is the work of Andre Dugo, internationally known artist and illustrator.

The "Christmas Seal Sale" in this district is sponsored by the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton. This year's committee is as follows: R. F. Allan, chairman; R. W. Le-Drew, secretary; W. G. Montgomery, treasurer; G. S. Barker, publicity, and V. B. Hayward, advisory.

Last year's contributions provided for full time employment of a Public Health Nurse who made 2,801 visits to T.B. cases, suspects and contacts, etc., and also assisted in 1535 clinic examinations, 538 tuberculosis tests, 1,469 X-rays and provided 16 needy families with cod liver oil.

In conjunction with the Alberta Tuberculosis Association and other Seal Sale Committees, a travelling X-ray unit with photographic attachments and trailer has been purchased and made available to the provincial government. It has already been used to survey employees of several industrial firms.

The committee also assists in rehabilitation of improved and cured cases.

Returns are already coming in well, some even having arrived from the North West Territories.

Epochal Northwest Developments Bring Wartime Boom to Alberta's Capital

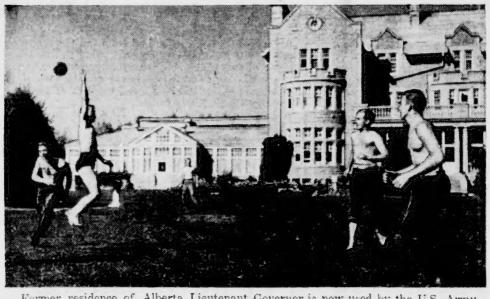

At Gateway to North, Canadians and Americans Unite to Assault New Frontiers

War has brought many changes to the Canadian scene but none more striking than in Edmonton, Capital of Alberta. Here such projects as the Alaska Highway and the Canol pipeline have brought to the thriving northern city a huge increase in population and business. Above trucks are parked near Legislature.

Housing problems, shortage of consumer goods and many other problems have been thrust upon Edmonton's City Council. Mayor Fry, shown here presiding at meeting of aldermen, has been mayor since 1938 and with other civic authorities has kept pace with the vast developments in co-operation with U. S. officials.

Former residence of Alberta Lieutenant Governor is now used by the U.S. Army Air Force to house air crews in Edmonton between flights. Here young fliers toss pigskin around on lawns formerly used by royalty for bowling and teas.

Many romances have sprung from invasion of thousands of U.S. servicemen. Here Mary Yeo, C.W.A.C. and Sgt. Pfeiffer, Springfield, find tandem not out of date.

Lunch hour at the former Jesuit College, taken over by U.S. engineering Department. In an effort to co-operate in alleviating housing shortage U.S. built many units such as those shown above for civilian and army personnel.

At the many canteens and service recreational centres operated in the Alberta capital, Canadians, Americans, Australians, New Zealanders give true meaning to the term "United Nations". Both Canadian and U.S. M.P.'s patrol streets.

Not unusual in many Canadian cities women cabbies came early in Edmonton, and in large numbers. Who wouldn't ride in a taxi with Pearl Woollett driving.

"Nothing can stop us now" is a saying often heard in Edmonton where vast riches of Canadian north west will, it is thought, maintain present rate of expansion. Betty Maguss, former newspaper employee, works for U.S. firm.

The city's principal military activity centres around Air Observers' School, operated by CPA, and the RCAF manning depot. Here 3,000 airmen parade down Jasper Avenue, Edmonton's main thoroughfare, typically wide as in most Western cities. Population increase from 100,000 to more than 135,000 indicates sizes of boom.

Major General W. W. Foster, Canadian Commissioner on Northwest projects, and Brig. General Worsham, of the U.S. engineers form an important inter-nation liaison.

Seamen's Club Is Established By Navy League

Grate fires crackle at each end of a big lounge, and the flames catch the silver emblem worn by bearded men and boyish strippings, and flicker over faces of a dozen different nationalities.

It is The Navy League Seamen's Club at Halifax, operated by the Navy League of Canada as a home away from home for those unselfishly heroic men of the Allied Merchant Navies who are maintaining the life line of food, war materials and medical supplies.

The Navy League Merchant Seamen's Club, located conveniently near the Halifax dockyards, was built quickly and well in the war's early years, to fill a manifest want. Since its opening two years ago, it has been a godsend to the men who go down to the sea in merchant ships from the great East Coast Canadian Port of Halifax.

A visit to the club at any hour shows seamen relaxing in the lounge's massive red leather chairs, reading or yarning or dozing. In an adjacent writing room, others are scribbling up with their correspondence—on stationery supplied by the club—after getting their mail from the post-office desk. In another lounge, a radio provides background music for more readers and card players.

BIG AUDITORIUM

The 600-chair auditorium which is the scene of three free movie shows a week and a Sunday night concert is used at other times for a portable bowling alley. A bright cafeteria serves substantial, well-served meals with a "home" flavor and at low rates. A dry canteen in the lobby is the economical answer to between-meal snacks.

An equally important "department" in the basement is the storeroom where merchant seamen may replenish their wardrobes from clothing donated to the Navy League, and obtain the "woolies" needed to keep them warm out on the icy Atlantic. Also in the basement, and vital to the comfort of the club patrons too, is the laundry which washes the sheets and pillow-cases that are changed daily on every bed.

SPECIAL WARDS

These beds—500 in 40 rooms on the second floor, 132 in six basement rooms—are not only clean but comfortable, and the cost to the seamen, or in most cases to the steamship companies employing them, is moderate. There are special wards for convalescents and for the sick or injured, with nurses presiding over the "Sick Bay".

Survivors of torpedoed ships, and they have been many since the club's inception, are brought directly to The Navy League Seamen's Club—often requiring hospital attention—for the immediate care these unfortunate men require. They are fed, bathed, put to bed supplied with survivors kits and outfitted with clothes to replace what they have lost. No matter what the hour, the welcome and the attention await them—and the club counts it a proud privilege to look after these men.

Seek to Unite Political Action

Anxious to present a united front, efforts are being made by the Labor Progressive party to arrive at a basis of mutual co-operation with the C.C.F. in Alberta.

Announcement was made Saturday by James A. MacPherson, provincial leader of the Labor Progressive party, that a request had been made to the C.C.F. executive in the province to appoint a committee for the purpose of meeting a committee of Labor Progressive to seek unity of political action.

The Labor Progressive committee is composed of Mr. MacPherson Charles T. Roberts, and Robert S. Evans, recently nominated as the party's standard bearer in the Edmonton East riding in the Dominion field. Mr. MacPherson has been nominated to contest one of the multiple seats in Edmonton in the next provincial election.

Purse Is Snatched From City Woman

Victims of a dimout attack at 1:20 a.m. Saturday an Edmonton woman had her purse snatched from her by a man at 112 avenue and 95 street, city police reports revealed.

Lillian Perdue, 9019 105 street, reported to police she was walking with her sister, Dorothy, at the hour mentioned when a man came up from behind, grabbed Dorothy's purse, and fled.

C. Kereks of 11019 95 street, reported $18 stolen from a bureau drawer of his home Friday.

Police are investigating.

Former Bulletin Reporter Acts as Radio Announcer

LAC John T. (Jack) McCreath, of Edmonton acted as announcer on the "Wings Over Canada" radio broadcast over CHNS Halifax recently. Jack McCreath who wrote his own script and turned in a creditable performance was formerly a news reporter on The Edmonton Bulletin before enlisting in the R.C.A.F.

A member of the "Little Theatre" in Edmonton he was interested in dramatics and on a recent leave in this city remarked on the interest Americans have taken in dramatic activities, to the extent of co-producing plays with the local dramatic society.

He thinks that in spite of the war conditions, the Edmonton Dramatic Society seems to be carrying on splendidly in comparison with other societies across Canada.

Ready for Air Inspection of Great Northland Points

Willis, minister of highways, Manitoba; G. W. G. McConachie, general manager, CPA, Western Lines, who piloted the plane; J. D. Miller, deputy minister of highways, for Ontario; Hon. W. A. Fallow, Alberta minister of public works; A. W. Haddow, city engineer, Edmonton; H. R. MacKenzie, deputy minister of public works, Saskatchewan; Hon. George H. Doucett, Ontario minister of public works; C. A. MacVey, deputy minister of public works, New Brunswick; Hon. A. T. Procter, minister of public works, Saskatchewan; Ethel Halles, stewardess; Leo Mc-Kinnon, CPA; and Capt. Stan Seaton, first officer. At Fort St. John, the ministers were guests at a luncheon given by Canadian Pacific Air Lines and they returned to Edmonton by plane later in the afternoon.

Pathological Department Requirements Laid Before Royal Alexandra Gathering

Urgent need for expansion of staff and quarters for the pathological department in the Royal Alexandra hospital was brought before the hospital board at a meeting Friday, by Dr. Morton E. Hall, hospital pathologist. Dr. Hall, in a report of the work of the department, pointed out that the work had increased to such an extent that 77,000 different examinations were carried out in the laboratory in 1942. "At present there are eight technicians and one graduate pathologist on the staff," he said, "and there is enough work for many more."

Dr. Hall recommended that the hospital blood bank be moved to separate department, and should not come under the care of the pathology department. "There is danger of infection, and the responsibility is too great for one small department to handle," he said.

Appointment of department heads to supervise both a separate blood bank department and an intra-venus feeding department with staffs hired to carry out this work was suggested by Dr. Hall.

NURSES ASK INCREASE

A delegation of six representing the general duty nurses employed at the Royal Alexandra hospital appeared before the board to accept a wage increase proposal offered them by Dr. A. E. Anderson, hospital superintendent, but to recommend an amendment to the suggested scale.

The new wage schedule proposed by Dr. Anderson and accepted by the board showed a small increase of minimum wages for graduate nurses and a sliding scale which would grant increases at the end of six months' employment and again at the end of one year's service. Increases were formerly given only at the end of one year's service.

The delegation recommended that nurses having two years' experience at the hospital be given a minimum salary of $105 a month instead of the $96 per month which all nurses with one year's service or more would get under the proposed scheme.

The suggestion was referred to the finance committee to give a report of its findings at the next meeting of the board.

Hospital employees have been granted a cost-of-living bonus to become effective Dec. 1, the finance committee reported.

Dr. Anderson reported that a grant had been received from the Tegler Trust fund to be applied to hospital accounts of city residents who are unable to pay for hospitalization. The money will also be used to assist financially any deserving cases at the hospital.

TEMPORARY BURNERS

The property committee authorized Dr. Anderson to install temporary natural gas burners in the hospital should it prove necessary in view of the uncertain coal situation. So far the coal supply has been sufficient in the hospital.

Miss A. Swift has been appointed as an additional instructress at the school of nursing under the provisions of the Dominion grant to the Nurses Association to assist and increase the enrolment of nurses, it was reported by Miss Margaret S. Fraser, superintendent of nurses.

Alberta Hospital Association's annual convention will be held in Calgary Dec. 15 and 16 and two delegates from the Royal Alexandra will attend Dr. Anderson reported.

Senator May Ask Probe of Supplies Sent to MacArthur

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Senator Albert Chandler (D., Ky.) said yesterday he may ask the United States military committee to inquire about the amount of supplies being shipped to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's southwest Pacific forces.

"It was apparent at the time I was in that area that insufficient aid was being sent to Gen. MacArthur," said Chandler, one of the five senators who toured the war zones.

Col. Le Grand Eiller said on Wednesday that the area "has something less than five per cent of American military resources," not enough for a large scale offensive

Workshop Arranges Optional Parades

Members of No. 1 (R) Armored Divisional Ordnance Workshop at Connaught armery are now being given the option of attending regimental parades on Monday or Friday nights to enable men whose hours of civilian employment are irregular, to receive progressive training.

The same syllabus for basic and advanced members, will be carried out on the two nights, Captain Chas. E. Garnett, officer commanding the unit, states, thus limiting military training to one night each week. It will be necessary, however, for every man, except those with written leave, to attend one of these parades.

Voluntary trades training classes will continue on other nights, a driver-mechanic course, limited to men who have taken driver-maintenance, starting on Tuesday, Nov. 30, while oxy-acetylene welding classes will continue on Wednesday nights.

Spectacular Fire Razes Warehouse

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Spectacular flames followed by small explosons in turpentine and lac drums in a rambling wooden warehouse of Harrison & Crosfields (Canada) Limited, early last night spread to the plastic plant of Hobbs Glass Limited and a warehouse of the Sun Oil Company Limited and threatened for a time to spread to big gasoline and oil tanks of the Sun company as firemen responded to three alarms.

The heat was so great and the flames so great that firemen were kept at a distance for a time and when great embers showered threatenly near the Sun oil tanks police cleared crowds from the area. This resulted in some early confusion in reporting the exact location and extent of the fire.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started in the Harrison and Crosfield warehouse. It was under control in two hours, after having destroyed both the warehouse and plastic plant and damaged the Sun Company's warehouse.

Cabinet Ministers Visit Northland

Ministers of highways of most of Canada's provinces left Friday morning by Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane for Dawson Creek on an inspection tour of the Alaska Highway. They are the guests of the Alberta department of public works.

The party, accompanied by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, and Hon. Solon E. Low, minister of education and provincial treasurer, left the Edmonton airport at 10 a.m. On arrival at Dawson Creek the party will travel by motor car to Fort St. John, and at night they will be guests of honor at a banquet at Fort St. John, sponsored by the C.P.A.

Members of the party include Hon. A. T. Proctor, minister of highways for Saskatchewan, and H. R. MacKenzie, deputy minister; Hon. George H. Doucitt, minister of highways, Ontario, and J. D. Miller, deputy minister; Hon. E. F. Willis, minister of public works, Manitoba; C. A. McVeigh, chief bridge engineer, province of New Brunswick; Hon. H. Anscombe, minister of public works, British Columbia; J. D. McKenzie, minister of highways, Nova Scotia, and Hon. G. H. Barbour, minister of public works, Prince Edward Island.

The party will return to Edmonton Friday evening.

Students May Join Affiliated Unit

South Side high school students who want to join the Royal Canadian Army Cadets, now have the opportunity to do so at the Connaught armery, a cadet unit having been recently affiliated with the No. 1 (Res.) Armored Divisional Ordnance Workshop. Regular military training, including musketry, may reading, the use of Bren and anti-tank weapons, anti-gas measures and other military subjects are being taught by the instructional staff stationed at the armory.

Students from Strathcona, King Edward and Garneau schools are eligible to join this unit. Time and days for parades are being arranged so that there is no clash with the scholastic activities.

Vancouver Police Start to Enforce 9 o'Clock Curfew

VANCOUVER, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Chief of Police Donald McKay said Vancouver police began last night to enforce a by-law curfew law calling for all children 16 years or younger to be off the street by that time. The city curfew bylaw was passed in 1922 but was never fully enforced because of the difficulty of proving ages. This has been overcome through national registration and children will be asked for their cards if seen on the streets after the curfew hour at night.

Minister Comments By-Election Case

Commenting on an editorial published recently in the Edmonton Journal, charging the Alberta government with disregard for the law in not holding a by-election in Calgary to fill the seat made vacant through the death of the late Premier William Aberhart, Hon. Lucien Maynard, attorney general, said Saturday "I am very much surprised at the sudden concern the Journal has for the law. They didn't appear to be worried over the illegality of an order-in-council enabling municipal districts to invest surplus funds in Victory Bonds.

The minister was referring to Order-in-Council No. 781 of 1941, passed on June 4 of that year.

The order enabled the governing bodies of municipal districts and other public bodies to invest surplus funds in Victory Bonds.

The order was subject to ratification at the next session of the legislature. The ratification was given and such investments legalized at the session of the legislature in Feb. of 1942.

In the meantime the districts went ahead and purchased bonds with surplus funds despite the fact such action was technically illegal.

Former Resident Is Dead at Coast

Robert Ascroft, 64 years old, recently retired from service on the Canadian National Railways because of ill-health, died suddenly in Vancouver on Wednesday, it was learned here Saturday.

Born in Preston, England, the late Mr. Ascroft enlisted with the 2nd Battalion Loyal North Lancashire Regiment in Sept. 1914, getting his discharge in Feb. 1920.

He was awarded four medals for his services—the Belgian Croix de Guerre, Military Medal, and Victory and General Service rewards.

Coming to Edmonton, he was employed as a carman on the C.N.R., and served for several years on the executive of the Army and Navy Club. About six weeks ago, because of ill-health, he retired and went to Vancouver, where he lived with his daughter, Mrs. E. Hall.

The funeral will take place in Vancouver on Saturday, it was stated.

Sea Cadets Plan to Hold Church Parade

Members of the Edmonton Sea Cadets Corps will attend a church parade to First Baptist church on Sunday, Nov. 21.

Cadets are to fall in at 109 street and Jasper avenue at 10:30 a.m. Rig of the day is blues with jerseys.

Cadets who have not yet been issued with uniforms will not attend the parade.

Radio Changes To Come About Over Few Years

"The listening public should not expect too much too soon after the war in the way of changes in radio receiver design," was the warning issued by the Radio Manufacturers Association of Canada at a recent meeting.

When civilian production is resumed the first new radios will likely be quite similar to the home receivers last produced.

The radio industry today is totally absorbed in the war effort. All of its research and engineering talent is devoted to experimenting and perfecting communication systems and detecting devices for use by the armed forces.

The existing chassis designs of household receiving sets cannot be changed at present as they are frozen by the government. Not until all war requirements have been fully met by the radio industry will its engineers be in a position to apply wartime discoveries and advancements to radios for home consumption.

While as a result of research, accelerated by war, many new radio devices will eventually be produced, no big change in radio design for foreseen for some time. Before some of the new developments can be utilized in home radio sets, present broadcasting facilities will have to be greatly extended. Broadcasting techniques, too, will have to undergo changes. It is expected these advances will be made gradually and the public will realize them only over a period of years.

Mr. Sumner Welles, recently Under Secretary of State, will now write once each week on International Affairs which he knows as perhaps no other American of his time.

Mr. Welles will speak for himself —the man who has been termed "America's No. 1 diplomat" and who has held undisputed rank as State Department's career man.

Destiny marked him for a diplomat's life and he sensed it before he was out of Harvard. At first he was secretary of the Tokyo embassy . . . thence to Buenos Aires, where he laid the foundations of the Good Neighbor policy (he was chief of Latin-American affairs when still under 30). He has served both Republican and Democratic administrations . . . helped stabilize Cuba's affairs . . . managed Pan-American conferences . . . traveled much in Europe, whose languages he knows. No one was surprised when he was chosen for the highly confidential information-gathering mission to troubled Europe's capitals early in 1940. IN SETTING up a new scoring record of 25 points at Westglen on Friday night, Pvt. Paul Blawie of the Yanks bettered by three the mark established by Sgt. John Gullekson of U.S. Engineers in the opening game of the Men's Basketball League on Nov. 5.

Lt. Joseph Long, of the Yanks also rang up 22 last night and Warren Taulbee of U.S. Station Hospital bagged 21 on Nov. 9. Leonard Woodring and George Horowitz of the Quartermasters ali have 17s. Phil Sontag, Latter Day Saints and Wayne Adams both have made 16 and Frank Fergie's best for Varsity is 15.

Blawie staged a one-man blitz in the third quarter when he fired six field baskets and sank one free throw for a total of 13 points. He made eight points in the final chapter and two each in the first and second heats. Twelve of Blawie's 27 field tries brought dividends and he made one of three penalty shots.

"A" CAGERS SHOOT WELL

ALL of Lt. George Regitko's Yanks were on the beam last night as is shown by the fact they gathered in 35 baskets from 99 field shots for an accuracy percentage of 35.4. Lt. George Haas' Quartermasters also were shooting well, securing 19 out of 56 or 33.9 per cent.

In collecting his 17 points Artie Albert, the former Long Island University cager dropped in seven field goals out of 22 attempts and cashed in three of his four free tosses. George Horowitz had six for 14 and Ollie Farrari three for six.

Y.M.C.A. counted 19 out 65 shots at the hoop or 29.2 per cent and North West Division only realized on eight out of 65 or 12.2 per cent. Eight of Jim Fleming's 19 field shots found their mark and Alex Fallow made three in eight. Charlie Sanford collected four in 17.

HERE AND THERE . . .

GENERALLY looked upon as being the team to beat in the Coast Hockey League, Nanaimo Army has been taking it on the chin up to last night, when the first win in three starts was recorded at the expense of Vancouver St. Regis. Gnr. Mel Lunde and Spr. Elmer Kreller, two of the Edmontonians on the club accounted for two of the seven goals.

Cpl. George Agar, former Edmonton junior, picked up a point in the surprise victory of Winnipeg Army over the strong R.C.A.F. sextet on Friday night.

Capt. Frank Wrigglesworth returned to the basketball floor with Yanks last night. Frank played with U.S. Engineers in the local hoop league a year ago and looked after second base as well as the coaching job for the champion Yanks basketball club all summer.

Cpl. Torchy Peden reports No. 4 "M" Depot cage squad will probably not be so strong as last season, but will be able to take care of itself quite nicely in the Inter-Service Basketball League which opens on Wednesday next.

Referee: R. Leonard; scorer Mary Miller.

CANADIAN SPORTSHOTS

By CHARLIE EDWARDS

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Before the Broda case is tucked into the files of forgotten hockey history, a few unanswered points should be clarified. In the first place, the ill-advised Toronto-Montreal tussle for goalkeeping services of Turk Broda was not the primary cause of Ottawa's "Soldier First" order which led to withdrawal of several Army teams from senior hockey leagues. Newspaper criticism attending the Broda affair may have hastened official action but rising public opinion had already made inevitable the steps which now provide special leagues for athletes and send Army hockey players through regular training channels.

Some public elements were aroused even last winter but a year ago I wrote a column decrying the booing of former professional hockey stars with service teams and suggested public heckling was poor treatment for men who had joined their country's armed forces.

Letters from friends across Canada and comment from other columnists informed me I was on the side. My critics stated positively that many of these men were merely professionals in Army uniforms masquerading as servicemen and receiving important money for their pucks. My friendly critics claimed some athletes were using their hockey ability to avoid being sent to fighting fronts.

The only concrete step which may help the Rangers was the decision that, beginning Nov. 25 each club may have only 13 players, including the goal tender, in uniform for each game. This was done as a wartime measure, following reduction to 14 players in uniform last season, and may lead to the end of surplus players to New York.

Most of the clubs, fearful of further demands on their squads by the Canadian and United States Selective Services, refused to listen to the Rangers' plea to hide the defencemen. The Boston Bruins, however, made what Ranger manager Lester Patrick called a "three quarter promise" to sell their fifth player. Patrick expects to receive final word on this deal by Monday, presumably with Montreal both offering definite offers, depending upon the availability of certain players.

The rest of the Governors' time was spent discussing a proposal for a war benefit all-star game, a dispute between the Boston Bruins and the Montreal Canadiens about the sale of goalie Bert Gardiner, and the renewal of agreements by which amateur players may play as many as three pro games without losing their amateur standing, and the rules.

The principal rules changes clarify offside rulings at the new centre line, provide a double penalty for a player who commits a foul on the one play before the referee's whistle is blown and provide a match penalty for any player who deliberately drives another into the goal uprights so as to injure him.

The Governors decided that the proper procedure before deciding to hold a war benefit all-star would be to approach the armed services to learn if they would care to consider an invitation to play the game.

The Maple Leafs told the meeting that while they also need players they might be able to sell one defenceman if they obtain another player whom they hope to get. Montreal offered to sell a player the Canadiens think may be discharged soon from the Canadian army. No names were mentioned.

70th Running of Kentucky Derby Set For May 6th

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The 1944 Kentucky Derby, marking the 70th running of the historic race, will be on Saturday, May 6, almost a week later than this year.

Cal. Matt Winn, the 82-year-old guiding genius of the United States' No. 1 turf event, made the announcement Thursday at the meeting of the American Turf Association, which controls Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky. The date Winn said, will be subject to approval by the Kentucky State racing commission.

The race will again carry $75,000 to added value, with a gold cup going to the owner of the winning thoroughbred. This makes the richest turf event in the world, since the Santa Anita handicap has been cancelled for the duration.

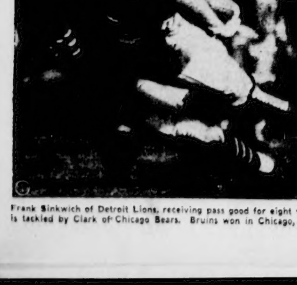

The winner of the 1944 Derby will come out of a pack of impressive thoroughbreds which raced as juveniles this season. Among the top ranking candidates are Pukka Gin, owned by Col. C. V. Whitney of New York, and Platter, owned by George D. Widener of Philadelphia. Others are By Jimminy, Director J. E. Royal Prince and Occupy.

Y Takes Over Second Place In 'B' Section Hoop League

With Jim Fleming scoring 17 points, Y.M.C.A. handed North West Division a 42-20 setback at Westglen Friday night to take over sole possession of second place in "B" Section of the Edmonton Men's Basketball League.

The Y team gained the lead in the first session and increased it in the other three frames until they more than doubled their opponent's total.

Alex Fallow also turned in a sparkling performance for the winners, counting eight, the same number as Charlie Sanford, who led the North West Division attack.

"Patty" Siskin, one of the main sparks of the N.W.D. team, although a little off on his shooting for part of the night, opened the scoring followed by a field goal by Sanford which gave the losers a 4-0 lead.

The Y. boys came back a few seconds afterwards, however, and tied it up at 4-4 with Fleming and Fallow getting baskets. A long perload passed before further counting and then Fleming dropped in two points to make it 6-4 for Y. at quarter-time.

The winners completely dominated the scoring in the second canto, holding N.W.D. scoreless while they added seven to their first quarter count of six.

There was no scoring until nearly mid-way through the session when Gray chalked up a basket. This was followed by McCoy getting two in a row and Fleming also adding two points.

Bob Ferry capitalized on a free shot for the losers to open the third quarter, but Y.M.C.A. kept right on going and outscored N.W.D. by six points with Fleming, Fallow and Doug Leitch doing the counting.

Ferry with five, Tommy Cook with three and Paul O'Dell with one accounted for the American team's nine in the frame, which made the score board read 28-13 at the end of the third 10 minute session.

The Y. club continued to set the pace in the final canto although Lewis Sparks' squad made only two less attempts on the basket. Fleming and Jim Cowley led the way in this quarter as the winners added 14 to North West Division's eight.

Joseph DiMaggio "Comes to Terms"

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Joseph DiMaggio, erstwhile high-salaried outfielder for the New York Yankees baseball team but now drawing a sergeant's wages in the army air forces, agreed Thursday to pay his estranged wife, the former Dorothy Arnold, $500 a month plus $1,000 cash pending trial of her suit for divorce.

DiMaggio was not in court, but Mrs. DiMaggio's attorney, Stanley A. Phipps, filed a stipulation signed by the former baseball slugger agreeing to the terms.

Mrs. DiMaggio has demanded $650 a month for her support and that of their 2-year-old son.

"Upset Kid" Sizzles for Entire Route

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Bouncing Beau Jack, the "upset kid" of the ring who usually runs out of gas inside of 10 rounds, kept roaring along for 15 sizzling sessions Friday night to outpoint Bob Montgomery and win back the New York version of the lightweight championship before a near capacity crowd in Madison Square Garden. Jack weighed 132¾, Montgomery 133¾.

Victim, himself, of an upset against a 9-to-1 shot (Bobby Ruffin) only six weeks ago, the Jumping Jack jumped all round the premises last night to score one of the major surprises of the season against the title holder from Philadelphia, who was a 1-to-4 favorite at post time.

He won by a close—but a clear margin, after weathering Beau's closing rush in the 14th and 15th rounds during which the defending champion apparently realizing his title was slipping, threw everything into a desperate rally. Through these last two heats, the Beau was a sadly battered and weary warrior, holding on at times and falling into the ropes on other occasions.

But at the end, he was in front, and the verdict drew a tremendous roar from the crowd of 17,866 who contributed to a gross gate of $96,-873.04 to make this the biggest financial success of the season. On the Associated Press score card, the Beau—his real name is Sidney Walker—had seven rounds, with six going to Montgomery and two even.

Chalking up his upset after 15 of the fiercest rounds seen in the Garden in years—during which both battlers belted away from bell to bell in every heat—the little shoe-shine boy from Georgia became the second man in ring history to win back the 135-pound crown after once losing it. The only previous thumper to turn the trick was Lou Ambers, who regained it from Henry Armstrong back in 39 after losing it to Hurricane Hank a year earlier.

This time, it took Jack less than half a year to climb into the throne again, after Bobcat Bob knocked him off last May. On that occasion, Montgomery was a 3-to-1 underdog and won't apply. Last night, although Montgomery still packed the heavier artillery, the Jumping Jack was a lot more elusive target, machine to well oiled. And where Bob rated himself along, banging away with a body attack through the early going and measuring his rapid-running rival for right hand shots, the Beau threw them by the hundreds, and scored with plenty.

Montgomery, who had the Jumping Jack on the deck in their last shindig, came close to it two or three times and in the 14th and 15th when he had Jack backed against the ropes, and obviously hurt; in the 15th when a long right staggered the smaller of the two negroes and sent him reeling across the ring and in the 14th and 15th when he poured his Sunday shots home.

Recovered from an ailing knee which had a lot to do with his defeat by Ruffin in early October, Jack was sterling a speedy look. Just when he might meet Sammy Angott, the National Boxing Association champion, to settle the dispute is problematical.

Technical Kayo In Second Round

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Chalky Wright, former featherweight champion, won a technical knockout over Al Brasmer of Chicago, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night before an estimated 5,000 persons.

With four seconds to go in the first sinana, the former champion let loose a vicious left hook and right to the chin which sent Reasoner to the canvas. The bell saved the Chicago fighter but he was unable to answer the second round call and Wright's arm was raised in victory.

Wright weighed 131¾ and Reasoner 133½.

Winnipeg Soldiers Make Hockey Debut 4-3 Success

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Winnipeg Army made its debut in the Winnipeg Service Senior Hockey League Friday night by defeating Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, defending Manitoba champions, 4-3, in overtime.

Pte. Bob Kirkpatrick, member of New York Rangers' National League team, scored the payoff goal at 2:16 in the extra session, picking up a pass from Cpl. Geo. Agar.

The teams failed to score in the opening session. Then the Airmen on goals by Sgt. Rene Trudel and ACI Paul Platz, moved into a 2-1 lead. Pte. Johnny Horeck notched the Army's first counter, with Pte. Sammy Fazio and Kirkpatrick drawing assists.

Fabro deadlocked the count 2-2 early in the third period before Trudel got his second goal and Pte. Paul Lavallee scored unassisted for the Army.

Blawie Scores 25 Points

Yanks Gain 77-41 Win Over Quartermaster Cagers

U.S. Army Yanks strengthened their grip on second place in "A" section of the Edmonton Men's Basketball League Friday night when they overcame the hard fighting Quartermasters 77-41 in the feature attraction out at the Westglen high school gym.

Paul Blawie made his way through for a total of 25, the most scored by any player in the circuit this season and Lt. Joe Long dropped in 22 points to lead the fast stepping Yanks to their third victory in four starts.

The Quartermasters, who are now winless in two attempts remained in the cellar with Latter Day Saints although the untiring efforts of Artie Albert and George Horowitz kept the club within striking distance until the last quarter when the Yanks ran away with Lt. Haas' team. Albert, a fast little player from New Jersey came through with 17 points and Horowitz's attempt netted him an even dozen.

Cpl. Wayne Adams, another starring forward with the Yanks set up many plays for his club and accounted for 16 of the 77.

LONG OPENS COUNTING

Vernon Stewart with four, WO. M. M. Milner, Frank Wrigglesworth and Wask with three each and Cpl. J. P. Guastella with one were the other scorers for the winners while Ollie Farrari with six, Bert Culver with four and Harry Barr with two, accounted for the remainder of Quartermasters' 41.

LONG COPENS COUNTING

Vernon Stewart with four, WO. M. M. Milner, Frank Wrigglesworth and Wask with three each and Cpl. J. P. Guastella with one were the other scorers for the winners while Ollie Farrari with six, Bert Culver with four and Harry Barr with two, accounted for the remainder of Quartermasters' 41.

Long scored the first basket after a few seconds of play, but this margin was quickly overcome and the losers, with Horowitz and Albert getting the bulk of the points, outpaced the Yanks in the first quarter and for a portion of the canto the victors looked just a wee bit bewildered.

Horowitz matched Long's opening marker, Stewart put the Army ahead 4-2, but Horowitz tied it up again and after the Yanks had taken time out, Farrari picked up a rebound for an easy two points, Albert tallied two field goals in succession and Horowitz made with another long shot and the score board read 12-4 for the U.S. Quartermasters, who were really out to win.

Quartermasters were, however, unable to maintain this margin throughout the opening frame for Adams dropped the ball through the hoop to bring his squad's count to six. Losers calling time out, Blawie tossed in another basket to make the quarter-time score 12-8.

YANKS TIE SCORE

Horowitz and Albert made it 15-8 before the Yanks were able to count in the second session, but the Army team began to get organized and finally, with baskets by Blawie, Long and Adams, they tied it up with the score board saying 21-21. Albert, however, held down top spot at least even terms with the winners and at half time were out in front by two points, 27-25.

The next long, fast-paced, after the second half opened that the powerful Yanks overcame the lead and went on to increase the margin and gain victory. Wrigglesworth made it 27-27 and Blawie 29-27 to put the Army out in front for the first time since the opening minutes.

Albert capitalized on a field shot and a free throw to make the count 31-29 for Quartermasters, but Blawie came through with three baskets in a row and set the stage for the winners as they were never headed after that.

SMART TEAMWORK

Long and Blawie worked a few of the passing plays after the Yanks went ahead and enabled Lt. George Regitko's club to enjoy a 14 point lead at the five-quarter mark, the count being 50-36.

The last 10 minute session was nearly "all Yanks", Quartermasters found they were on the short end of the final score, 77-41.

Five points, all tallied by Albert, was the most the losers were able to get in that frame. Blawie, Stewart, Guastella, Adams, Long, Wask and Wrigglesworth came through with a total of 27, eight of which were counted by Blawie.

Long scored six in the last quarter and had it not been that he was replaced with only a few minutes to go he might have equalled Blawie's effort and the Yanks' total might have been even greater.

Today's Sport Parade

By Jack Cuddy

Copyright, 1943, by British United Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—As racing gallops down the stretch of its richest year, ancient Col. Matt Winn again sings "My Old Kentucky Home"—prelude to undiminished track activities in 1944.

Though silver-thatched Winn is 82, he is the unchallenged bard of the turf world. His lusty voice was credited with "saving" thoroughbred competition in 1943 by singing his Kentucky refrain just when operators and "chalk eaters" were wondering if the war would close-hobble the horses.

Now the chanter of Churchill Downs lifts his voice again, announcing that the 70th running of the Kentucky Derby—America's most colorful sports classic—will be staged at Louisville May 6.

The Methuselah of the mutuels indicated, without definitely saying so, inferred that next year's whirl of the three-year-olds would be witnessed only by residents of the Louisville area—that it would be a "trolley car affair" like the 1943 event—because of transportation restrictions.

EQUINE EXTRAVAGANZA

THE Derby was staged on May 1, this year; and an estimated crowd of 60,000 saw Count Fleet win the wreath of roses. Louisville smacked of Reno that day. Out-of-town newspaper men were surprised to learn that many people they saw at Churchill Downs were residents of Louisville—people they would have sworn had homes in other sections. Most of the writers figured that their own vision was askew because of the juleps.

But whether the next derby is staged on a trolley car or even a wheel-barrow basis, it promises to be the super-dooper- of classics. Except for the apparently unimportant transportation angle, conditions seem to be perfect for Colonel Matt's equine extravaganza.

In the first place, residents of the surprisingly large Louisville area have more money to bet than ever before, if the mutuel totals from other U.S. tracks serve as indicators.

Secondly, the scrambled ranks of current two-yearolds—the almost unprecedented lack of formidable standouts—indicate that a flock of owners will be grooming their mounts for a shot at the winner's hunk of that $75,000 purse, and the prestige that goes with it. One of the largest fields in derby history is indicated.

NOTHING OUTSTANDING

COMPETITION among two-year-olds in 1943 has been so topsy-turvy that the question might now is not: "Who will win the Derby?" but instead, "Who is the two-year-old champion?" or "Who will be the winter book favorite?"

Colts, geldings and fillies have been beating one another during the current campaign in such disconcerting fashion that it is difficult even to make a top bracket among the juvenile gee-gees. But, maybe, by the time they are three-year-olds one or two will stand out because of the co-ordination of speed and stamina needed for the mile and one-quarter test.

Nominations close in February. The nominees may include Occupy, Pukka Gin, Platter, Boojiana, Pensive, Lucky Draw, Restriction, Depth Charge, Rodney Stone, Freeze Out, All Bright, Sit Up, and Cocopet.

Expect Hamilton Will Eliminate Lachine Gridders

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Eastern Canada Football final today in Varsity Stadium here represents the anomaly of the betting favorites facing the struggle with decided pessimism while the reports from the camp of the underdogs have dripped with optimism.

The favorites are Hamilton's flying Wildcats, champions of the Ontario Rugby Football Union and five to one choice to bowl over the Lachine R.C.A.F., Quebec's Rugby Football Union titleholders.

However, coach Brian Timmis, who has been the chief public spokesman for the Wildcats has been emphasizing all week that Lachine has a strong club which might well upset his team.

Main hope of the Lachine team rests in Col. Johnny Fripp, passing and plunging quarterback, and Cpl. Joey Richman, who played with the Toronto R.C.A.F. Hurricanes last year when they won the Dominion title.

Hamilton's biggest threat is Joe Krol, O.R.F.U. all-star half, who can kick, run and pass with ease and dispatch.

Hospital facilities for the treatment of tuberculosis represent an investment of more than $35,000,000, and their annual maintenance cost is more than $8,000,000.

Nanaimo Army Finally Clicks In Coast Loop

NANAIMO, B.C., Nov. 20.—(CP)—A Nanaimo star-studded Army team found their winning stride on last Friday night and, whipping in five goals in the second period, whipped Vancouver St. Regis, 7-3 for their first win in three starts in the Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League.

After a scoreless opening period, Gnr. Sammy Kennedy led an Army scoring parade in the second which left the Commanders with a 5-1 advantage going into the third where they easily matched St. Regis' two goals.

Kennedy got three of the Army goals with Gnr. Mel Lunde, Spr. Elmer Kreller, Pte. Joffre Desilets and Pte. Jimmy McIndoe notching the others. St. Regis' new smart Chinese lineman, Kwong, got two goals and Bill Hutton the other.

Bombers Expect to Workout At Least Once at Toronto

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Flt. Lt. Bill Cockburn, manager of Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers, announced last night the team would leave for Toronto Nov. 24 to meet either Hamilton Wildcats or Lachine R.C.A.F. in the Dominion rugby football final Nov. 27 at Varsity Stadium.

"By leaving next Wednesday he will have an opportunity of holding at least one workout before the all-important contest," the Bomber manager said in making the announcement. Reports had circulated that the team would not leave Winnipeg until Nov. 25, arriving in Toronto the day of the game.

Meanwhile the Bombers, who won the right to play in the East-West classic by winning the Western Canada championship, continued to drill for the clash, minus two of their star performers, LAC Johnny Lake and LAC. Nate Shore.

Lake, a 250-pound backfielder, is still nursing shoulder and leg injuries which kept him on the sidelines during the western title series with Regina All-Services, Roughriders, while Shore, a craft snap, received a bad shoulder in the last playoff game with Regina.

Shore is expected to be ready to face the eastern champions next week, but according to Reg. Threlfall, Bomber coach, "We're not counting on Lake."

Threlfall said last night his starting backfield looked like LAC Brian Quinn, LAC Dan Caparu, Ches McCance, and AC2 Garnet Smith as halfbacks and Sgt. Dave Greenberg as quarterback.

Quinn has been a sensation in practices this week. He has been kicking the ball 45 to 60 yards and has developed into an accomplished passer.

Another player who has been a standout in practice is Smith. He has been on the receiving end of most of Quinn's tossing and proved himself a capable catcher.

Coach Threlfall said he had no grand illusion about the championship game. "We will just do the best with what we've got and hope for the best."

Cliff Roseborough, who handled all the games in the Western Armed Services Rugby League this season, has been recommended by the Bombers as western official in the national final.

The recommendation has been delivered to N. J. (Piffles) Taylor of Regina, president of the Western Inter-Provincial Rugby Union, and he has been instructed to inform the Canadian Rugby Union.

Navy Juniors Win at Regina

REGINA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Regina Navy stepped into the lead in the Southern Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League last night when they took a 5-3 win from Wilcox Notre Dame. It was Navy's second win.

Clayton White for Navy and Nestor Lubech for Notre Dame each picked off two goals in the first period. The second stanza went scoreless. Navy went to town in the third when Larry Hickey added two and Les Barrett another. Chuck McCullough got Notre Dame's third goal.

Now Seven Clubs In Girls' League

With the entry last evening of the Yankee Rebs, mostly Edmonton visitors for the winter, and the YW deciding to floor two teams to be called the Aces and the Bees, seven teams now constitute the Girls' Basketball League.

Officers elected Friday evening were N. H. Stitt, of Spruce Grove, president; Miss Kay Heim, vice-president and Mary Millar will act as official scorer as well as secretary-treasurer.

A schedule will start on next Friday with Spruce Grove meeting the Y Aces in the second game and the Bees playing Aircraft Repair in the 8 o'clock opener. Bissell will play Starlets at the McDougall school on Monday, Nov. 29. The visiting Reds will start in the schedule on the following Friday at the Y. W. gymnasium.

New Schedule Quebec Hockey

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—(CP)—The Quebec Senior Hockey League adopted their third schedule since the beginning of a shaky season at a meeting here last night. The wilidrawal of Montreal Army and Cornwall Flyers through lack of players resulted in the cancellation of the two previous date lists.

The season will open in Ottawa Nov. 26 when Montreal air force meet Commandos. Montreal Royals open the Quebec season when they face Aces, Nov. 21. The two Montreal clubs meet Nov. 24 as the league gets under way in Montreal. All previous games played this season have been deleted from the standings.

Bissell Trims Spruce Grove in Girls' Basketball

Taking a four point lead in the initial quarter and increasing the margin two more in the final period, Bissell won 26-20 from Spruce Grove in last night's girls' basketball game at the YMCA. gym.

Helen Callahan of the Grove quintette and Dot Myers of Bissell tied for top score with 10 points each. Rollande Brault, Mary Pricker, Bella Riddle and Gwen Riddle all made four each.

Bissell secured a 12-8 advantage in the first stanza, but Spruce Grove held the winners to a 2-2 count in the second and the teams tied at 6-6 in the third quarter. Bissell took the final canto 6-4.

Lineups:

Bissell: Jean Chandler 2; Dorothy Chandler; Laura LaRose 2; Jean McDonald; Edith Skitch 2; Bea Dean; Dot Myers 10; Bella Riddle 4; Gwen Riddle 4; Dot Quilley 2. Total 26.

Boys' Club Raises $25 During Supper

HARDISTY—Twenty dollars was raised by the younger members of the United Church at a bean supper held Wednesday.

Cigarettes were sent to all local boys overseas this week, by the Boys' Comfort club and will be sent every month during the winter.

A shower in honor of Miss Edith Miller was held by the Rosyth community on the eve of her wedding which took place in Edmonton.

Hardisty United Church Sunday School sponsored a Sunday school Institute in the church Wednesday, with the Rev. Gray Rivers secretary of boys' work in Alberta, as guest speaker. Delegates from Daysland, Sitcoe and Sedgewick attended.

Mrs. A. Rand has returned after visiting her mother Mrs. B. Brown, Moose Jaw.

Old timer of the Hardisty district, W. C. Harris, died in Edmonton Sunday. He was 63 years. He first came to Canada from the United States in 1900 and settled on a homestead 12 miles south of Hardisty in 1914.

He is survived by seven sons, three daughters, and seven grandchildren. The funeral service was held in Battle Bend school with the Rev. E. J. Brown officiating. Burial was in the Battle Bend cemetery.

With Those In Uniform

FORT SASKATCHEWAN — PO F. A. Therrault, R.C.A.F., brother of Mrs. Cecil Shaw, left here recently for an eastern port . . . PO E. Bruce Graham, R.C.A.F. overseas, has been promoted to flying officer recently.

RED DEER—Members of the Red Deer detachment of the Calgary Tank Corps were hosts at a dinner in honor of Lt.-Col. W. K. Jull, M.C., of Calgary, commanding officer of the Calgary Regiment (Tank) and a number of his officers, 2/Lt. M. M. Cunningham, officer commanding the Red Deer unit, was chairman and Lt.-Col. Jull and some of the other guests spoke, expressing appreciation for the work of the local men. After the dinner the visitors were guests at a dance in the Armoury. With Col. Jull were Capt. W. Neeland, adjutant, and Capt. S. R. Farquharson, company commander, both of Calgary; 2/Lt. Bruce Downey, Carstairs; C.S.M. S. W. Miller, Olds, and Lt. R. F. Anderson, Bowden.

RED DEER.—Capt. R. S. Gillespie, M.C., city commissioner of Red Deer, has been promoted to the rank of major and named to command the 2nd 78th (R) Field Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, at Red Deer. He will succeed Lt. W. P. Gordon, former officer commanding, who some time ago moved to Edmonton. Lt. R. W. E. Tetley has been acting officer commanding since that time. Major Gillespie is a graduate of the University of Toronto. He served in the First Great War from 1915 to 1919 with the 2nd Division Cyclist Company and the Canadian Field Artillery, and was awarded the Military Cross in August, 1918. Major Gillespie was commanding officer of the 78th Battery in 1926 and 1927.

Lt. J. B. Roy, C.A.C., is home from the East on furlough visiting his wife and son and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Roy. He has recently returned from Fort Knox, Kentucky, where he successfully completed a course at the United States Armored Force School.

Two Red Deer boys in the R.C.A.F. have been given their commissions as pilot officers according to word received by their parents. Sgt.-Pilot David McCullough, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. L. McCullough, who was recently given his commission and it was announced on Tuesday of this week that A. W. Swainson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Swain Swainson, of Burnt Lake, had been given his. PO. Swainson has been in the R.C.A.F. for the past two years and has been overseas for a year.

Word was received by Mrs. D. M. Wright, Red Deer, this week from her sister, Mrs. John A. Smith, of Winnipeg, to the effect that Mrs. Smith's youngest son, Cecil, had been killed in action. He was 25 years old and was born at Red Deer. He enlisted in the Princess Pats at Winnipeg when war broke out and went overseas with the 1st Canadian Division. Two brothers are in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Teachers Elect Officers for Year

VERMILION. — Eighty-eight members of the Vermilion Local of the Alberta Teachers' Association attended the convention at Lloydminster Thursday and Friday last week.

J. A. Smith, Kitscoty, president of the local, presided. The invocation was given by the Rev. C. E. Rogers and Dr. G. L. Cook, mayor of Lloydminster, welcomed teachers. In his address Dr. Cook stressed the need for greater attention to the health of students and urged that more use be made of opportunity for vaccination. He assured teachers that he, and his fellow physicians were only too glad to give all assistance they could to deal with health problems.

H. L. Bussard, principal of Vermilion high school presided over the discussion group dealing with high school problems.

Elementary and intermediate teachers met in four discussion groups, elementary, under leadership of Miss I. Henderson, Marwayne, and Miss N. Redmond, Islay, intermediate under Mrs. O'Brien, Vermilion, and M. Moncrieff, Paradise Valley.

C. M. Laverty, superintendent of Vermilion school division addressed the convention Thursday afternoon stressing sincerity as the keynote of a teachers' work. He maintained that it would be of little use for a teacher to expound correct health practices in a classroom if he was overlooking unhygienic features in the classroom environment.

Thursday evening the teachers and their guests attended a banquet served by the women of the Anglican church.

F. Page, instructor at the correspondence school of Alberta department of education was principal speaker at the banquet.

Re-elected by acclamation for the following year were: President, J. A. Smith, vice-president, C. A. Richardson; secretary-treasurer, A. Asberg.

Hon. Alfred Hooke, provincial secretary, was guest speaker at the final session. He urged teachers to acquaint themselves thoroughly with present social conditions, and the probable course of events in the post war world in order that they may better look after not only the educational welfare of their students but the economic and personal welfare as well.

At the conclusion of Mr. Hooke's address the gathering observed one minute of silence in memory of the late Premier William Aberhart.

COLINTON—Funeral services for Patrick Huberdeau, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Huberdeau, were held in Colinton Roman Catholic Church Thursday. He died in an Edmonton hospital Sunday. His father is the local station agent. Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, and three sisters.

ATHABASCA—Miss Waitti was elected president of the local Alberta Teachers' Association at a recent meeting. Other officers elected were: Mrs. A. Donahue, Vice-president: Miss I. E. Buehler, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Laura Scott correspondent. . . . Guy Martin, local farmer is a patient in the Athabasca hospital suffering from injuries received when he was dragged some distance over the ground when he slipped off a piece of farm machinery.

BOWDEN—Mrs. Rosina Dawson of Calgary, vice-president of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta, was guest of honor at the annual meeting of District No. 10 lodge, held in the I.O.O.F. hall Tuesday Nov. 16. Mrs. Helen Berggren presided at the meeting. Twenty-two members of the Helping Hand club No. 74 of Bowden, and nine members of Justice Rebekah Lodge No. 62 at Crossfield were present and assisted with the program. . . . A funeral service for Frederick Lingle, Sr. of Garrington district, old timer of Bowden, was held Thursday afternoon at Bowden United Church. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

ANDREW — Nick Lastiwka won the grand prize at the bazaar held here recently. Other winners were second prize William Tkatchuk and third, Walter Oystrek. Proceeds will be used for the completion of the Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Church. . . . The egg grading station which was under the management of Nick Philipchuk has been transferred to the Northern Alberta Dairy Pool. . . . Andrew's Royal Canadian Army Cadets held their first full dress parade this week under the command of G. Topil-sky.

VERMILION—Threshing operations got under way again after several weeks delay. All reports indicate that the grain is "tough". While delivering livestock at the shipping yards Wednesday George Webb's truck caught fire and was badly damaged. The fire was quickly extinguished but one of the animals had to be destroyed.

RED DEER—Red Deer Rotarians heard a talk on the Alaska Highway at their weekly luncheon at the Buffalo Hotel when the Rev. Donald Amos, who has charge of the interchurch work along the highway, was guest speaker. Luncheon guests included Bruce McIntosh, Calgary; J. Milling, Toronto, and Alderman J. V. Dettinson, Red Deer. . . . Mr. Amos was here over the week-end and preached at the anniversary services at Leonard Gaetz Memorial United Church.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN — A physical training class has been started under the leadership of Mrs. F. A. Routledge with Mrs. E. Brabbins as pianist. . . . The Women's Institute raised $50 at the annual army dance last Friday. . . . Mrs. G. H. Turner is spending a few days in Calgary.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE — Much later than usual, the ferry on the North Saskatchewan river, is still operating, though the water is very low, and the trip takes three times as long as it did in the summer. A private ferry at Phoenix, 30 miles west, owned and operated by Edwards' sawmill, had to be taken out Monday as the water there is too low. Supplies for the mill across the river are being freighted over on a caterpillar that fords the river without any trouble. All lumber hauling has stopped until the river freezes, as loaded trucks cannot ford. Indians are fording with their teams and wagons wherever they want to go, many are using the old ford just below the old trading post, that was used by the Hudson's Bay traders 200 hundred years ago.

Tom Bart of the Dovercourt district heard his cattle stamping around in the pasture one day this week and went out, to see a cougar chasing the cows. He rushed back for his gun and a saddle horse and chased the cougar five miles, without being able to get a shot at him. None of the cattle was harmed, but other neighbors report the loss of calves, which they blame on the cougars.

Rehabilitation Plans Studied For Veterans

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Plans for welcoming home men and women now serving overseas and assisting their return to the social and recreational life of their communities were discussed at a recent conference of chairmen of rehabilitation committees from more than 30 Canadian centres, Walter S. Woods, associate deputy pensions minister, announced yesterday.

The conference was held at the Seigniory Club, Que. Mr. Woods said it drafted objectives and proposed activities for committees through the Dominion in caring for those leaving the services.

FULLY INFORMED

The chairmen decided members of committees should be fully informed of the government's rehabilitation program and make sure it is adequate to fit the needs of the community.

Other principles and objectives are:

To promote employment preference for returned men;

To take a special interest in promoting wide acceptance of the vocational training courses and university education provisions for veterans;

To study and develop employment opportunities for the physically handicapped;

To supplement the pensions department services in legal, social and other difficulties which the returned men or women may experience, and to co-operate with other organizations for this purpose;

AID BEADJUSTMENT

To interest themselves in the reception of returned personnel and if necessary to assist in adjusting their return to the social and recreational life of the community.

Pensions Minister Mackenzie, who addressed the conference, said the co-operation of citizens' rehabilitation committees in every centre is essential to successful functioning of government measures for the re-establishment of veterans.

U.S. Girl Quits State Department For Grandeur of Canada's North

Slender, graceful Maxine Sitton, formerly of Monticello, Utah, and currently secretary to Northwest Service Command public relations office of the U.S. Army in Edmonton, should be able to write a good "behind the scenes" best seller after the war.

For Miss Sitton has in the short space of three years performed secretarial duties with three highly important departments of the United States government.

First she worked for the United States agricultural department, now under the command of Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard. This was in her home town of Monticello and she was secretary in the office of farm security administration.

OBTAINS TRANSFER

So she secured a transfer, packed her bag, and was off to Washington, just like that.

In Washington she went to the state department, ably managed by white-haired, dignified Cordell Hull. And she was performing secretarial duties there when the Jap bombs made a raging inferno of Pearl Harbor, plunging the United States officially into the Second World War.

After eight months in the state department Miss Sitton decided she would get even closer to the centre of action. So she applied for and received a transfer to the war department, under the direction of Secretary Stimson.

And it was a motion picture, filmed at Banff and Lake Louise, that really sold Maxine on the idea of a transfer to Mr. Stimson's grimly busy department. The picture was "When it's Springtime in the Rockies," and when Miss Sitton glimpsed the screened grandeur of the Canadian northwest she just had to see it.

HIGHWAY BUILDING

Construction of the Alaska Highway was in full swing, so arranging a transfer was not difficult. Miss Sitton arrived in Edmonton last spring and was soon at work in the office of Capt. Freeman C. Bishop, public relations officer for the Northwest Service Command, of the United States Army.

When with the state department Miss Sitton was engaged in work of a highly fascinating character.

For a long time she dealt with repatriation of civilians and military personnel held prisoner by the Japanese.

Her duties brought her into close contact with negotiations being carried on through neutral governments for the exchange of prisoners held in Japan. This is done in a special division of the state department.

MAXINE SITTON

Speaking of her work in that respect Miss Sitton said:

"I recently finished reading Max Hill's book, "Exchange Ship," concerning the first successful exchange that brought allied men, women and children home from Japan aboard the Gripsholm. I had quite a thrill, because I immediately recognized many of the names of those over whom our department had carried out negotiations."

ANOTHER EXPERIENCE

Another unforgetable experience while with the state department was the sight of the Japanese burning documents in the Japanese embassy grounds the Sunday of Pearl Harbor.

"It was a strange and somewhat weird experience," Miss Sitton said.

"The embassy was surrounded by a fence and guarded by soldiers and police. Thousands of people crowded close to the fence and watched the documents go up in smoke in absolute silence. Yet the silence was charged with a great tension. The White House was blacked out."

Although she cannot recall seeing Cordell Hull at her particular office, Miss Sitton did see former under secretary of state Sumner Welles, who soon is to write a series of articles for The Bulletin.

Miss Sitton was on the original staff of the Stage Door Canteen, made up of girls who volunteered to entertain servicemen at clubs one or more nights each week. She was a junior hostess.

CAREFULLY SELECTED

Selection of hostesses was a most careful process, she related.

"We even had to be finger printed."

Now Miss Sitton is enjoying being on the inside of activities in the strategic northwest area of the continent and is becoming very fond of Canada.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel W. Sitton of Monticello, she is a graduate of Western State College at Gunnison, Colo.

What will be the next big department?

Santa Claus Is Welcomed by Happy Children

AROUND the TOWN

The Edmonton Real Estate Association is holding its regular luncheon meeting at the Royal George hotel next Wednesday noon when Peter Rule, Sr., will speak on the "Post-War Home."

Dr. Charles Camsell, deputy minister of mines and resources, will speak at a joint meeting of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and the Chamber of Mines to be held at the Macdonald hotel Tuesday at 12:30. He will speak on national defence and post-war conditions.

No. 12 Squadron, Air Cadets of Canada, will parade as follows: Sunday 14:00 hours, drill hall, No. 4 I.T.S., N.C.O. drill class, Monday and Wednesday, 19:30 hours, drill hall, No. 4 I.T.S., Squadrons 1, 2 and Band.

Children streamed into the immunization clinic at the Civic block Saturday morning to maintain the excellent response given here throughout immunization week. On Friday there were 119 new treatments given, and 37 repeat treatments. The total immunizations for the five days was 531, of which 338 were new cases. The average daily number of immunizations was 106.

The appointment of Nursing Sister Selma M. T. Hall, of Kingman, to the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps in the rank of second lieutenant has been announced by officials in Military District 13. Nursing Sister Hall attended Kingman Girls' High school and graduated as a registered nurse from the Royal Alexandra hospital, Edmonton. She enlisted for service with the South Africa Military Nursing Service in September 1941, returning to Canada in August 1943. Nursing Sister Hall is now attached to the Edmonton military hospital.

The University observatory will be open to the public Saturday at 10 p.m. Objects to be shown are Mars and Saturn.

In order to give every assistance possible, the Red Cross Society would like relatives of men or women in the services who have been posted as wounded, missing or prisoners of war, to get in touch with local headquarters at 606 Tegler Building, or by phoning 26402. The Edmonton branch also wishes it to be known that its services are available to relatives of prisoners of war who wish to have their letters typewritten.

Regular monthly meeting of Westglen Home and School Association will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 22 at 8 p.m. in the Westmount Community Hall. There will be an address by L. Berchuson, assistant director, department of education, correspondence branch, on community schools, and Ralph Young of the Y.M.C.A. will be present in connection with opening a branch of the Y.M.C.A. in the west end under the supervision of the parents and teachers.

Headed by C. D. Jacox, vice-president, nine members of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will go to Vancouver Nov. 29 to attend the organization meeting of an ABC committee to establish better trade relations between western provinces, it was announced Saturday by Reg. T. Rose, executive-secretary of the chamber.

The delegates named at a special meeting were: M. Marshall, R. W. MacKenzie, W. W. McBain, F. G. Winspear, A. McCulloch, Grant McConachie, H. R. Milner, K.C., and Mr. Rose.

Delegates from Grande Prairie, Dawson Creek and Calgary also will attend the meeting.

Possibility of establishing an Alberta-British Columbia committee composed of chamber and board of trade delegates was proposed by S. S. McKeen, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, several months ago while in Edmonton on a visit to the Alaska Highway and Northern Alberta.

Hundreds of Excited Children Give Warm Welcome to Santa Claus

Visits City

Robert Sommerville, Ottawa, general manager of the Canadian National Hotels, who arrived in Edmonton Friday night in the course of an inspection tour of western Canada. He will leave Saturday night for eastern Canada.

Hundreds of excited children packed the Rialto theatre Saturday morning to give an old-time welcome to dear old Santa Claus when he made his first appearance in anticipation of the coming Christmas season.

Under the auspices of C. Woodward Ltd., two special shows were given Saturday morning for the children to see Santa Claus who will make his home for the next few weeks in Woodward's Toyland on the fourth floor of the store.

The first show got under way at 9:30 a.m. and the children were entertained with several of their favorite cartoons on the screen. New adventures of Disney's "Dug Bums" were hilariously enjoyed and a story of a cat who was afraid of mice brought screams of laughter.

SLEIGH BELLS HEARD

Sleigh bells and sounds of hoof beats of his reindeer heralded the approach of Santa Clause. Then down the chimney and out of a beautiful red brick fireplace onto the stage he came. He was given a rousing welcome of cheers and shouts of delight as soon as his bright red suit came into view. Small little tots were lifted up to the stage to get a close look at the wonderful man. They gazed at him spell bound and forgot to ask him for the presents they wanted for Christmas.

Shaking with jolly laughter Santa asked them all if they had been good children and reminded them to come and see him in Woodward's Toyland and tell him what they wanted for Christmas.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

ANSWERS

LEN LORDON, salesman: Undoubtedly the dim-out should be continued until the question of wage demands by the miners has been determined. There is a great shortage of coal throughout Western Canada, and any saving that can be effected will be all to the good even if there is a possible termination of the miners' demands.

HARRY NIXON, clerk: It is no hardship on anyone to keep their store windows dimmed out, and certainly all housewives should be conserving electricity to the limit. The dim-out should be continued until there is no further danger of a recurrence of the strike.

WILLIAM TALBOT, salesman: I consider it necessary that the dim-out should continue. There should be no modification until there is no doubt about a favorable settlement of the miners' demands for wage increases and better working conditions.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Robs Man's Happiness To Object to Vocation

No Grounds for Doctors' Wives to Worry or Fret Over Their Husbands Seeing Other Women, Unattractive in Illness

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married to a very fine man with whom I am much in love, but I have made it a condition of our marriage that he give up his profession, and he refuses to do so. He is a doctor and I simply cannot bear the thought of his giving most of his time and thoughts and attentions to other women. I see red when I think of him holding the hands of neurotic women all dolled up in pink silk and lace negligees, and listening with pretended sympathy, while they talk about themselves and their symptoms.

It don't want to spend my life eaten up with jealousy and suspicions, but when I plead with him to give up his profession he positively refuses. Says that all of his life he has never thought of doing anything or wanted to do anything except to be a doctor. That is his calling. That he spent years of hard study fitting himself for it, and that he would be a failure and utterly miserable in any other occupation.

Don't you think that if he really loved me, he would be willing to give up his profession for me?

UNHAPPY FIANCE.

ANSWER: I think you are a very silly woman, as well as a very selfish one, to even ask your finance to make such a sacrifice as giving up his life work for you. Just because you imagine that it will in some way militate against your owning him body and soul. To every man who has in him any ambition and purpose in life his occupation is more than just a way to make money. It is a vocation to which he vows himself and into which he puts the work of his hands and his dreams and aspirations, and with this a woman meddles at her peril.

Take away from a man the work he loves to do and in which he finds a never-failing interest and delight, and you rob him of his happiness. You're him into an unsympathetic cynicism and you make him a failure, for we have to put our hearts as well as our back into our labor if we succeed.

Yet many wives fail to comprehend this. They refuse to go with their husbands to some place where better opportunities are offered them because they don't want to leave Mother and their bridge foursomes. They can't see why John wants to go and bury himself on a farm, or why Tom doesn't give up trying to write or paint. Fathers and take a steady paying job selling shirts and neckties in a haberdashery. And they can't understand why Sam won't resign from the Navy or the Army and go into raising potatoes when he knows they like to stay put in one place, and that it makes them nervous to think of him being so far away.

There are some things in even a husband's life in which no wife has a right to interfere, and one of them is his choice of a profession. That is between him and his own soul, and wise is the wife who recognizes this and who makes her husband's life work her ally instead of her rival.

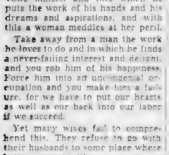

In this particular case I should like to say to Unhappy Fiance that she is certainly going out of her way to hunt for trouble in being jealous of her doctor fiance's prospective feminine patients. The more of these, the better for her. No need she feel that sick ladies, outside of their nearest kin, have any special allure. No man sees women at their worst as a doctor does. There is nothing in a peevish, fretful invalid with her hair in strings and her complexion off, that will make her doctor forget the healthy, hardy, alert wife at home. Particularly if she has enough good sense not to nag him and be suspicious of his patients.

FALSE ACCUSATION

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a much perturbed husband who is being wrongfully accused of infidelity by my wife to whom I have been faithful for more than thirty years. My accuser is a woman to which he vows himself and into which he puts the work of his hands and his dreams and aspirations, and with this a woman meddles at her peril.

Yet many wives fail to comprehend this. They refuse to go with their husbands to some place where better opportunities are offered them because they don't want to leave Mother and their bridge foursomes. They can't see why John wants to go and bury himself on a farm, or why Tom doesn't give up trying to write or paint. Fathers and

FOOLISHNESS

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 17. I am a Sinatra swooner. I can't eat, sleep or do anything for thinking of him. The other night when he sang "Pistol Packin' Mama" I sat down and cried for over an hour. I am quite cute, but I don't even bother to wash up any more. I just sit and cry and cry over him. My mother is so disgusted with me she won't even bother with me any more. What shall I do?

A SINATRA FAN.

ANSWER: Go and have your eyes examined by an oculist. He probably hasn't fitted you with glasses that have been given a rudimentary knowledge of the use to which the eyes were created.

Then, if you discover in the course of your examination that you are not crying in vain.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

All those apparently innocent habits the baby acquires at bedtime; a thumb in mouth, or a sleeve-end or a blanket, or the extra attention we may lavish upon him, the rocking and the walking, may well become so firmly connected with the sensation of going to sleep that baby cannot settle down without one or the other of them.

Here is a 7-months-old baby who has to be walked until his frail parent is ready to drop from exhaustion. Another baby of one year demands to be rocked and rocked before he will consent to close his eyes. At first the parents were eager to walk the baby and to rock, now their babies' tyrannies have made martyrs of them. Despite their mutinous emotions they have to go on with what they have started.

To Mrs. B. J. de T.: I suggest that her big, husky 7-months-old boy needs even more vigorous exercise. Plenty of opportunity to crawl about the house, exercises before nap and bedtime and children in to play with him—since he obviously enjoys them so. His abundant energies are not being used up, even though she is giving him an excellent routine and splendid feeding.

To Mrs. L., who enclosed her year-old baby's routine, let me suggest that the time of meals be altered so that the nap comes right after the noon meal and there will be a longer interval than at present between that nap and supper, to bed. Serve the meals at 8:30, 12:30 and 5:30 to 6.

I might remind both of them that a habit of such duration cannot be broken off instantly. It must be tapered off. Use a watch and time your attentions so that in addition to the changes made in routine and exercise you rock or walk the child five minutes less each night and then put him to bed. Even if he fusses—stand beside him but do not give him any more attention. He'll become used to falling asleep in his bed, which is the habit you are trying to establish.

You may, if the going seems too difficult, ask your baby's doctor to advise a mild sedative given after the meal which will make the baby drowsy and more content to fall asleep even though not walked or rocked. This can be abandoned when the habit is established.

Our leaflet, "Hours of Sleep," suggests the changes which come about in sleeping habits as the child grows. It may be had by sending a 3-cent, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

What To Do

A woman's shoes tells us more of her taste than any other article item in her wardrobe. A well dressed woman would not wear high heels with a tailored suit, nor would a sophisticated walking shoe or open sandal would be correct, and so on.

Wearing the proper type of shoes with correspondingly correct hosiery is a sign of a well-groomed woman.

Keeping her shoes in proper repair. Never mismatching run-down heels, never failing to polish good leather, or to keep clean a white shoe, is a true mark of the well-dressed woman. She look to your shoes and toes Madame—and be well shod.

Minute Make-Ups

Let your makeup create the illusion of Loveliness! That's all it's for, really! Beauty tricks with makeup are a lovely lure towards creating the Illusion of Beauty.

Life's a tagging game by using a darker foundation on the lower part of the face but blend well. Make a big mouth look small. Make a big mouth look small. Make a big mouth look small. Make a big mouth look small.

McKenney On Bridge

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

It is surprising how nice husbands and wives can be to each other at the bridge table. In the new event inaugurated at the recent Metropolitan tournament in New York, the married couples' game, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riley, Jr., of Leonia, N.J., were certainly all smiles when Mr. Riley took 12 tricks on the hand shown today, with two aces out against him.

On the opening lead of the jack of hearts, a small spade was discarded from dummy and Riley (South) won the trick with the queen. He laid down the queen of spades. Naturally West would not take this and set up the whole spade suit. Now Riley led the queen of diamonds, and East, feeling that West was trying to create an entry in dummy, allowed the queen to hold.

Riley continued with the diamond ten, which also held, then laid down the four, East winning with the ace. A heart was returned, South won with the king, and was careful not to throw away dummy's valuable three of clubs, but discarded the nine of spades. He then cashed the ace and king of clubs, and when the club suit broke, he was able to lead the deuce and win the dummy. He cashed the king of diamonds, discarding his five of hearts, and returned to his hand with the club. thus making 12 tricks.

True, East and West could have cashed two aces quickly, but that hardly would be termed correct play.

Many people believe that because a pencil is made of wood, it is safe to touch electrical sockets and wires with it. The truth is that a pencil is a very good conductor of electricity, as the graphite in its centre is able to carry a strong current. Even a pencil mark on paper will carry an electrical current, as a simple test will show: Attach small electrical wires to each end of a pencil mark on a paper, and turn on the current. The electricity will be found to pass readily along the pencil mark as along a wire. This principle is made use of in engraving and electroplating.

War Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The back-to-first-principles spirit has moved several readers to ask for an easy recipe for bread. They think it would give Thanksgiving dinner a nice touch if they made their own bread. Here's a recipe for a large loaf that requires no kneading.

EASY BREAD—NO KNEADING

(Makes 1 loaf, 4 by 8-inch pan)

Three and 2-3 cups enriched all-purpose flour, 1½ tablespoons white shortening, 1 cake moist compressed yeast, 1-cup water, 1½ teaspoons salt.

Sift flour once and measure. Work the shortening in until it disappears. Soften the yeast cake in ¼ cup lukewarm water and let stand 5 minutes. Scald the other ¾ cup of water (or milk may be used) and let stand until luke-warm before adding the yeast mixture. Add salt and flour. Mix until smooth and elastic. Cover closely with damp cloth or paper towel. Keep towel damp. Let stand in warm place until light and bubbly. With knife cut through and through dough about 30 times. Let stand for 10 minutes. Turn out onto baking board. Shape into smooth round ball with as little handling as possible and no kneading. Put into loaf pan lightly greased. Brush top with melted butter or fortified margarine. Let stand until pan are filled and dough rounds above edge of pan, bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) for 45 minutes. Cool in 30 minutes. Cool before scoring.

Here's a homely and good variation on potatoes which comes from the Canadian Red Cross. It might give an international touch to your wartime Thanksgiving dinner.

POLISH KLUSKI

One and one-half pounds potatoes, 8 tablespoons flour, 2 eggs, salt and pepper to taste.

Peel, boil and dry potatoes. When thoroughly dry, mash. Mix with 6 tablespoons of the flour and work in the unbeaten eggs. Knead well until smooth and pliable. Then make into little dumplings, rub in remainder of flour and drop into pot of boiling water. Boil for seven minutes. Small dumplings rise to the surface. Drain well and sprinkle with grated rusks.

Monday's Menu

(Eat the Basic 7 Every Day)

BREAKFAST: Grapefruit juice, fried oatmeal, honey, enriched toast, fried potatoes, milk, hot drink.

LUNCHEON: Creamed vegetables on toasted home-made bread, raw carrot sticks, buttered home-made bread, stewed fruit, cookies, tea, milk for children.

DINNER: Leftover meat minced in gravy, Polish potato dumplings, 6-minute cabbage, whole wheat bread, butter, prune cracker crumb pie with cottage cheese cover, coffee, milk for children.

CLEAN UP JOB

The garbage pail can be kept clean by washing it weekly with soapy water. This should be followed by a rinse with scalding water and a thorough drying in the sun. For a more effective deodorizing solution, add washing soda.

C.G.I.T. Plans Active Year

Council activities for the year have begun. One of the main items to get things off to a good start will be a basketball house league. Each organization for girls 16 years old has a team and be "raring" to go. There is a cup at stake. Anyone wanting any information phone Ina Ward, 71566.

It was decided that councillors should be given some kind of recognition. Thus, fulfillment of their duties which were set down as follows: the girl must attend all C.G.I.T. rallies, vespers or any other C.G.I.T. function, she must wear her uniform, be active in the business meeting, accurately take a good report back to her group, be punctual at all meetings, and if the girl cannot be at the meeting send someone in her place. A merit committee with Jean Millan as the head, has been established for the girls' credit. At the end of three months, the girls who have performed their duties faithfully will be awarded council pins.

A committee with Joan Fatham as head, was appointed to make plans for the Christmas Vesper Service. The date was set for Dec. 19, at 4:30 p.m. The place has not yet been decided, but the arrangements will be made and the girls and leaders will be notified. Council this year hopes to make the Christmas vesper service the most successful and effective one ever held.

The next council meeting will be held December 8. Would any departments that are lacking a councillor, please choose one at their next meeting. For information, she may also get in touch with Ina Ward. Other councillors will be notified by letter or phone as to the plans for the next council meeting.

Girl Guides' Activities

On Nov. 2 the Guides of the 5th Edmonton Company held their annual flying-up ceremony, attended by Mrs. A. Frame, the divisional commissioner and Mrs. H. H. Templeton, commissioner for the district. Three Brownies, Helene Herring, Patricia Pinnell and Margaret MacKay flew up to Guides. Mrs. Frame presented badges. Second class badges went to Norah Day, Frances Farley, Barbara Kane, Betty Anne Lovesett, Sheila McGugan, Barbara Ross, Eleanor Sanford and Barbara Wyatt. A tenderfoot badge went to Joan Taylor and a minstrel badge to Mary Collins. Child nurse badges were won by Norah Day, Mary Collins, Joan Herring, Lois McIntyre and Joan Taylor. Ambulance badges were awarded to Mary Collins, Lois McIntyre, Joan Taylor and Mary Warren. Barbara Ross, Eleanor Sanford and Mary Warren received needle-woman badges.

The Fifth Edmonton Company have Miss Margaret Warren as captain and Miss Margaret MacKay as lieutenant.

Comparatively calm has settled upon Vic, now the excitment of elections has passed. The results are as follows: President of the Students' Union, Eric Geddes; vice-president, Pat Ogilvie; treasurer, Bob Jackson; secretary, Dolores Kimball; special convener, Ernest Studd. The council has had its first meeting and plans for the year are under way.

Extra-curricular activities such as the Drama Club, the paper, and others, have been organized, their executive formed, and are getting their various pursuits with vim and vigor.

The Drama Club has decided to produce "Milestones" as the year play and at the moment are working on two one-act plays to be presented at a future lit.

As far as rugby is concerned Vic has not been terrifically successful, inasmuch as Vic lost both Vic versus Scona battles, with the non-inspiring scores, 3-2 and 17-0.

EASTWOOD

By Susanna Alexeef

The Eastwood Hot Shots gained the majority of votes in the Students' Union elections last Tuesday. Officers elected were: President, Jack Hollis; vice-president, Irma Holt; secretary, Eileen Sebastier; treasurer, Don Bittorf; girls' sports representative, Shirley Smith; boys' sports representative, Jim Anderson.

These ambitious students didn't waste any time in preparing for activities, and by Friday the first council meeting was held in the gymnasium from 4 to 5:30 p.m. The usual fee of 50 cents is being collected for the students' union fund and students are urged to pay before the end of November. Pennants will be given this year as in previous years for complete collection in every room.

The Hi-Y club held a roller skating party at the Silver Glade last week-end with many Eastwoodites in attendance. The boys of this club are still continuing to purchase war savings certificates, which, after the war, will go toward buying a plaque for all the Eastboys killed in the war. The executive is as follows: President, Douglas Clark; vice-president, Bob Baker; secretary, Keith Latta; treasurer, Don Taylor.

UNIVERSITY

By Jeanne Gauld

The first meeting of The Torch staff was held Tuesday. It was decided that one paper would be published before Christmas, the deadline for contributions being Nov 30.

Boys' and girls basketball teams have been organized and the schedule is now being made. We are fortunate in being able to secure the Garneau gym for basketball and badminton two days a week.

WESTGLEN

By Jack Gibbons

The Westglen Students' Union has elected Marvin Bower as new editor-in-chief of the Westglen Parade with Ira Young and Jack Gibbons as assistants, while Bunny Robb will act as business manager. At the first meeting held yesterday, plans were made for a bigger and better publication.

One of the most popular organizations, the Outdoor club, is presided over by Jim Wood while Benny Crowthorne acts as secretary-treasurer.

A Lit will be held on Dec. 3 and the first evening dance on Dec. 10 in the auditorium.

Christmas cards with the Westglen motto will be for sale again this year.

Young People's Activities

AVONMORE

Avonmore has recently received the sad news that Sgt. Air Gunner Jack Hodgson has been killed on active service. He is the first from the group to give his life in the service of his country. All the members extended their sincerest sympathy to his mother, sister and brother.

EASTWOOD

At a recent meeting, Rev. A. R. Schrag conducted a number of interesting nerve tests, in which all of the members took part. A pageant is being planned, to be presented one Sunday in December. Final arrangements have not yet been made.

ERSKINE

The monthly dance was held last night in the United Church hall. Main features were a jitterbug contest and door show. Arrangements are being made for the Sunday evening service on Nov. 21. On that date, the young people will take full charge of the service. This is to be followed by a social trial to which the congregation is invited.

McDOUGALL

Last Sunday evening at the regular meeting of the Union, a very interesting missions program was presented. This included an outline of the life and work of several of the outstanding missionaries who have been instrumental in the founding and developing of the Christian church in Canada from the the beginning of Canadian history, up to the present time. Another missions program will be given tomorrow night, along with last week's program leads up to the present Alaska Highway Missions Project.

A social evening is being planned for Friday, Nov. 26, at which members of the armed forces will be guests.

Smith-Smith Nuptials Held McDougall U. Church Manse

Home of the Rev. Dr. A. K. McMinn was the scene of a late afternoon wedding on Friday, when Miss Ardis Bernice Smith, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Smith of Czar, Alta., became the bride of LeRoy Elsworth Smith, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of 11160 96 street.

The bridegroom is well known at the University of Alberta, where he graduated with his degree in civil engineering last spring. At present he is employed with the department of transport. Dominion government, and is stationed at Whitecourt. The bride was a student nurse at the Misericordia hospital, prior to her marriage.

Miss Evelyn Hobbs was bridesmaid, and chose a two-piece dress of British tan, yellow blouse, accessories in brown, and Talisman roses on corsage.

Best man was Cpl. Samuel Smolyk, R.C.A.F.

A wedding supper for members of the immediate families was held at the Royal George otel, and later Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained at an open house reception at their Norwood home. One hundred guests called.

Mother of the bride wore a dressmaker suit, white blouse and red roses encorsage, and mother of the bridegroom was smart in a navy tailored suit complemented by a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will make their home at Whitecourt temporarily.

MEDITERRANEAN ORANGES

LONDON.—(CP)—Lord Woolton, minister of food, has announced that 34,000,000 oranges have arrived from the Mediterranean for distribution among children.

Couple Here On Honeymoon

Lt. and Mrs. Charles Thom spent a short honeymoon in Edmonton, prior to travelling to Borden, Ont., to take up temporary residence. They were married recently at Rundle Memorial church, Banff, which was decorated with autumn flowers and leaves for the occasion. The bride is the former Miss Hilda Laurella Kelly, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Kelly of Banff, and Lt. Thom is the only son of G. M. Thom, and the late Mrs. Thom of Penticton, B.C. The Rev. T. H. Lonsdale officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of brocaded satin, with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves coming to lily points over the wrists, and a full skirt. A wreath of traditional orange blossoms held her veil in place, and her only piece of jewelry was a Wedgwood pendant, belonging to her mother. A colonial bouquet of white and red roses and forget-me-nots completed the bride's ensemble.

Mrs. John McConville and Mrs. George Hargreaves were matrons-of-honor, and Miss Muriel Hitchins was bridesmaid.

Constable Hal Waterhouse, R.C.M.P., of Calgary, was the best man, and ushers included Constable C. Thompson and Constable Rivet, of Banff.

Mrs. E. Hoggard played the wedding music, and Mrs. Walter Greenwood of Calgary was soloist.

The Experts Say ..

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—With colder days at hand hot desserts are incteasing in popularity and a new recipe for Apple Upside Down Cake comes from the testing kitchens of the consumer section of the Department of Agriculture to add a fillip to the daily menu.

To make six servings melt three tablespoons of butter in a baking dish, add one-third cup brown sugar and cook together two or three minutes. Peel and core three apples and cut them in half to make six thick rings. Spread the butter and sugar mixture evenly over the bottom of the baking dish and arrange the apple rings on top.

Now cream one-quarter cup clarified dripping or mild-flavored fat with three tablespoons of sugar. Add one well-beaten egg and one-third cup molasses and beat thoroughly. Sift together and add one cup pastry flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon cinnamon. After the dry ingredients have been added, quickly mix in one-third cup boiling water and spread the batter over the apples. Bake in a moderate oven, 325 degrees F. about 40 minutes.

Vitamin A Vegetables — Marion Harlow of nutrition services tells us that housewives can make a sound investment and delight their hungry families by taking advantage of the yellow and green vegetables which are rich in vitamin A. Carrots, sweet potatoes, squash and turnip, among the yellow vegetables, and spinach, cabbage, brussels sprouts and broccoli among the green, are all rich in the vitamin which, unlike most vitamins, can be stored in the body. This vitamin "bank" helps keep the membranes of the nose and throat healthy and so ward off colds and other similar infections.

Back in Circulation—Good news about the reconditioning of woollens comes from the consumer branch of the Prices Board which offers suggestions for repairing them. Worn, torn or frayed woollen clothes stand a better chance of being put back into circulation than clothes of any other material.

Consumer branch experts say tears can be almost concealed by running stitches back and forth with the weave, regardless of the direction of the tear. Ordinary adhesive tape pressed on the a cold or barely-warm iron will be a good sticking job on two torn edges brought carefully together.

Tiny holes or threadbare spots can be darned or reinforced by ravelling threads from the underseams and weaving them back and forth. If the elbows are worn and you can't restyle the garment with contrasting sleeves, knitted sleeves of the same color are both smart and practical.

New Mending Tape—A new resin-treated material can be used to mend materials other than woollens, while they are being ironed, says the consumer branch. Cut to fit, this mending tape can be placed under the tear or the worn spot, pressed for a few seconds with a hot iron, and the jobs done. For patching heavy material, such as trousers or raincoats, it is suggested that a matching piece be taken from a concealed part of the garment and then set in with the tape.

BACK IN CANADA

Capt. Evelyn Lane, C.W.A.C., recently returned from overseas, who has left for her station in Winnipeg after spending several days in the city visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lane.

Scottish Club Plans Concert

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Miller were hosts to the executive of the Orkney Shetland and Caithness Society when members met at their home recently to make final arrangements for the "Grand St. Andrew's Concert and Dance" to be held in All Saints' Parish hall next Saturday evening.

Highlight of the evening will be an address of "St. Andrew," Scotland's patron saint, which will be given by D. E. Cameron, librarian at the University of Alberta.

Oliver Sinclair, president of the society, will welcome guests and act as chairman of the program. Contributing artists include Edmonton Boys' Pipe Band under the leadership of Pipe Major John Robertson, D.C.M.; Mrs. George Hudson, soprano; Miss Norma Mardill, contralto; Thomas Fyfe, tenor, and Jack Miller, baritone, with Miss Myrtle Coote as accompanist. Miss Joyce Redpath will give recitations and Jack Jones will supply a comedy act.

Highland dancers who will take part in the concert are: Mrs. Mary McPherson, Miss Doris Holland, Miss Lillian Fisher, Miss Isabel Johnston, Miss Cleane Savage, Miss Evelyn Gerrard, Miss Nellie Hodson, Miss Catherine Murray, Miss Evelyn Cormack. They will be accompanied by Piper Robert McPherson and Piper Harry Gerrard.

The Society has invited about twenty boys of the armed services.

Three Government Dietitians Compile Wartime Yule Menu

By HELEN BANNERMAN

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Three Government dietitians have delved into the problem of how to make this year's wartime Christmas menu just as appetizing as before rationing, and they've come up with the answer in a neat list of recipes for such Yuletide goodies as rich fruit cake, puddings, sauces and mincemeat.

Members of the testing kitchen of the agriculture department's canner service, these experts are Dorothy Batchelder of Toronto, Gertrude Gerlach of Saskatoon and Marie-Paule Billette of Montreal.

Their successful wartime recipes, they can be prepared from foods any Canadian can buy, will be made public shortly by the consumer service but, meanwhile here's an indication of what they have done:

SMALL QUANTITIES

Their advice to Canadian cooks, for instance, is go ahead and make their usual Christmas tastes, but to use smaller quantities rather than larger amounts, including substituted ingredients.

The problem of making a rich Christmas fruit cake without seeded raisins, currants or citron peel was the first of many presented by the Christmas menu. Tests were successful—a richly-spiced dark cake and one filled to bursting with fruit, and a light cake in which orange and lemon peel replaced the vanished citron were the results.

We found that if we tried to be too economical we were wasting our time," Miss Gerlach said. "But we did reduce the fat and sugar. We also found that unrationed maraschino cherries made up partly for the lack of citron and supplied a touch of Christmas red."

HASTY DENIAL

HOVE.—(CP)—There were cries of "No" from members of the Hove Women's Volunteer Services camouflage centre when A. G. Bottomley, a deputy commissioner, told them their's was a "dull, dirty and often boring" job. This Sussex centre equipped the first Canadian unit to go to Sicily.

PARCEL No. 1.—The East half of the North East quarter of Section Eighteen (18), Township Fifty-four (54), Range Twenty-five (25), West of the Fourth Meridian, in the Province of Alberta, containing 80 acres, more or less; Reserving thereout all Mines and minerals, and PARCEL No. 2.—The East half of the South West quarter of Section Nineteen (19), Township Fifty-four (54), Range Twenty-five (25), West of the Fourth Meridian, in the Province of Alberta, containing 80 acres, more or less; Reserving unto His Majesty all mines and minerals.

On Parcel No. 1 there are five buildings, consisting of a log house with shingle roof, a log granary with shingle roof, a log barn with shingle roof, a log store-house with shingle roof, and a log granary with a shingle roof. Approximately 30 acres of the land have been cultivated. The land is level to rolling and two miles from the post office and railway at Smeaton.

On Parcel No. 2 there are three buildings, consisting of a log house with shingle roof, a log granary with shingle roof, and a log store-house with a shingle roof. Approximately 40 acres of the land have been cultivated. The land is level, has a good well, a grain elevator, Mac. and 2½ miles from the post office at Smeaton.

The property is offered for sale at an upset price of $15,000, subject to the right of the Lessee or any lessee of the premises to have the property put up for sale on the premises until such crop has been harvested, but only on payment to the Lessor on November, A.D. 1943. The purchaser may at any time after said date take possession of the uncultivated portion of the lands, and after harvest thereof upon the cultivated portion has been cut, may take possession of the land for the purpose of preparing the same for crop for the succeeding year.

Tenders must be delivered in sealed envelope marked Tenders re National Trust Company, Limited vs. Mabel Ethel and Anna Tulk, No. 24335, N.C.A., addressed to R. F. Wallace, Clerk of the Supreme Court, Court House, Edmonton, Alberta, not later than 12 o'clock noon, said R. F. Wallace not later than 12 o'clock noon on the 25th day of November, A.D. 1943.

TERMS OF SALE. Each tender must be accompanied by a marked cheque for 10% of the amount of the tender payable to the Clerk of the Supreme Court, which shall be paid into Court within 30 days after acceptance of tender without interest, on the deposit of 10% shall be forfeited to the Lessor and the balance of 90% is reduced to carry out the purchase after acceptance of the tenders. Deposits of unsuccessful tenders shall be returned to them immediately after tenders are accepted.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

In all other respects the terms and conditions of sale will be the usual terms and conditions of sale of the Supreme Court of Alberta in so far as the same are applicable hereto.

For further particulars apply to GERALD CHAPMAN, K.C., Barrister, 1 National Trust Building, Edmonton, Alberta.

DATED at the City of Edmonton, in the Province of Alberta, this 8th day of July, A.D. 1943.

"R. P. WALLACE," Clerk S.C.A.

APPROVED: In appearing the plaintiff's claim exceeds the value of the land.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—(AP)—The stock market registered its third successive recovery swing today on relatively broad and active dealings. Dividends and earnings compilations continued to bolster individual issues but failed to spur others. Principal buying stimulant still was the revival of tax optimism and the waning of shortwar talk.

EDMONTON LIVESTOCK

Weekly report from the Edmonton stockyards for week ending November 19.—

Receipts	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep
Week	1875	320	4529	617

Light receipts of cattle were inducive to higher price levels the past week. Suitable killers were generally in demand with only a handful of good to choice quality offered. Considering the sort prices were fully 25c above the previous week's close. Plainer kinds and cows, however, were no better than steady. Good light cows traded around the $7 to $7½ mark with good heavies mostly around $6½, with odd ones at $7. Bulls from $5 to $7.

The following are the quotations:

CATTLE—

Good-choice fed calves	$10.00 to 10.50
Good-choice h'y steers	11.00 to 11.50
Fair-medium steers	8.50 to 10.50
Common to fair steers	6.00 to 8.50
Good-choice heifers	9.50 to 10.25
Fair-medium heifers	7.00 to 8.75
Common-fair heifers	5.50 to 7.00
Good-choice light cows	7.00 to 7.50
Good-choice heavy cows	6.00 to 7.00
Fair-medium cows	5.00 to 6.00
Common to fair cows	4.50 to 5.00
Canners and cutters	2.50 to 4.50
Bulls	5.00 to 7.00

Stockers and feeders of suitable quality and weight were in fair demand [illegible] $8½ to $9½, others $8½ down. Heifers mostly from $7½ down and stock cows $6½ down. Practically no trade on common yearlings and many were sold as boners.

Light veal calves of quality were scare and prices were fully steady at $11 to $12 for better kinds. Heavy and [illegible] to a [illegible].

Hogs opened firmer Monday, due to the Meat Board's order strengthening the price of bacon at seaboard to $22½ cwt. for A grade Wiltshires. Prices advanced from $15¼ basic to $15.85. A few sales were made at $15.90 for locals. The market more or less became glutted and receipts were difficult to handle. To alleviate the congestion on market hogs a ban on sow deliveries wen into effect. Sows will not be wanted until a fair clearance is made of the regular market grades. The price for basic grades for coast [illegible] to $15½ per cwt. to clear the stockyard receipts and several shipments were made to the East at the Eastern market quotations. Feeder hogs in good demand at 10¾ to $11 for the average variety but choice light kinds will bring more.

The lamb market generally was firm with good to choice quality $9 to $10, [illegible] choice handy weights $10¼ to $10½ off cars, yearling $6 down and good light ewes from $5 down.

AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 20—(AP)—Hogs, 10,000. Good and choice 200-270 lb. top $15¾, good and choice 170-190 lb. $13½-$13¾, bulk sows $12¾-$13.

Buying Boosts Futures in Rye

WINNIPEG, Nov. 20.—(CP) — Good buying by local and outside interests boosted rye futures ¾ to 1⅛ cents a bushel higher today with December finishing at a new seasonal high of $1.16½. Closing prices of other options were: May $1.12⅜ and July $1.12.

Wheat export business again totalled over the 1,000,000-bushel mark with the United Kingdom credited with purchasing 500,000 bushels of Nos. 1 and 2 Northern and the United States Commodity Credit Corporation 800,000 bushels of Nos. 2 and 3 Northern.

Domestic wheat business included sales of 350,000 bushels of No. 1 Northern to shippers, two cargoes of Nos. 2 and 4 Northern to mills, and small amounts of No. 5 Northern to eastern feeders.

Wheat Futures Gain at Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(AP)—All deliveries of wheat moved to new seasonal highs, and to the best levels in more than a decade, in a strong but only moderately active market today. There was profit-taking by traders as the grain approached the $1.66 parity level.

Good buying also developed in rye, which was up more than a cent at times, on the ground that this grain has more room to advance before it reaches parity, the point at which ceilings may be imposed.

At the close wheat was ¾-1⅜ higher, rye was 1-1⅜ higher, oats ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher and barley up ½-¾. Wheat: Dec. $1.62⅜-¼; May $1.60¾-⅞; July $1.59½-⅝. Oats: Dec. 77¾-⅞; May 74¾; July 73. Rye: Dec. $1.15¼-½; May $1.16½-¾; July $1.16¼. Barley: Dec. $1.20⅛; May $1.17¾.

Cash prices: No wheat; no corn; oats sample grade white, 78½; barley, malting, $1.30-45 nominal.

Hog Marketings Set New Record

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Hog prices advanced as much as 55 cents a hundredweight on Canadian markets during the past week following announcement by the meat board of higher prices for bacon sold to the United Kingdom, and hog marketings set an all-time record, the Dominion department of agriculture reported yesterday in its weekly livestock market report.

"Despite the labor situation in packing plants and some congestion at principal markets, the (hog) supply was fairly well cleared," the department said. "Shippers were still being advised to hold back lightweight underfinished hogs and sows.

"All cattle of good or choice quality were in demand and commanding firm prices, with odd increases reported at some markets.

"Calves were steady and active sellers throughout but lambs, under the influence of heavier receipts at stockyards, showed some losses."

Less "Hyphenated" Canadianism Urged By John Bracken

YORKTON, Sask., Nov. 20—(CP)—Hon. John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive-Conservative party, in an address here yesterday, called for the abolition of "hyphenated Canadianism" and an expansion of the Hudson Bay railway.

Mr. Bracken predicted a bright future for Canada if only the people would take advantage of the opportunities.

"Our first consideration should be Canada," he said. "Not French-speaking Canada, not English-speaking Canada, but Canada, a Canadian Canada. Let us look upon all our citizens, of whatever racial extraction, as Canadians. Let us have less of hyphenated Canadianism. Our new citizens don't want it, and we don't."

Lift Wool Ban

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—(AP)—The United States war production board yesterday lifted restrictions on the use of wool in the production of clothing, draperies and upholstery fabrics. Only exceptions are: the use of finer grades of alpaca is banned except for military purposes, and only carpet wool and mohair are permitted for the manufacture of floor coverings.

Roberto Farinacci Is Reported Ready To Replace Duce

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Nov. 20.—(AP)—The newspaper Corriere Del Ticino at Lugano, Switzerland, asserted yesterday that Roberto Farinacci, minister of state in Mussolini's puppet government, is about to take over leadership in German-controlled northern Italy from Mussolini. Mussolini was reported to have retired to a villa at Lake Garda, in bad health and fearing an attempt on his life.

Salary Increase Of $1.25 Per Day Asked For Miners

GLACE BAY, N.S., Nov. 20—(CP)—A basic wage increase of $1.25 a day is sought by the United Mine Workers of America for its members employed with major Nova Scotia collieries, union officials disclosed last night.

The increase is one of a number of contract changes asked by the union and which have been before the War Labor Board for some months in an application for revision of contracts that expired last Jan. 31.

The union's application for the new rates has been before the Labor Board since August. It will be discussed at a meeting of union officials, operators and the board in Ottawa next week.

North Impresses Highways Minister

One of eight Canadian provincial highway officials who left Edmonton aboard a Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane Friday, Hon. G. H. Doucett, minister of highways and public works for Ontario, said Saturday, after seeing part of the 1,600 mile Alaska Highway, that the road has everything to make it a tourist road after the war, providing people do not find the distance too great.

The officials went by plane to Grande Prairie and Dawson Creek, and drove in American army cars to Fort St. John. Others in the party included Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works for Alberta; Hon. A. T. Proctor, minister of highways and transportation for Saskatchewan; Hon. J. D. McKenzie, minister of highways for Nova Scotia; Hon. E. F. Willis, minister of public works for Manitoba; C. A. McVeigh, chief bridge engineer for New Brunswick; J. D. Miller, deputy minister of highways for Ontario; and H. R. MacKenzie, deputy minister of highways for Saskatchewan.

Before the trip, officials attended the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association in Calgary for several days.

Mr. Doucett spoke highly of the construction of the road, the good farm land and marvelous scenery surrounding it. He said that officials were "amazed" at the new Peace River bridge, which was opened about two months ago, and were equally impressed at the 28-mile stretch of road out of Fort St. John, which has a 36-foot top of crushed rock and gravel.

Comedian Postpones Draft Board "Date"

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20.—(AP)—Comedian Lou Costello, 38, had a date with his draft board at Paterson, N.J., yesterday, but sent his regrets. He received notice Thursday that his classification had been changed from 3-A, to 1-A, with instructions that he report yesterday for a preliminary blood test. Costello wired a request that his case be transferred to a local draft board and resumed his recuperation from an attack of rheumatic fever that kept him in bed for several months recently.

THE STORY: Miss Hall, [illegible] Hilda Allen, Dr. Hall's assistant, [illegible] Karsten, Cedar Court, [illegible] Karsten's office. [illegible] Karsten is [illegible] Emily leaves a call to attend a [illegible]

CHAPTER XI

EMILY looked at the name and address again. Karsten, Cedar Court . . . It must be one of Dad's patients, she thought. Karsten? But she didn't remember anyone named Karsten.

The moment she went into the very small house and saw her patient she knew. Hilda Allen. Dr. Hall had brought Hilda into the world, and here she was married, established in a little home and ill, tormented, going to have a baby of her own.

"Why, Hilda," said Emily, astonished. "I'd forgotten—that is, I never knew your married name . . ."

Miss Hall!" Hilda's delicate drawn face was illuminated. "I hadn't any idea . . . The doctor said he'd have a nurse come at once. He's at the hospital, he said he'd get here as soon as he could." She looked desperately anxious. "I was so scared," she added, "when I heard Dr. Hall was ill. I didn't know what to do."

She explained the circumstances haltingly and Emily said briskly:

"The first thing to do is to get to bed. I'll help you." She took the frightened girl into the bedroom, found nightgown, robe and slippers under her direction, undressed her deftly, took her pulse and temperature. She asked, "You're all alone?"

"Gus—that's my husband—had to go into Boston," said Hilda shivering. "My mother died last year, Miss Hall. The only other person I'd want is my aunt. But she's away, too. This—this just happened a little while ago," she said, her lips white.

A little later Emily opened the door for Jim and stood for a moment in the narrow hallway, giving him her report. Together they went back to the girl.

Presently Jim went next door to telephone. There was no phone in the Karsten cottage. He returned and smiled reassuringly at his patient. "The ambulance will be here very shortly," he said.

On the way to the hospital, Emily sat beside Hilda in the ambulance, holding her hand. Jim followed in his car.

She waited while Hilda was admitted and taken to the ward. After a time Jim came out to her. He said, smiling, "She'll be all right. I'll look in on her later this evening. She's better off here with someone to look after her than at home. She'll have to stay in bed, perfectly quiet, for some time." He added, "I don't think she believes me. She looks upon me as a very poor substitute for your father, and, of course, she's right."

"If you'd wait a moment," said Emily, "perhaps I could persuade her—"

She went back toward the ward, and when she reappeared, she was smiling.

You're wrong, she likes you, she thinks you're grand. And she's perfectly satisfied to remain here. She asked me to go back to Cedar Court, pack a bag for her with the things she'll need and leave a note for Gus so that he wouldn't be scared."

"I'll go with you," he said. "I'm all through; this was the last call."

They went back to Cedar Court and let themselves in with Hilda's key, of which she was inordinately proud. While Emily packed, putting in the picture of Gus—showing him stern, large and very self-conscious in his wedding clothes, Jim prowled around the house chewing on a cold pipe. "It's a crime," he announced coming to stand before her, as she bent over the shabby little suitcase "a kid like that getting married. And she hasn't any ballast—having children, she's frail and undernourished and—"

"She's in love," said Emily calmly, "and Gus has a good job at the munition plant. Operates a punch press. He may be drafted but at present he's deferred. Hilda's had a pretty hard time. Her mother was a chronic cardiac, her father a drunken old creature who deserted his little family years ago. She has an aunt who is good to her after a fashion. But she's never had anything really her own till she acquired Gus and this little house. She'll be all right. She'll have her baby, she'll bring it up by the book and she'll make a home for it and for its father."

Someone was coming up the steps. Emily and Jim regarded one another. A heavy step but with youth and impatience in it. They had left the door open. Gus came barging through, shouting at the top of his voice, "Hilda," he shouted, "hey, Hilda . . . ."

No good smell of dinner cooking greeted him. Emily came out and spoke to him quietly. He stared at her a moment, the color left his square, thick-featured face. He said, "My God, what's happened to her, Miss Hall?"

"She's perfectly all right," said Emily. "This is Dr. Thompson . . . he'll tell you more about it."

She went back to the bedroom leaving the two men alone. A moment later, the suitcase in his enormous hand, Gus was headed for the hospital. He declined their offer to drive him. He said, "You'll miss your dinner. It ain't very far. I'll take the street car . . ." He shuffled his feet a moment, and added, "I . . . Gee, thank you," he said miserably and then with a great unashamed gulp—"If anything happened to Hilda"

He locked the door after them and went off at a furious pace toward the corner.

Ottawa Announces No Canadians Lost As Ship Torpedoed

OTTAWA, Nov. 20.—(CP)—Defence headquarters yesterday announced that "There have been no Canadian casualties in connection with the reported sinking of a vessel by enemy action in the Mediterranean recently."

The headquarters statement was issued in response to inquiries following publication of "A report that a number of Canadian nurses had been aboard a vessel reported sunk by aerial torpedoing and bombing in that theatre of war."

(A dispatch from Douglas Amaron, Canadian Press war correspondent with the Canadian forces in Italy, published Nov. 16, described the torpedoing of a ship carrying Canadian nursing sisters, troops and passengers in the Mediterranean. He mentioned only one confirmed casualty—A member of the ship's crew.)

YELLOW-haired Susie May is teaching YELLOW Teddy Bear and BROWN-haired Dolly a lesson out of her big YELLOW book. Susie May's dress is LAVENDER (use PURPLE lightly). Her YELLOW hair is tied with a bow to match her dress and socks. Susie May's shoes are BROWN.

"The rug on the floor is—?" asks Susie May.

"BLUE" answered Dolly quickly.

"With a RED and BLUE border" adds Teddy bear, "RED like the bow at my neck!"

"Good—both of you!" says Susie May. "Now write the colors on the board in the colors they are! Here is a YELLOW case of many colors!"

The blackboard is on a YELLOW stand. The curtains are BLUE with large PINK (use RED lightly) roses and GREEN leaves upon it. The window frame is White.

Susie May sits on a GREEN footstool. It has big YELLOW flowers on it with light GREEN leaves.

The wall is light TAN (use YELLOW and BROWN mixed). Dolly's dress is PINK like her cheeks. Susie May has PINK cheeks, too.

2nd Thanksgiving Service At McDougall United Church

U.S. Service

The Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., D.D., who will conduct a special U.S. Thanksgiving service Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in McDougall United church. A special invitation is extended to all American visitors to attend.

The Second Thanksgiving service for Americans in Canada, celebrating the National Thanksgiving of the United States of America will be held in McDougall United church, Sunday, at 7.30 p.m. The Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., D.D., will be in charge.

The Thanksgiving proclamation of President F. D. Roosevelt will be read by Robert English, U.S. consul in Edmonton, who will take part in the service.

Here is the proclamation:

"God's help to us has been great in this year of march toward world-wide liberty. In brotherhood with warriors of other United Nations our gallant men have won victories, have freed our homes from fear, have made tyranny tremble, and have laid the foundation for freedom of life in a world which will be free.

"Our forges and hearths and mills have wrought well, and our weapons have not failed. Our farmers, Victory gardeners and crop volunteers have gathered and stored a heavy harvest in the barns and bins and cellars. Our total food production for the year is the greatest in the annals of our country.

"For all these things we are deeply thankful, knowing also that so great mercies exact from us the greatest measures of sacrifice and service.

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America do hereby designate Thursday, the 25th day of November, 1943, as a day for expressing our thanks to God for His blessings. November having been set aside as Food Fight for Freedom month, it is fitting that Thanksgiving Day be made the culmination of the observance of the month by a high resolve on the part of all to produce and save food and to share and play square with food.

"May we on Thanksgiving Day and then every day express our gratitude and reasonable devotion always to our duties as individuals and as a nation. May each of us dedicate his utmost efforts to speeding the victory which will bring new opportunities for peace and brotherhood among men."

The sermon "Thank God and Refuse" will be delivered by Wing Captain R. L. Bissett, D.S.O., M.C., D.F.C., A.F.C., R.C.A.F., Chaplain Station No. 10, Edmonton will also participate.

"Will Be Done" is the subject of the sermon at Westmount Presbyterian church, Rev. Donald Douglas, minister, when the service will be conducted by the Rev. W. Simms at the Rupert street Presbyterian church.

A temperance rally will be held in Beulah Tabernacle Sunday morning and in the evening the Rev. J. D. Carlson will deliver the sermon, "If You Die and Go to Hell—Who Cares?"

The Rev. A. M. Mallory will preside over the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

A special meeting is being held in the Unity School of Christianity to re-organize the "Youth of Unity" on Wednesday, 8 p.m. Regular classes will be held Sunday.

The Rev. G. R. Dawe, B.Th. will conduct regular services in Norwood Regular Baptist Church.

Calder Church of the Nazarene will hold services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. A. G. Weiss in charge. Revival meetings have just been concluded, headed by the Rev. F. A. Powell. The church building has recently been installed with gas heating.

A special meeting of the Edmonton Ministerial Association has been called for Monday at 12:30 p.m. in the Corona hotel. Purpose of the meeting is to bid farewell to the Rev. Harold Stibbards of McDougall Baptist church, who is leaving shortly to take a pastorate in North Bay, Ont.

In connection with "Navy Week" members of H.M.C.S. "Nonsuch" have been invited to attend the morning service in Metropolitan United church. In the evening the Rev. F. M. Thompson will conclude his series of sermons on "God," taking as his theme, "How Much Does God Know and How Much Can He Do?"

Occupied Countries Require Bibles

Occupied countries in Europe before current conscription had an annual circulation of more than 50,000,000 copies of God's Word—each country in its own language. Now their stocks have been exhausted from every occupied country come calls for Bibles. They cannot get them. Bible printing has been stopped.

The British and Foreign Bible Society is one printing Bibles and Testaments for those countries in Switzerland, Ingland and the United States encouraging for the day of peace. The society has obtained a seat on the British Government War Council, for purposes of this planning. This means that as soon as the Japs are ousted and the Americans and British, with their Allies, the Bible Society ought to be among the first to enter the World of God. What an opportunity for the Christian people of Great Britain and Canada to show sympathy, Christian love, and to bring the right kind of food to the suffering Christians of occupied Europe at the end of the present awful struggle.

The time element in the present crisis is so important. The society is publishing the Scriptures in over 150 languages now for immediate shipment. It would be foolish to wait until after the war spoke much to us in the meantime. We must be ready to meet the needs of a Bible-hungry world as soon as the ruins are opened to reach the people.

SUNDAY SERVICES

The Rev. E. S. Ottley, B.A. [illegible] will conduct services in [illegible] Sunday evening. Subject: "Jesus & Study In Contrast."

First Presbyterian church services will be conducted by the Rev. J. MacBeath Miller, M.A., B.D. at the morning service. Junior choir will be in charge. Subject: "Jesus Passed Through the Gates." In the evening, the pastor will be assisted by Trooper Ian Hay, H. Douglas Stewart, B.A., and Glenn Connor, B.A., student pastor, will be in charge of services at Strathcona Presbyterian church.

European Relief, By Price Control, Rationing Planned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. June 26 — (AP)—Rationing and price control in war-devastated countries will form a part of the eastern theatre where the United Nations will concentrate its air, ground and naval forces on Germany, Lieut.-Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the U.S. army service forces, said today.

Somervell told the annual convention of the Association of the United States Army that "distribution of essential items will be controlled by rationing and price control."

He said the United States and Latin-American republics must be ready to supply the U.S. army.

Santa on Subway

CHICAGO—Santa Claus will ride the subways of Chicago's south side this year. Local merchants planned the unusual arrangement in an attempt to keep Santa from getting caught in the traffic jams of the downtown area. Has merchandising sponsors, an improvised sleighful of toys will be loaded aboard a subway car for a preliminary visit.

The Rev. Finnis Marsh, B.D., M.B.E. will be guest preacher at special anniversary services to be held in All Peoples Mission, Bissell Memorial United church at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. An anniversary concert will be held Monday at 8 p.m.

Regular meetings will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel on Sunday.

In addition to regular Sunday services at Gospel hall on Sunday, prayer meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. and ministry meeting Friday at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Elgin G. Turnbull, B.A., B.D. will conduct Sunday services in Knox church, speaking in the morning on "Saved at Measureless Cost," and in the evening, "At the End of the Long Struggle—Heaven." Next Sunday the church will celebrate its 52nd anniversary.

"The Empty Throne Filled" and "Jesus' First Text" will be the sermons which the Rev. Dr. Murdoch MacKinnon, M.A., D.D., will give at the morning and evening services in Robertson United church.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

Minister, McDougall United Church

To Our American Visitors

GREETINGS and a cordial welcome! We receive you at this time of global strife as our gallant allies in the struggle to save civilization from the dictator and destroyer. It is our prayer and our hope that with the aid of your resourcefulness and vigor the war will soon take place to peace, and that we may continue to be allies in the struggle to save civilization in the more splendid and constructive way of extending its benefits to all classes and all races, and fitting them for full citizenship in a truly free and responsible world society.

We greet you as "good neighbors" from the South; we rejoice with you in the good will and peace that have characterized the relationships of our countries for well over a century. May the thousands of miles of totally unfortified border line between Canada and the United States of America become the inspiration for a new world pattern of international relationships.

We welcome you as our "first cousins" related to us by a common ancestry, common language and literature, common traditions and ideals; and we humbly acknowledge with you that this common heritage obligates us to stand together and work together for that world co-operation and amity which alone can displace war.

It gives us much pleasure to have this opportunity of worshipping with you on the occasion of your National Thanksgiving, while you are absent from your homes and are our guests in the Dominion of Canada. We deeply appreciate all the happy social contacts with you which contribute to mutual understanding, and we unite in extending to all Americans in our midst our very sincere wishes for A Very Happy Thanksgiving Season.

Editor's Note: The second United States Thanksgiving Service will be held in McDougall United church Sunday evening at 7:30.

"Clyde-Built" is the subject of the sermon to be delivered in First Baptist church when the Sea Cadets parade to the morning service. At 7:00 p.m. the minister will preach on "Man-Power." The Rev. Daniel Young, B.A., is in charge.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of sermons to be delivered Sunday in the Christian Science church.

A special boys' and girls' service will be held in the Central Church of God Sunday evening, when Ralph Young, of the Y.M.C.A., will speak on "Teen Troubles."

Guest Preacher

The Rev. A. F. Marsh, B.D., M.B.E., minister of Central United church, who will be the guest preacher at the anniversary service of Bissell Memorial church Sunday evening.

The Sunday evening service at Central Lutheran church will be conducted by the Young People's Luther League.

The Rev. Canon A. M. Trendell will conduct regular services in All Saints' Cathedral on Sunday.

The Rev. J. Gargett will conduct the service in the City Temple of Spiritualism Sunday evening.

The Rev. J. C. MacDonald, B.A., B.D., of San Fernando, Trinidad, B.I., will be the guest speaker at the Sunday evening service in Wesley United church. In the morning the Rev. Dr. Edward T. Scragg will preach on the subject, "No Short Cut to the Promised Land."

The Legion of Frontiersmen will parade to the Sunday morning service in Holy Trinity church. In the evening, the choir, under the direction of Herbert Wild, organist and choirmaster, will sing the anthem, "Comes, At Times, A Stillness."

The Rev. G. S. Raine will be guest speaker at the First Church of the Nazarene on Sunday.

The Rev. A. D. Cornell will be speaking at both services of the Edmonton Fundamental Baptist Church on Sunday in the Central Masonic Temple. His topic at 11 a.m., "Why does God allow Evil" is a vital question of the present hour. In the evening service he is continuing his series on the Second Coming of Christ. William E. Hawker Named President, Executive Head Merrick Drug Stores Ltd.

William E. Hawker, whose election to the dual post of president and managing director of Merrick Drug Stores Ltd. of Edmonton was announced Saturday, has been associated with that firm for the last eight years. He has resided in Edmonton since 1904 and is a graduate of the University of Alberta and is one of the best known men in the drug store business in Alberta.

Heads Company

Merrick Drug Stores Ltd. is owned and operated by the following: president, W. E. Hawker; secretary-treasurer, A. E. McDonald; directors: R. W. Fisher, B.Sc.; H. W. Moore, J. E. Dunnigan; N. J. Gardner.

The firm was established by the late Arthur Yockney in 1929 and is now operating six stores including three soda fountains and tea rooms. The location of the stores and the managers of each are: Birks Building, R. W. Fisher, B.Sc.; Garneau Theatre Building, M. J. Bain; Jasper at 116 street, H. W. Moore; Whyte avenue and 109 street, N. J. Gardner; Coffee Shop, McLeod Building, Mrs. T. Neale, manageress; 111 avenue and 97 street, J. E. Dunnigan.

Merrick Drug Stores operates its own wholesale warehouse in connection with the stores mentioned and carry a very complete stock of toiletries, drugs, cigarettes and tobacco and sundry lines.

NEW SHIPMENTS

In spite of prevailing conditions they expect to have a fairly complete line of Christmas merchandise with new shipments arriving daily.

Employed in various stores are nine graduates in pharmacy from the University of Alberta. Merrick Drug Stores Ltd. is and always has been exclusively Edmonton owned and operated.

Re-Organization Of Technocracy Starts in City

With defeat of the Axis powers having No. 1 priority rating in plans for the immediate future, Technocracy Inc., the organization that proclaimed advancing technology as the basic cause for social change back in the depression-riddled thirties, returned to the local scene at a meeting Friday in the Masonic Temple.

With upwards of 50 men and women in attendance, a provisional section of Technocracy, Inc., was formed.

In setting up a section it was explained that organization was starting from scratch following the recent removal of the ban on Technocracy Inc, imposed by a Dominion order-in-council on June 21, 1940.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King himself announced the reproval of the ban on Technocracy Inc. in parliament on Oct. 15 last.

NEW MEMBERSHIPS

Arthur J. Hanks, who served as chairman at Friday's meeting, announced that all memberships held in Canada at the time the ban was imposed had been cancelled. New application forms for membership must be filled out by all Canadians seeking membership.

At the outset of the meeting Mr. Hanks read brief messages authorizing reorganization here by Howard Scott, veteran director-in-chief and founder of the organization of Technocracy Inc., in New York.

He also read from a continental headquarters bulletin the following comment on the lifting of the ban in Canada:

Complying with the provisions of an order-in-council issued June 21, 1940 and the Defence of Canada Regulations, Technocracy Inc. cancelled all memberships in Canada and ceased operation in June of 1940. No reason for the ban was given and no formal charges were laid against Technocracy Inc. Thus, with the lifting of the ban we emerge from suspension with a clean slate.

"Technocracy has no assumption of power theory and has never in any manner whatsoever advocated the use of force to obtain a change in the social structure or for any other reason."

After explaining briefly the nature of Technocracy, that came into being as the result of research by Howard Scott and others in 1918 and 1919, Mr. Hanks said that the first and all-important job is to win the war. Technocracy and Fascism cannot exist in the same world.

SUPPORT GOVERNMENT

All members are urged to loyally support the government, military forces and other official bodies in the prosecution of the war. Voluntary service of civilian members in home defence units, air raid precautions, and like services, should be undertaken wherever possible, he said.

Mr. Hanks said Technocracy foresees the necessity for an orderly change to a new social order and enrolment of persons who are well disciplined is especially welcomed.

Members of the army, navy, air forces, R.C.M.P., city police, firemen and the like are needed in Technocracy, Mr. Hanks said.

As an organization stressing science and technology, Technocracy has turned attention to the weapons of war, the speaker said.

Eighteen months before Pearl Harbor specifications for a Flying Wing bomber were placed in the hands of officials of the U.S. war department, he said. It was designed by Technocracy's engineers.

This bomber, a twin-engined model of which has been successfully demonstrated, has a range of 12,000 miles, a wing span of 330 feet, speed of over 300 m.p.h. and a bomb-carrying capacity of 50 tons.

LIMIT MEMBERSHIP

Membership in the organization is limited to citizens of one of the countries of the North American continent and no active member of any political party can hold membership.

Members must go through a study course. There are no paid speakers or organizers. Membership fees are 42 cents per month.

"In Technocracy we do not ask you to believe anything. We invite you to study the facts and arrive at your own conclusion," Chairman Hanks said.

He said that more power machinery being installed in the U.S. and Canada to win the war would bring a new crisis in distribution of the continent's potential abundance after the war. A new medium for distribution would have to be found, he claimed. Membership in Technocracy is preparation for meeting this crisis, he said.

Escorts of Freedom

Rich in tradition and vital with youth... Canada's Navy continues to grow. New types of ships are constantly plunging down the ways... manned by MEN who intimately know the shudder, the stumble, the swerve of the menacing might of the Sea; MEN who brave the lurking wolfpacks of the deep so that the cargoes of Freedom may reach their landfalls! To the men of the fighting and merchant navies and to the 5,000 Sea Cadets who have set so high a standard for efficiency and service... this tribute of NAVY WEEK is dedicated, for we know that there can be no hope, no end to the strife, no victory, UNLESS THE LIFE-LINE HOLD!

NAVY WEEK is sponsored by the Navy League of Canada — the shore mother of our Men of the Sea... fostering the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet movement, through which every lad in Canada is given the opportunity to take his part in the storied valour of the sea. The Navy League has measured up to its great responsibilities in ministering to the well-being of thousands upon thousands of seamen... aided by the constant encouragement and support of the people of Canada.

I'D EVEN SETTLE FOR A STEAK KNIFE.

EASY DOES IT, KIDS. EVERY MINUTE WE CAN STALL IS IN OUR FAVOR, NOT THEIRS, SO MAKE 'EM COUNT.

MALO SAID YOU WISHED TO SEE US. PLEASE BE BRIEF.

ACH···YA, YOU WILL··· ER, WHAT?

YOU ASSUME TO ASK US TO BE BRIEF?

WHY NOT? WE DIDN'T ASK TO SEE YOU.

HO-HUM

THEY NEED SOME NEW ORDER DISCIPLINE.

YOU ARE VERY PRETTY, SO WE SHALL NOT QUARREL···NOW! YOU WILL RAISE YOUR RIGHT HAND AND SALUTE DER FUEHRER···THEN WE SHALL DRINK!

CUT THE COMEDY ··AND STAY AWAY FROM ME!

THIS TO TEACH YOU RESPECT ···SO!

WHY YOU RATH-SKELLER RAT!

SO SORRY NOW MUST KILL YOU!

OUT OUR WAY

The Willets

By Williams

AW, GOSH--I'VE BEEN SAVING FOR TWO MONTHS TO BUY HIM FROM BUTCH!

WHAT'S ALL THE FUSS ABOUT?

OH, WILLIS DRAGGED IN ANOTHER MONGREL--AND I JUST WON'T HAVE IT AROUND!

WHY, THIS IS NO MONGREL--IT'S A DANDY HOUND PUP--I CAN USE HIM FOR HUNTING WHEN HE GROWS UP!

I DON'T CARE WHAT IT IS--IT GOES BACK WHERE IT CAME FROM TOMORROW MORNING!

WELL, GOOD NIGHT--I'M GOING TO TURN IN--AND I STILL CAN'T SEE HOW YOU HAVE THE HEART TO TURN THAT DOG OUT--HE'S SUCH A CUTE LITTLE FELLOW!

NEXT MORNING

I'M TAKING HIM RIGHT BACK WHERE HE CAME FROM--LIKE YOU SAID!

WELL, I'VE CHANGED MY MIND!

I HAVEN'T THE HEART TO TURN HIM OUT--HE'S SUCH A CUTE LITTLE FELLOW!
